Update: Dr. Spock And The PCRM

ARLINGTON, Va. — After initially buying its anti-milk pitch, the mass media last week began reporting on the real agenda of Physicians Committee for Responsible Medicine — vegetarianism and radical animal rights.

Lancaster Farming reported the connection between PCRM and animal rights groups the same week the anti-milk story gained national attention. (See "Dr. Spock Says He Has Been Misquoted In Milk Controversy," Oct. 3 issue, page 1.) As a result of this article, several letters to the editor are published with this article, including a letter from Dr. Stan Curtis, head of the Dairy and Animal Science Department at Penn State. In addition, a milk promotion group sent a copy of this Oct. 3 article as information to several city news reporters.

According to the latest newsletter from the National Milk Producers Federation, Arlington, Va., Harry Smith of the CBS Morning News interviewed Dr. Benjamin Spock in an effort to get to the bottom of his remarks about milk. "Are you and others saying kids should not drink dairy milk?" Smith asked. Spock said. "No, that's much too broad. What we were called attention to (at the PCRM press conference) is the value of breast feeding." Smith pressed on, saying the impression that was left from the PCRM press conference was that older children shouldn't drink milk. Spock admitted that was the impression that had been left with the consumers, while stating that "hundreds of millions of American children in the past century have been drinking cow's milk without trouble." Spock went on to say that "we're lucky to have cow's milk" for babies that couldn't be breast fed.

Carole Sugarman of the Washington Post also questioned Spock and the PCRM's dietary advice. After interviewing Spock on the phone, Sugarman concluded that, "I began to think that in some ways he (Spock) had been used by the PCRM to advance its vegetarian diet. . . ." Spock also told Sugarman that he was very disappointed that the world had gotten the impression that children should never drink milk.

Unfortunately, for anyone connected to the dairy industry, that was just what happened, and some in the media faulted themselves for buying into the PCRM's pitch without investigating the group more closely. "Not enough reporters looked behind the group's fancy letterhead," the Wisconsin State Journal said in an opinion piece. Far too few of the national media reported the link between the Physicians Committee and its sister group (People for The Ethical treatment of Animals) that

Editor:

Thank you for your careful reporting of the "Dr. Spock Milk Story" (page A1, 3 October 1992 issue). Unfortunately, as you reported, the words of venerable pediatrician Benjamin Spock have been twisted and abused by animal activists posing as physicians interested in responsible health care. Really, these folks are proselytizers of ethical vegetarianism. But in one fell swoop the original media reporters of their news conference elevated mythical statements to scientific facts.

This nation's radical animal activists — including members of that Physicians Committee for Re-

Maryland Wins National 4-H Dairy Judging Again

MADISON, WI — For longtime observers, it's perhaps not big news when Maryland wins another championship in national 4-H dairy cattle judging competition. And the Maryland team did it again this year during the World Dairy Expo at Madison, Wis. The achievement marked the 26th national championship for Maryland teams in 72 years of 4-H competition.

In addition to winning the team championship, Maryland also had the high individual in a field of 148 contestants from 37 states. This year's winner was Mark Iager, 16, of Fulton (Howard County).

Mark follows in the footsteps of his father, Charles E. Iager, Jr., who won the same honor in 1958. The Iagers operate Maple Lawn Farms, home to a nationally known Holstein herd along Highway 216 at the edge of Fulton.

Another Howard County resident, Amy Brown of Roxbury, was high individual in the national 4-H dairy cattle judging contest at the World Dairy Expo in 1990.

Previous national champions from Maryland have included William L. Swift III of Shepperd (Baltimore County) in 1985, Michael J. Allen of Jefferson in 1981 and Ronnie Kling of Taneytown in 1974, both from Frederick County.

Kerra Allen And The Sheep That Raised $2,197 For God

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Bids flew fast and furious when Kerra Allen brought her Suffolk sheep into the show ring at the Manheim Community Farm Show Livestock Sale last week. Bidding stopped at the record-breaking price of $11 per pound for a total of $1,122 paid by Tom Drumm and some other business people representing TW's Leather Sales, Inc. of Lititz.

In a surprise move, Drumm donated the sheep back to 11-year-old Kerra. The story doesn't end there, for a few days later, Darvin Boyd, representing Hamilton Bank, donated an additional $1,075 to Kerra and her cause.

According to Kerra, the story behind this unusual price for her sheep actually began several months ago.

"I was sitting in church listening to our minister who always has these neat sermons," Kerra said. "I felt amazed at how much God had given me so I thought I'd like to give something to God."

Right away, Kerra thought of her sheep Patches. Every year since Kerra was four years old, she had raised sheep to sell at the Manheim Community Farm Show. With the money she earned, she paid the feed bills and pocketed the remainder. This year, the idea to give the profits to God impressed her.

Impressed by Kerra Allen's compassion to donate the selling price of her lamb, Patches, to Clare House, Tom Drumm of TW's Leather Sales, Inc., right, purchased it for $1,122 and returned Patches to Kerra during the Manheim Farm Show Livestock Sale. Because the second-highest bidder Darvin Boyd of Hamilton Bank, left, could not forget Kerra's gesture of kindness, the bank donated $1,075 a few days later.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Thursday, October 15, 1992

Trucklot buying interest was light. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts for retail and food service needs were adequate with all trades at current prices. Whole breasts, both grade A and line run, were available and offered at lower prices. However, buyers were very cautious and limited receipts to standing commitments. The undertone on whole breasts was weak. Wings, legs, thighs, and drumsticks were adequate and cleared to a fair demand at steady prices. Yellow skin leg quarters were available and slow to clear. Trading was reported at lower prices.

New York & Phila. Frozen Egg Report

Friday, October 9, 1992

EASTERN REGION FROZEN EGGS, OCTOBER 09, 1992. FEDERAL-STATE.

The market tone was generally steady but cautious. Yolk items were still in the weakest position with whites in the firmest. Trading activity was fair with some dealers awaiting further market developments prior to making commitments. Raw materials wee usually adequate but often held in firm hands. Floor stocks were sufficient to cover current needs.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, October 14, 1992

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: Prices were unchanged to higher on mediums in the Northeast, unchanged on the balance. The market tone was steady on large sizes, and steady to firm for the light weights. Demand was mixed from light to good, and generally improved from last week. Retail specials provided the best cartoned egg movement. Inter- dealer inquiry for light sizes increased. Supplies were adequate to fully adequate for large, and barely adequate to adequate for mediums. Breaking stock supplies were adequate. Live hen offerings were short to adequate for the moderate to good demand, and the trade sentiment was steady to firm.

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer Market

Thursday, October 15, 1992

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was mixed and irregular and slowed overall. Offerings were short to adequate on 2.5 to 3 pound sizes; fully adequate on the heavier weights. Slaughter schedules were heavy. Weights were desirable to heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged to 1 cent higher at 54 to 62 cents. Trade sentiment was steady to fully steady but cautious. In the parts complex, supplies remained uneven from plant to plant. However, offerings were at least adequate on most items, particularly leg quarters and bone-in breasts.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, Mo.
Wednesday, October 14, 1992

USDA DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY: WHEAT AND CORN PRICES CONTINUED STRONG, WEDNESDAY, ON ACTIVE EXPORT BUSINESS; CASH SOYBEAN PRICES WEAKENED ON GOOD HARVEST ACTIVITY. WHEAT 3 TO 10 CENTS HIGHER. CORN 1 TO 2 CENTS HIGHER. SORGHUM 2 TO 3 CENTS HIGHER. SOYBEANS 2 TO 3 CENTS LOWER TO 1 CENT HIGHER. MODERATE EXPORT BUSINESS WITH PHILIPPINES, AFRICAN COUNTRIES, VENEZUELA, BRAZIL, RUSSIA, JAPAN AND EGYPT, FACTOR IN HIGHER GRAIN PRICES. RUSSIA IS REPORTED TO HAVE BID ON 1.6 MILLION TONNES U.S. SOFT RED WINTER WHEAT, UNDER EXPORT ENHANCEMENT PROGRAM. USDA, THIS MORNING, REJECTED EGYPT'S WHEAT BID FOR 290,000 TONNES BUT ARE EXPECTED TO REBID SOON. HIGHER WHEAT PRICES ALSO ADDED TO CORN PRICE UPTURNS. LATE CORN HARVEST SLOWED FARMER SELLING AND MANY HOLDING ON TO CROPS UNTIL PRICES CLIMB HIGHER. CASH SOYBEAN PRICES DECLINED SLIGHTLY AS GOOD WEATHER ALLOWING STEADY HARVEST ACTIVITY. GRAINS INSPECTED FOR EXPORT FOR WEEK ENDING 10/08/92: WHEAT TOTALED 30.8 MILLION BUSHELS, UP 4.0, CORN 35.3, UP 5.5 MILLION BUSHELS, AND SOYBEANS 17.3, UP 8.5 COMPARED TO A WEEK AGO. YEAR TO DATE: WHEAT 405.1, DOWN 4.9, CORN 191.8, UP 3.8, AND SOYBEANS 72.7, UP 27.2.

Trade sentiment was steady on all but the light weights which were fully steady to firm. Demand was fair to good, best where featured. Supplies were mostly adequate to instances tight for the light sizes.

PRICES PAID TO PRODUCERS, CASES EXCHANGED, GRADE YIELD BASIS, BROWN EGGS LOOSE, AT FARM, CENTS PER DOZEN RANGE JUMBO .75-.78, EXTRA LARGE .71-.74, LARGE .66-.69, MEDIUM .45-.48, SMALL .20-.23.

Fixed competitive payments
Flexible payment schedules
Year-end tax planning
100% deductibility

Some people get all the breaks.

Put the breaks on your tax bill. Get your equipment with a true tax lease by December 31 and your payments are 100% tax-deductible as an operating expense. Plus, with an annual payment schedule, you can benefit from a large tax write-off this year and not make a second payment for as many as 12 full months.

You'll have several more good reasons to look forward to a happy new year. You can lock in your order now and take delivery in 1993. You'll enjoy fixed, competitive payments and can choose a payment schedule that allows you to skip payments in the months or season of lowest income. You also can get whatever you want right now without jeopardizing your ability to fully depreciate other assets bought earlier in the year.

Find out how lease financing can help you get all the year-end breaks you deserve. Contact your local Telmark representative today, or call 315-449-7964.

"If you won't buy one for you, buy one for your family."

"I thought I was a tough guy And I d been using PTO's for years But I found out I was no match for an unprotected PTO Sure, I suffered some, but I managed—my family suffered a lot more. Not only the doctor's bills, but caring for me through all the pain and hospital visits Now, things I can't do with one arm have to be done by my wife or my kids But there's no way I want to put them in the same danger I put myself in every day Thankfully, at long last, somebody's designed a PTO guard that really guards

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC — THIS WEEK WITH

OCTOBER 19-25, 1992

SWALLOWS LEAVE CAPISTRANO.

A SPECIAL LINK

On October 24th, 1861, Stephen Johnson Field, chief justice of California, sent a message informing President Abraham Lincoln in Washington that the East and West coasts of United States were linked for the first time by telegraph at Fort Bridger, Utah The transcontinental telegraph had been approved by Congress in 1860 On October 25th another exchange of messages took place between Mayor Fernando Wood of New York and Mayor H F Teschemacher of San Fransisco The rates were $1 a word the first week and then reduced to $6 for ten words, and any additional words were 75¢ each

Wisdom is the sunlight of the soul. – German Proverb

TIP OF THE WEEK

EARWISE

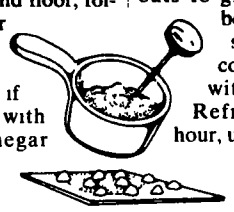
Shower stalls are hard to clean but you can make the job easier if everyone who uses the shower wipes the walls with their towel after drying themselves. For a thorough cleaning of the stall, run the shower first with hot water to loosen dirt. Then use a mixture of ½ cup vinegar, 1 cup clear ammonia, ¼ cup baking soda, and one gallon of warm water to clean the walls and floor, followed by a clear water rinse Glass shower doors will shine if you wipe them with plain white vinegar once a week

CHOCOLATE/PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

½ cup cocoa
2 cups sugar
½ cup butter
½ cup milk
½ cup peanut butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 to 5 cups oatmeal

Combine cocoa, sugar, butter, and milk and bring to a boil. Cook for 1½ minutes. Remove from heat and stir in peanut butter, vanilla, and enough oats to give the mixture body. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a cookie sheet lined with waxed paper. Refrigerate for 1 hour, until firm.

Makes about 40.



The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Sunny and quite warm, light showers coast; then sprinkles but warm.

SOUTHEAST: Cloudy and cool, sunny Florida; then clearing and warm, some showers west.

MIDWEST: Sunny and pleasant; then rain and warmer, cool north.

NORTHWEST: Sunny with some showers in mountains and coast; cold wave, heavy snow in mountains.

SOUTHWEST: Clear and warm inland, light rain desert; cooler with drizzle.

Barking Up The Wrong Tree

A recent nationwide well water study by the Environmental Protection Agency tested thousands of rural and community wells to predict the water quality of wells throughout the country. According to the Alliance For A Clean Rural Environment (ACRE), the results of the study offer good news for farmers.

The EPA "National Survey of Pesticides in Drinking Water Wells" was a five-year-study of more than 1,300 wells, some in every state, including information about each well's condition and characteristics and nearby use of ag chemicals. The tests could detect the presence of pesticides thousands of times lower than their EPA lifetime safe consumption levels.

In these tests pesticides were detected only infrequently even though they checked for 126 pesticides and their breakdown products. Of the tested wells, only 12 showed any trace of pesticides and only in very low levels.

From this study, EPA estimates that about 99% of all wells in the country contain no pesticide traces exceeding the EPA standards for safe drinking water. This doesn't mean farmers can relax. Extra care must be taken whenever storing, handling and using pesticides and disposing of chemical containers.

But we believe this study shows that farmers and the inputs for sound agricultural production are not to blame for much of the non-point water pollution. Environmentalists, municipalities, and industrial giants point the finger at farmers. But on many occasions, when the facts are known, they are "barking up the wrong tree."

sponsible Medicine — recently shifted their primary focus from biomedical research to agricultural production. Their tactics include duping the media and then employing calumny as they misinform those who watch television and read newspapers and magazines and listen to the radio.

In this beloved free country of ours, there is the opportunity for behavior of this sort, reprehensible as it may be. But there also is here the opportunity to set the record straight. Setting the record straight is, of course, the obligation of every citizen who knows the truth. it is especially the obligation of media reporters, editors, and producers.

Thank you for setting the record straight in this case. All who are privileged to work in this country's media — holding positions of implicit public trust, it need not be added — should be as careful about checking their information sources as your are. Instead, I am afraid many nowadays have turned into chumps and mythmongers.

Editor,

I read with dismay, but not much surprise, your Oct. 3 article describing the attack against dairy products by Peta (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals) and ALF (Animal Liberation Front).

The PETA is well known to be a leftist, extremist group, and the second an actual terrorist organization credited recently destroying much of the animal experimental station at Michigan State University, and in the process, nullifying years of work.

It is not surprising either to find as their bedfellow Dr. Benjamin Spock, who is often associated with far-out extremist causes, however he may try to recant and deny his affiliations.

These people (Peta, Alf, and their ilk) are also actively engaged in confiscatory gun control efforts, allied with HCI (Handgun Control Inc). HCI seeks to require not only farmers, but all citizens to turn in their weapons, despite the necessity of home protection in a country whose criminal justice system is seriously broken down by unremitting crime and lenient prosecutors, overworked courts, and cynical news media.

You should take the trouble to warn your readers of the efforts of this group, since they are not only anti-milk, but anti-people also, in a most vicious and psychotic manner, not stopping at violence to achieve their ends.

Dear Editor:

You are publishing a very newsworthy periodical for our agriculture families.

I was very disappointed with your "feature recipe" for the week in last weeks paper. A recipe asking for artificial butter is "biting the hand that feeds you" at Lanc. Farming. Please do consider which side of the bread your butter is on.

I appreciate our agriculture magazine's recipes. They are using products that are of fine quality. Not artificial substitutes.

I hope we "the agriculture folks" of Lancaster and surrounding counties will be able to look to you with respect.

Please promote our products!

Pick up your copy today and make your plans for the 1993 Pennsylvania Farm Show. Dates for the 1993 Farm Show are January 9-14, 1993.

To Provide Good Air Quality

Air quality is typically defined in terms of the air's content of certain gases, particulates, and microbes.

Air quality has an effect on the health and well-being of animals and humans. Acceptable air quality usually may be achieved with proper ventilation and air distribution, regular cleaning and sanitation, dust control, and manure gas control.

The gases of most concern in animal facilities are ammonia, hydrogen sulfide, carbon monoxide, and methane. Special attention to air quality should be given during periods of weather extremes, rapidly fluctuating temperatures, and manure removal..

The concentration of airborne dust is affected by relative humidity, animal activity, air velocity, type of feed, and method of handling feed. Air quality is becoming a more important management issue.

Start taking steps now to learn how you may improve air quality in your animal housing. People who may help you include your service person, equipment dealer, or county agent. Also, do not forget to wear dust masks or helmets when working in dusty conditions or gas masks when gases are present.

To Keep Your Lender Informed

Alan Strock, extension farm management agent, reminds us it is very important to keep your lender informed. This helps you to build confidence, understanding, and trust between you and your lender.

This year, even with the excellent crops and improved milk price, it is still important to project a monthly or quarterly cash flow statement for your business's coming year.

Maintain a good set of farm financial and production records. Show your lender how you use these records in your decision-making process. And finally, maintain open communications with your lender, especially when your credit needs or payment ability changes.

BORN AGAIN AND AGAIN!
October 18, 1992

Background Scripture:
1 Kings 1:28-37; 2:1-4; 3:3-14.
Devotional Reading:
1 Kings 1:15-30.

I recently heard someone make a disparaging remark about "those born-againers." I understood the reason for the man's disdain, for he had a very disagreeable experience with some relatives who claimed they were "born again" and that he wasn't!

Unfortunately, some people who identify themselves as having been "born again" have given this experience a bad name. Claiming this experience for themselves in a rather exclusive manner, they have demonstrated a proud and judgmental attitude toward others. So, I can understand why some Christians shrink from the term.

"ONCE" NOT ENOUGH

But the problem is not with being "born again," but in what we make of this rebirth. Being reborn by the Spirit of God in Christ is not a gift for a special few, but for all who would be followers of Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior. And, while I can appreciate that some people can ascribe their rebirth to a particular time, place and circumstance, I find that I—and many, many others—need to be reborn constantly. Once might be a turning-point in a person's life, but I have never known a Christain for whom once was enough. If fact, those who think that once is enough are often those most in need of being "born again" daily.

This is illustrated in the story of King Solomon. In 1 Kings 3 Solomon has an exceptional spiritual experience and makes an equally exceptional response. In a dream, God says to the young, new King of Israel: "Ask what I shall give you"(3:5). No one would have been surprised if Solomon had seized this opportunity to ask God for political power, for a long reign, for riches and success. After all, isn't that what society tells us life is all about?

But Solomon's response was perfect. He responded with praise for God: "Thou hast shown great and steadfast love to thy servant David my father..." He responded with humility: "...although I am but a little child; I do not know how to go out or come in." He has a sobering respect for the task that has been placed upon him: "And thy servant is in the midst of thy people whom thou hast chosen, a great people that cannot be numbered or counted for multitude." And when he makes his request that God has granted him, he makes the best of all choices: "Give thy servant therefore an understanding mind to govern thy people, that I may discern between good and evil."

BEGINNINGS & ENDINGS

The writer of 1 Kings says that "It pleased the Lord that Solomon had asked this," and God says to him: "Because you have asked this, and have not asked for yourself long life or riches of the life of your enemies..behold, I now do according to your word" (3:10,11).

But that is not all of the story of King Solomon. If we read on to chapter 1, we find that despite his exceptional beginning, Solomon did not maintain that high level of commitment to God and his purposes, so that the writer of 1 Kings tells us: "And the Lord was angry with Solomon, because his heart had turned away from the Lord..."(11:9). He had begun with an exceptional spiritual experience, but he needed to be reborn again and again to maintain that experience in his life.

Solomon's story is unique only in its particulars and many of us have experienced what he did: a magnificient beginning and a disappointing ending. I often look back to those early days of my Christian discipleship. There was a sense of unwavering commitment and high ideals that I have not maintained with consistency. When I realize that I have drifted away from my best intentions and settled for something else, I have the opportunity to seek God's grace and ask that I be reborn again and again and again.

ALFALFA RESEARCH

How about cattle-tough pasture alfalfas?

By Bill Camerer

Ever wonder why more alfalfa isn't pastured?

We did at Doebler's. Our answer--Let's identify and develop alfalfas that are cattle-tough. Ones that take cattle abuse and keep on chugging.

Current hay alfalfas give you top performance under controlled conditions and high tech management.

A few may be superior pasture alfalfas, too. But most alfalfa breeders haven't been too concerned about overgrazing or cattle punching up the stand.

That's why Doebler's is now evaluating pasture alfalfas.

Our first step was to seed three acres last year to 17 varieties and experimentals.

We first took off one cutting. Then when the alfalfas next reached late prebud, we turned loose 25 Angus yearlings to work over the plants. Angus were rotated in and out every seven to ten days.

Most agronomists recommend 30-35 day rest periods. So this is intense grazing.

We're now evaluating the survivors after two grazing seasons. The most vigorous experimentals will be selected for special pasture breeding programs.

Next step? New experimentals and more tests.

Step three? Hopefully, high producing, more persistent pasture alfalfas for the East.

I'm Bill Camerer, Doebler's research director, with the first of two alfalfa pasture trials at Jersey Shore. Plants that survive our intense cattle grazing program will be used to breed special pasture alfalfas. No plants escaped these Angus, even those under the hot wire, at right.

Milking Center Design Conference

ITHACA, N.Y. — A national conference on Milking Center Design will be held in Harrisburg, Pa. on November 17-19.

Thirty-three speakers from across the country will present information necessary to design milking centers that are efficient and profitable and have minimal environmental risk.

Speakers include industry representatives, farm advisors, economists, animal scientists, utility representatives, agricultural engineers, and safety specialists.

The conference is intended to provide training to dairy farmers, farm advisors, milk inspectors, veterinarians, and environmental regulators. The audience also includes farm builders, equipment suppliers, animal scientists, and agricultural economists. All those interested in milking center design will benefit from the in-depth discussions.

The conference is divided into eight sessions. A session titled "Planning a New Milking Center" discusses economic considerations and putting together a planning team. Four other sessions on parlor efficiency, data collection, parlor selection, and milking systems review practical considerations in parlor design. A session about keeping the parlor clean discusses providing hot water economically, assuring product safety and quality, cleaning the milking parlor, and treating milking center waste. Two sessions concering worker/animal safety and comfort and walls and wiring discuss lighting, heating, ventilating, and construction options for floors and walls. Each session has a discussion period when speakers will answer questions from the audience.

The conference concept and technical content were developed by Stephen Spencer, professor of dairy science and Robert Graves, professor of agricultural and biological engineering from the Pennsylvania State University. Additional guidance came from the Farm Building and Equipment Task Force of the Northeast Dairy Practices Council.

The registration fee is $145 if received before Oct. 30. Late registration and walk-ins are $160. This fee includes admission to the conference, a buffet luncheon, coffee breaks, and a copy of the proceedings. Register early to receive information on post-conference workshops and tours. To receive a brochure outlining the paper titles and speakers, contact NRAES, 152 Riley-Robb Hall, Cooperative Extension, Ithaca, NY or call (607) 255-7654.

Make room reservations directly with the Penn Harris Inn and Convention Center, Rte. 11 & 15 Camp Hill Bypass, P.O. Box 839, Camp Hill, PA 17001, (717) 763-7117. The room rates are $65 for a single or double. Rooms have been setaside until November 3.

Lebanon Local Meets

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — The Lebanon Area Local of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative's District 7 will hold its annual dinner meeting Oct. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Prescott Fire Hall.

Robert M. Dever, Atlantic's assistant general manager, will be the guest speaker. Dever will report on the cooperative's 1991-1992 fiscal year and dairy industry issues.

During the meeting, officers, delegates and alternate delegates will be elected for the coming year. Nominations also will be taken for district director as current director Rhelda E. Royer's term expires this fall.

In addition, 25-year membership awards will be presented to Mike Arnold of Lebanon and James and Pamela Berry Jr. of Lebanon.

Quality Premium Awards will be presented to Daniel E. and David L. Groff of Lebanon, Phares Z. and Francis Musser of Newmanstown, Rhoda Reist of Lebanon, and Mark C. and Mark A. Patches of Lebanon. The award is given to members who qualified for Atlantic's quality milk bonus all 12 months of the 1991-1992 fiscal year.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, which represents more than 3,500 dairy farm families in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, celebrates its 75th anniversary this year. The cooperative was formed in 1917 to help dairy farmers market their milk more efficiently and profitable.

National 4-H Week Brings Awareness About Youth

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Although 4-H traditionally is aimed at rural youth, the program is changing rapidly to meet the needs of society into the next century, said a youth development expert in Penn State's College of Agricutural Sciences.

"As urbanization and suburbanization continue, 4-H faces new challenges," said Dr. Katherine Fennelly, professor and head of agricultural and extension education. "Big changes are ahead for 4-H as we become more diverse and address both traditional and emerging needs."

Fennelly's comments come as cooperative extension youth development specialists, 4-H youth members, and volunteers celebrated National 4-H Week this past week.

Pennsylvania's 4-H programs are expanding to address some of today's most pressing concerns. New health initiatives include a large smoking prevention program in cooperation with local community coalitions. A Chester County project provides bilingual educational programming for children of migrant mushroom farm workers, most of whom are Hispanic. Other programs around the state reflect renewed interest in environmental science and protection.

Fennelly says innovative 4-H programming also will result from cooperation between different youth development disciplines. "The College of Agricultural Sciences is collaborating on various projects with Penn State's College of Health and Human Development. Faculty in Health and Human Development provide the latest research information on youth development, while the strength of 4-H is in applied programming."

Fennelly says 4-H is uniquely qualified to address youth development issues. "As a county-based program, 4-H can respond to local needs. As a university-connected program, it can utilize the latest research-based information and educational techniques. And as a volunteer-oriented program, it benefits from a wonderful level of commitment by thousands of dedicated and caring people."

Regardless of the intended audience, 4-H programs are designed to benefit youth in several ways. "Kids often join 4-H to have fun," said Fennelly. "But at the same time, they learn to follow through on tasks, discover new talents, build social skills, gain self-confidence and develop leadership traits."

4-H Helps Youth Gain Self-Confidence

Many problems facing today's youth, such as drug and alcohol abuse and teenage pregnancy, are blamed on lack of self-esteem and direction. Penn State youth education experts are promoting awareness of the 4-H program, which they believe helps young people gain self-confidence.

During National 4-H Week, new 4-H clubs formed in Doylestown, Levittown, Bensalem and the Yardley-Newtown area. Patricia Freiler, 4-H coordinator for the county, said, "The number of new community clubs is a direct response to requests from families who want their children involved in 4-H. A new horse and pony club is being organized in Jamison for youth who especially interested in horses.

For additional information, call the Bucks County Cooperative Extension office, (215) 345-3283.

"4-H helps its members develop competence, the ability to cope and the drive to contribute to society," said Dr. Anne L. Heinsohn, associate professor of agricultural and extension education in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

By focusing on these three components — competency, coping and contributing — 4-H'ers learn to believe in themselves. 4-H's moto "to make the best better" contains the unspoken assertion that youths are good from the start. With this reassurance, 4-H'ers are encouraged to get involved in projects and events so they can learn and grow even more.

4-H'ers study topics that interest them and learn to interact with others by sharing their newly acquired knowledge. In addition to working on projects, 4-H'ers give speeches, participate in local fairs and get friends involved in 4-H. Youths also develop a sense of worth in the community by doing volunteer work, including visiting local rest homes (often with pet-care projects in tow) and picking up litter along highways.

Lehigh Holds Hog Roundup

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Twenty-eight members of the Lehigh County 4-H Swine Club showed and sold market hogs at their roundup at the Leesport Farmers Market.

Amy Wehr, Orefield, sold her 230-pound grand champion to Leidy, Inc., Souderton, Pennsylvania, for $2.05 per pound. The reserve grand champion shown by Stacey Dietrich, Germansville, went to Hatfield Quality Meats, Hatfield, Pennsylvania, for $1.35 per pound. The average for all 56 animals sold was 73¢ per pound. Approximately 30 buyers participated in the sale.

Dutch Country Calf Sale Set For Saturday

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — For the third year, a pre-sale youth conference will be featured at the Dutch Country Calf Sale, Oct. 24 held at the Lebanon County fairgrounds.

Experts in the field of fitting and showing beef cattle, and hoof trimming, will supply advice and technical information to all participants, free of charge.

The Youth Conference will begin at 10:30 a.m. and will be followed by the club calf sale at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 24.

Lancaster County Extension's Chet Hughes, a beef cattle and livestock specialist, will be leading a discussion on showing and fitting beef calves. He will be supplying tips to young beef exhibitors on blocking and fitting a calf, along with a discussion on how to present a calf in the showring.

Stanley Kleinfelter, a local hoof trimmer, will demonstrate the techniques he uses in keeping cattle "on their toes," stepping out and looking their best for the judges. He will explain why keeping calves hooves in good shape is important for maximum weight gains.

"This is the third year we have brought together some of the industry's most experienced people to provide an interesting and informative morning for young people and parents, alike," said Sheila Miller, sale chairman.

"The past years' events were great successes, and I heard positive comments from all the kids who came out to listen and learn. I believe even the most experienced 4-H'er will walk away from this pre-sale youth conference with something beneficial. I hope all county clubs take advantage of this free conference."

Two purebred Simmental females are also selling in this year's sale, consigned by Messick Farm of Middletown.

Several calves sold at previous Dutch Country Calf Sales have earned grand championship titles at fairs.

This year, Natalie Byler of Belleville showed her calf to grand champion steer at the Mifflin County Fair. This crossbred calf was bred by Elmer Stehman of Robesonia, who also bred the 1990 Lebanon County Fair champion steer shown by Kelly Bachman, of Annville.

Tammy Gelsinger of Wernersville exhibited her purebred Polled Hereford steer bred by Rolling Shade Polled Herefords to grand champion honors at the Reading Fair.

In 1990, Jeremy Manwiller, Robesonia, showed his purebred Polled Hereford steer bred by Deitschland Farm, Womelsdorf, to grand champion honors at the 1990 Kimberton Fair, Chester County and the Denver Fair, Lancaster County.

Junior exhibitors who show their Dutch Country calves to grand champion honors are eligible to receive $50 gift certificates on a purchase of another calf to the next calf sale.

The Fifth Dutch Country Calf Sale consignors include: Daryl Bomgardner, Annville; Friendly Persuasion Farm, Henry Emrich, Annville; Eric Harnish, Lebanon; Eastern Land & Resources, Elene Hitz, Annville; Ken Hebel, Grantville; Messick Farm, Middletown; and Elmer Stehman, Robesonia.

For more information about the Dutch Country Calf Sale or the pre-sale youth conference, contact Sheila Miller by calling 215-589-5617 or writing to Dutch Country Calf Sale, c/o Sheila Miller, sale chairman, R.D. #1 Box 325, Womelsdorf, PA 19567.

Brothers Bustle At North View Farms

GAY N. BROWNLEE

BERLIN (Somerset Co.) — When brothers Jim, Dan and John Will are on the job at North View Farms, you can bet there's no grass growin' under their feet. These guys mean business.

Until two years ago when their dad, Calvin Will, retired the four partnered the North View Farms, Incorporated, Holstein operation. Now the brothers run the business while Calvin, like many retirees, lives out an agenda that's just as busy as ever.

And their mother, Mary Elizabeth, a cut from the same cloth, runs errands, answers a constantly ringing telephone and has a big electric organ and prominenet piano in her living room — testimonials to her musical ability.

When the brothers were graduated from high school and college they wanted to work together but debated the wisdom of doing so. They would never know unless they tried.

The farm of their paternal grandfather was available. Deciding to farm it, they committed to a trial period of one year.

Located near the Pennsylvania Turnpike, the men named it the Will Brothers' Farm. The year was 1971.

Following the successful trial run, they linked with their dad to expand the business.

Altogether, North View Farms Inc. has 750 sprawling, scenic areas.

Five of the seven farms are adjacent. The other two, including the turnpike farm, are separate. An uncle and cousin oversee the turnpike farm. Two hundered more acres of land are rented. The North View operation was incorporated in 1981.

After 21 years of togetherness, the brothers haven't wearied of each other or their work. Meticulous organization is partially responsible. But their determination is equally important to North View's continuing success.

Jim, the eldest brother, is responsible for all crop decisions.

"In twenty-one years we haven't all agreed on everything. No operation is silky smooth," he said.

"When there is conflict, we work through it. The operation is large enough that everybody does not have to be involved in every decision."

He added, however, that all the major decisions are discussed by everyone. In the end, the majority rules and nobody gripes about it.

John, the youngest of the three, manages the dairy nutritional responsibilities, while middle brother, Dan is the keenly-informed marketing expert who utilizes both the foreign and local markets for merchandising service-age registered bulls from the registered North View herd.

A 3-inch pipeline running by the 86 cow stalls transports the fresh milk during the three-times-daily milkings. It's then sold to the Maryland-Virginia Cooperative, Reston, Va.

The motto of the Co-op is "Capital milk for the Capitol," since it has many sale outlets in the Washington, D.C. area.

The brothers have designed a flexible rotating scheule for sharing the milking responsibilities. Each man has time off and time away.

John, an avowed cow nutritionist, religiously monitors the feeding of the herd by lisiting to his feed consultant, Sonny Golden from Springville.

"He's referred to as 'the Boss,'" said John. "Haylage is tested every two weeks for variation in protein content," he said.

Samples are sent to the Skyview Lab at Jennerstown, following which adjustments are made in the total mix ration feeding if necessary.

The only animals going out to pasture at North View Farms are the tailenders and dry cows, John said. He said the foot trimmer comes about four times a year to spend the day trimming the cows' hooves.

"We raise all our own heifers and purchase now and then too," John said.

North View Farms has five outstanding cows that recently achieved top position on the Pennsylvania DHIR leaders list.

"Our goal is to get good heifer calves," said Dan. "But being a realist you get bulls. A lot of commercial guys want service-age bulls," he said.

"The premium market is the export market," said Dan, adding that they were selling to the U.S.S.R. until 1987. He says that market has now dried up.

"Exporting to the U.S.S.R. has slowed with the Russian government in the process of reorganization. The interim process is painful," he said.

Jim makes the crop decisions deciding on rotation, fertilizer, planting and harvesting. He allots 85 acres for oats, 340 for high-moisture shell corn and 25 for silage corn. Some 325 acres are reserved for hay depending on the season, he said. Normally they get three and a half cuttings of hay for some 10,000 bales and the remain-

Budget Cuts Impact Key Programs, Says Maryland Ag Secretary

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — What might happen when you combine the Maryland departments of ag, energy, and environmental resources?

Could it prove to be a cost-saving attempt to balance the budget by stemming excessive bureaucracy? A way to more efficiently utilize resources?

Neither, according to Robert L. Walker, Maryland secretary of agriculture. In examining one proposal put forth, according to Walker, what you get would be "irreparable damage to not only our agricultural economy, but to the economic well-being and quality of life of all Marylanders," said Walker.

The Maryland ag secretary spoke on Thursday during the monthly meeting of the Ag Issues Forum at Kreider's Restaurant. The secretary examined what his department is doing in light of seven rounds of budget cuts which sliced a huge amount of funds from the department's budget. Together with another cutback of $2.5 million last month, the slashings "will have a severe impact on key consumer programs," he said, especially the weights and measures program. Also, several animal health programs were cut. All these present a number of "serious questions, answers to which will determine how our state looks and how we do in the next decade, the next century, and the next millenium," he said.

Employs 14 percent

Walker spoke about agriculture in Maryland, the state's number one industry, and its contributions to the regional economy. Agriculture employes 14 percent of the workforce, for more than 350,000 jobs in Maryland.

In the last 10 years, according to Walker, there has been a 40 percent increase in the real value of ag products. About 40 pecent of the land is in agricultural production, with 15,000 farms on two million acres. Cash receipts total $1.5 billion, and chicken is the number one product, followed by other poultry and livestock.

Because of efforts by the department to market Maryland ag products, in 1992, more than $1.5 million in new business was generated, especially new farmers markets which opened up in various cities across the state. In addition, the department has helped generate and maintain more domestic and international markets.

Walker spoke about his recent visits to eastern Europe as an invited ag representative for the U.S. He said the market in Russia for American agricultural products has "vast potential."

People need everything

"The market indeed is as vast as the Russian landscape, which, as you know, transverses 11 times ours," he said. "Russia's twice the size of the United States," and the combined Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS) has about 300 million people who "need everything.

"It's been my view that it's clearly in our national interest, in our economic interest, in our strategic interest to help them build democracy, help them move toward a free market economy."

In a question-and-answer period following, Walker said that citizens of the CIS have experienced dramatic and terrifying inflation (5-10 percent a week) because of the removal of price controls. It takes 340 rubles now to equal a U.S. $1. A 100-ruble note was once the highest form of currency found in the old Soviet Union — now, they're printing 5,000-ruble notes.

Robert L. Walker

About 35 million people are on a pension plan that pays only about $3 a month U.S. equivalent for each person.

Enormous market

But when the country begins to recover and move onto a free market economy, according to Walker, an enormous market for U.S. agricultural and other goods will open. The Europeans, particularly Germany, are moving much faster to establish markets than the U.S., which must play catch-up.

But for now, dealing with cutbacks in the state of Maryland itself occupies Walker's attention. The proposal to combine the three departments, he said, was spoken about in the media "and it's been mentioned by the speaker of the House," Walker said. He said it is "astonishing to me" that the budget is being cut for ag programs in a country that supplies food at the least expensive of "anyplace in the world."

Earl Township Residents Organize To Protect Farmland

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Meeting in a tobacco stripping room in the barn of an Old Order Amish farmer last week, thirty people organized the Earl Township Farmland Preservation Trust, dedicated to doing just what the name suggests. The group was organized in response to the controversial request to spot zone 110 acres of farmland for high density commercial and residential development.

The members oppose the proposed spot rezoning of the Eberly farm because it would destroy prime farmland, and it would set a bad planning precedent in that it would allow a private developer to dictate planning decisions for Earl Township. The project, if allowed by the Township, would direct high density commercial and residential development away from the Target Growth Areas preferred by the county Planning Commission, and would cost the Township millions of dollars in the long run in lost tax revenues, and to provide roads and additional sewage capacity to this project and other areas of the Township. One member said, "The proposal will change the character of the community."

The members of the Earl Township Farmland Preservation Trust do not oppose a retirement community in the New Holland area, but believe that before any farmland is rezoned for development a joint authority should be created between Earl and East Earl Townships and New Holland Boro to deal with regional planning and sewage problems. This would allow the area to build for future needed sewage capacity and direct growth to the Target Growth Areas.

Residents in the area have elected the following officers: President, Frank Ludwig; Vice President, Bugene Martin; Secretaries, Jane Johnson and Doris Goehring; and Treasurer, Robin Olin, as well as four additional members for the Board of Directors. The Board includes several Old Order Amish and Mennonite members.

The Group has started a membership and fundraising drive, and is urging residents to attend the next zoning hearing scheduled for Wednesday, October 28, at 7:00 pm at the Martindale Fire Hall.

The group can be reached by calling 354-9312 after 6:00 pm or 354-5817.

Scare Tactics Decried

Many saw the PCRM's food scare tactics as part of a disturbing pattern. Writing in the Washington Post, columnist Jonathan Yardley said, "the specific details of (PCRM's) dog-and-pony show are less important than the pattern of which they are a part... scaring Americans about the various substances they funnel into their bodies has become a growth industry both for the high priests of medicine and the low priests of journalism."

The Post's Sugarman expressed similar conerns. "I think all the hoopla scared parents unnecessarily," she said, adding, "It was much to do about nothing." "As for me," she concluded, "I'm sticking with milk."

Nutritional Arguments Debunked

Journalists also joined nutritionists in debunking the idea that Americans could get all the calcium they needed by switching from milk to kale. The New York Times editorialized that "the real weakness in the anti-milk crusade is the alternatives offered. You don't need milk to get calcium. You can get it from broccoli (President Bush's least favorite food), tofu or kale, a green known more for hardiness than taste. Pass the chocolate milk."

Vermont's Republican Senator Jim Jeffords pointed out that it would be very difficult to get the 800 milligrams of calcium a child needs each day by switching to green vegetables. One cup of milk contains 300 milligrams of calcium compared to 56 milligrams in a cup of kale, Jeffords pointed out. "Think of it this way he said, "You could offer Johnny three cups of milk, and slightly exceed the RDA for calcium, or you could offer him 16 cups of kale. Mmmmm good."

Wisconsin Democrat, Senator Herb Kohl, also debunked the PCRM effort stating, "...I view efforts to discourage non-infant children from drinking milk to be irresponsible, and unsupported by the medical community at large."

Dairy State Rep. Steve Gunderson (R-WI) voiced similar sentiments. "This committee's (PCRM's) claim that milk can cause health problems has received more attention than it deserves," he said. "They would have Americans eliminate from their diet 76% of the recommended calcium intake," Gunderson said.

Good News And Bad

Lawmakers, mainstream physicians, dieticians and yes — even the mass media — ultimately came to the rescue of the dairy industry after milk was attacked by the PCRM. And there is no doubt as well that the National Dairy Board, the National Dairy Council, the National Milk Producers Federation and the milk promotion groups in the industry worked hard to overcome the threat created by Dr. Spock and his colleagues.

Certainly two weeks after the event it is accurate to say that the story was turned around, that those that sought to discredit milk were discredited. Last week's after-the-fact press coverage was down right good.

The bad news is many of these stories came after the fact, after the damage was done to dairy in the public's mind. It was more than much to do about nothing.

The lesson we learned from all this is that we must continue to work together each day to inform the public of the good job dairy producers do of providing consumers a pure, wholesale, affordable product designed to meet a variety of dietary needs. And that's the good news.

He says 60 percent of the crops were lost last year because of the Somerset County drought conditions.

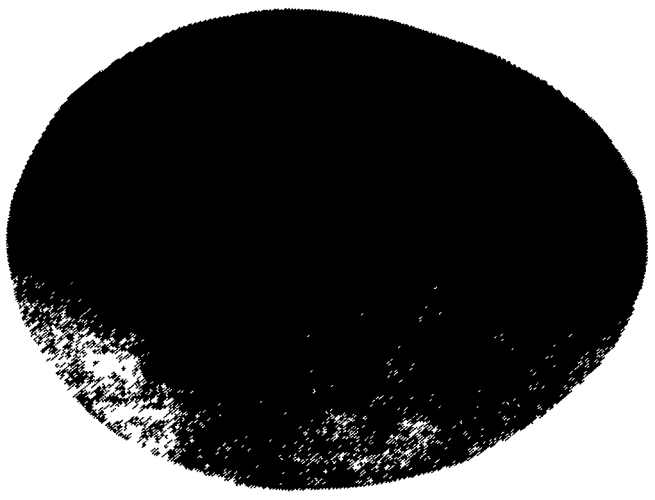
"We had enough carryover to make it just by the skin of our teeth," said Jim, who is also the repairman at North View Farms.

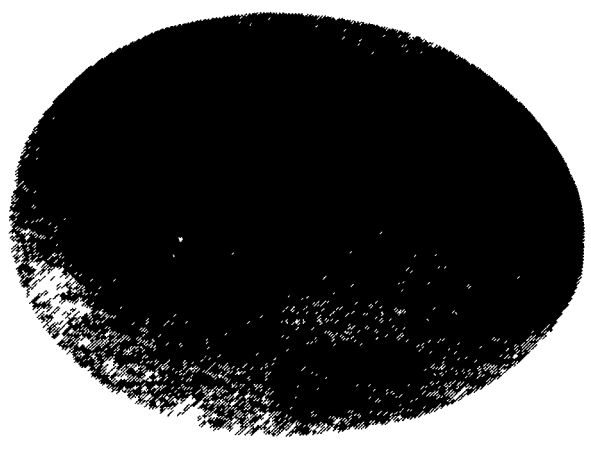
The recent RHA report for Northview's 97 cows is a milk production of 25,828 pounds; 905 pounds of butterfat, 3.5 percent; 852 pounds of protein, 3.3 percent.

North View Farms' original homestead first belonged to Jim, Dan and John's maternal granddad, Mary Elizabeth's father Calvin. She later took it over. This year it was recognized as a Pennsylvania Dairy of Distinction.

A history buff ready and willing to sit on the front porch swing to chat, Calvin can snap out more information than can be easily assimilated, but all is substantiated by the historical preservation books he keeps handy.

He said he believes that folks should know about their family heritage and those who once owned the land.





OUTPUT DEPENDS ON INPUT

Are your layers getting the full amount of feed needed for peak production? Are they giving top performance during the entire laying cycle? MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Tracy Bollinger knows it can get costly to travel to Kansas City.

So in order to travel to the American Royal on November 10 with fellow meats judging team member Wendall Landis, she decided to use the $850 from her championship Manheim hog to defray expenses.

Tracy, 15, daughter of Eugene and Carol Bollinger, Manheim, an eight-year member of 4-H, was honored as the Outstanding 4-H'er at the Lancaster County Swine Club banquet Thursday night.

Also honored at the banquet were two 4-H rookies of the year, Ryan Donough, 8, Manheim, and Kyle Ward, 9, Elizabethtown. Top three project book winners were Sarah Boyd, Ryan Donough, and Gerald Boyd.

Also honored at the banquet was Dr. Robert Graybill, DVM, Lancaster, for 12 years of service to the 4-H.

Chet Hughes, Lancaster extension agent and a 4-H coordinator, said this is the fifth year the 4-H swine clubs have been combined into a countywide club, and there are 81 new members, a 6 percent increase over last year.

Karen Becker presents Dr. Robert Graybill, DVM in Lancaster with a special appreciation award for service to the Lancaster 4-H Swine Club.

Also, Barbara Whipp of Gaithersburg (Montgomery County), 1965, and Dottie Grove of Hagerstown (Washington County), 1961.

On his way to national honors in this year's contest, Mark Iager placed first in judging Brown Swiss cattle; tenth in both Ayrshires and Jersey judging; and tenth in reasons.

On Sept. 21 he had placed sixth in the overall standings among 52 contestants from 14 states in the 4-H division of the invitational youth dairy cattle judging contest during the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show at Harrisburg, Pa. He also placed among the top 10 in three breed categories and in oral reasons.

Christopher (Chip) Savage, 17, of Burkittsville (Frederick County) placed ninth in the overall standings at Madison, fourth in Guernsey judging, and tenth in Holstein judging. He was second in both oral reasons and overall standings at Harrisburg, first in Jersey judging, fourth in Holsteins and fifth in ayrshires.

Marie L. Speak, 17, of Taneytown (Carroll County) placed 12th in the overall standings at Madison; fourth in Ayrshire judging; and fourth in reasons.

At Harrisburg she finished among the top 10 individuals in overall standings, oral reasons, and four of the five breed categories.

Kristi Geary, 17, of Goshen (Montgomery County) was the fourth Maryland team member. She placed 12th in the overall standings at Harrisburg.

Finishing close behind Maryland in the team standings at Madison were Pennsylvania, New York and Florida, in that order. Indiana was a distant fifth.

The Maryland team placed first in Jersey breed judging; third in Ayrshire, Guernsey and Holstein judging; and fourth in the Brown Swiss classes.

At Harrisburg, Maryland swept to an easy team victory in the overall 4-H standings, with New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Wisconsin trailing far behind, in that order.

The Maryland team also placed first in oral reasons at Harrisburg, as well as in Ayrshire, Holstein and Jersey breed judging.

Winning the national 4-H dairy cattle judging contest assures a college scholarship for Mark Iager and a chance for the entire Maryland team to represent the United States in international competition during a European tour next summer.

Counties Move To Protect Farmland

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Agricultural Land Preservation Board approved easement purchases for 12 farms in 8 counties, protecting 1,551 acres of prime farmland from development.

For the first time, easements were purchased in Dauphin and Susquehanna counties. A total of 21,609 acres in 33 counties have been preserved in the program's first three years.

"We're pleased to participate in farmland protection efforts in Dauphin and Susquehanna counties," said State Agriculture Secretary and Board Chairman Boyd E. Wolff. "The Susquehanna County farm is under development pressure, and the Dauphin County farm is noted for its high quality soil."

The board also approved the purchase of farmland protection easements in Centre, Chester, Cumberland, Lancaster, Lebanon, and York Counties.

A breakdown of the properties -- by county, owner, township, acreage, and purchase cost -- follows:

... Centre -- Ira D. and Patricia H. Whiteman, Potter Township, 160 acres, $101,250.

• Chester -- Oliver and Doris Mast, West Nantmeal Township, 153 acres, $536,585.

• Cumberland -- Paul H. and Janice C. Yorlets, Dickinson Township, 113 acres, $355,122.

• Cumberland -- Paul H., Janice C. and Larry J. Yorlets, Dickinson Township, 83 acres, $202,935.

• Dauphin -- William C. Martz, Upper Paxton Township, 149 acres, $176,194.

• Lancaster -- Leroy and Arlene Martin, West Donegal Township, 101 acres, $121,500.

• Lancaster -- Red Knob Farm, Little Britain and Fulton Townships, 160 acres, $160,250.

• Lancaster -- Henry P. and Ellen M. Fox, Ephrata Township, 73 acres, $227,736.

• Lebanon -- Joseph P. and Delores E. Laicha, South Lebanon Township, 78 acres, $175,000.

• Susquehanna -- Leon R. and Jennie G. Cameron, Lenox Township, 107 acres, $59,990.

• York -- G. Ellis and Joyce Crowl, Lower Chanceford Township, 215 acres, $293,260.

• York -- George E. and Elizabeth C. Jordan, East Hopewell Township, 159 acres, $376,044.

Lebanon Holds 75th Extension Meeting

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — The 75th Annual Meeting of the Lebanon County Cooperative Extension Association was held recently at the Schaefferstown Fire Hall. The event also served to recognize the efforts of volunteers in the 4-H and Master Gardener programs during the past year.

President Lloyd Early presided at the meeting attended by about 150 persons. The program entitled "Two views of Poland in the 90's" was presented by Enos Heisey of Mt. Gretna and ZoAnn Parker, Extension 4-H agent from Lancaster County.

Heisey, a retired executive from Agway visited Poland in fall of 1991 under the sponsorship of the Volunteers in Overseas Cooperative Assistanace to provide guidance to farmer groups as they move from Communist-type cooperatives to a free market-type economy.

Parker visited Poland in the spring of 1992 representing Penn State College of Agricultural Sciences to encourage youth development. She will be returning to Poland to teach in December for several weeks with a team of extension agents and volunteer 4-H leaders.

Elected to the extension board of directors for the next two years were Ann Arnold, Harold Bollinger, Lloyd Early, Gail Shiner and Carol Ungemach.

Martha Gregory, 4-H coordinator presented certificates of appreciation to 4-H leaders for this past year's service and presented special recognition pins to the following:

Five years - Barbara Seibert and Darlene Habecker, Kelly Helpers Club; 10 years - Harvey Bomgardner of NoSoAnnDairy Club, and Elijah Arnold Jr. with Happy Variety Club; 15 years - Karen Wagner of the Avon-East Lebanon area, Mary Bell - with happy Variety, and Fran Bushong with South Mountain; 20th year - Alvena Kneasel of Mt. Zion and Richard Kreider with the Swine Club; 25 years - Betty Blauch, Bellegrove Clovers; and a 35 year pin to Roy Miller with Elco Dairy Club.

Alleta Schadler, County Extension director presented certificates of completion to the following Master Gardeners: George Belicka, Joan Lutz, Anne Nebinger, Casimira Pakola, Brenda Lebo, Judith Zinn.

Receiving 100-hour volunteer appreciation certificates were Linda Leedy and George Belicka. Deborah Hartman was awarded special certificates for 500 hours of volunteer work and service to the State Master Gardener Steering Committee.

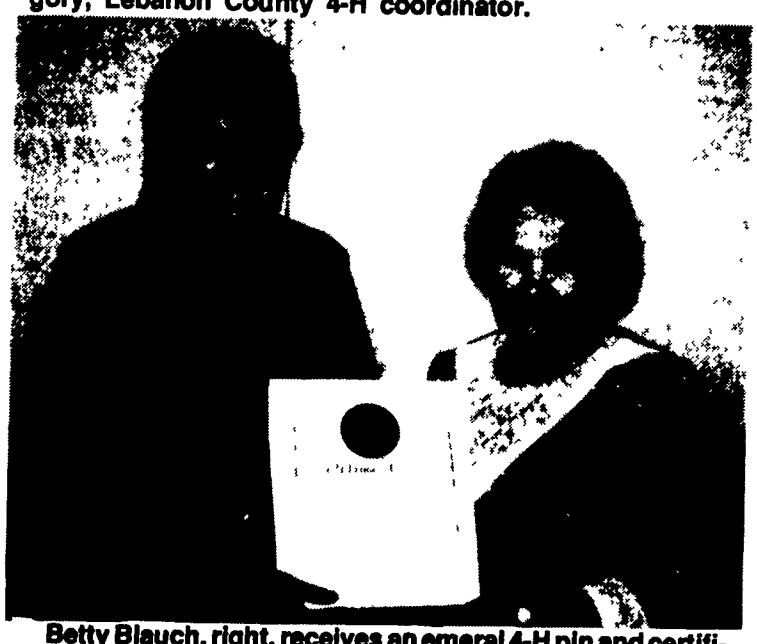
An annual report of Extension activities was distributed and is available to county residents by contacting the Cooperative Extension Office at 270-4391.

Extension programs in a wide variety of topics are available to county residents without regard to race, religion, sex, national origin, handicap, age or veteran status.

During the past year, county staff and consultants presented 374 programs to more than 10,000 participants. In addition, 173 adult volunteers in the adult and youth programs held 499 meetings attended by more than 3,000 persons. Nine hundred eighty-six 4-H members were enrolled in 1,433 projects.

In reporting outreach efforts, it was noted that 84 different circular letters were prepared and mailed to 40,585 persons. Fifteen agencies cooperated in the distribution of parent education materials.

Roy E. Miller receives a sapphire 4-H pin and certificate in recognition of 35 years service as 4-H leader in the Eastern Lebanon County (ELCO) 4-H Dairy Club from Martha Gregory, Lebanon County 4-H coordinator.



Betty Blauch, right, receives an emeral 4-H pin and certificate in apprecation for 25 years service as organization leader of the Bellegrove Clovers 4-H Community Club from Martha Gregory, Lebanon County 4-H coordinator.

District 10 Locals To Meet

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — The Waynesboro and Central Maryland locals of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative's District 10 will hold their annual dinner meeting Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. at the New Midway Fire Hall near Woodsboro, Md.

Robert M. Dever, Atlantic's assistant general manager, will be the guest speaker. Dever will report on the cooperative's 1991-1992 fiscal year and dairy industry issues.

During the meeting, officers, delegates and alternate delegates will be elected for the coming year. Nominations also will be taken for district director. Current director C. Rodman Myers of Thurmont, Md., is retiring from the board following seven years of service.

In additon, Quality Premium Awards are to be presented to John T. and Julie A. Mayer of Taneytown, Md., William R. Powell III and Herman E. Bendig of Union Bridge, Md., and Karl D. and Bonnie L. Wantz of Taneytown, Md. The award is presented to members who qualified for Atlantic's quality milk bonus all 12 months of the 1991-1992 fiscal year.

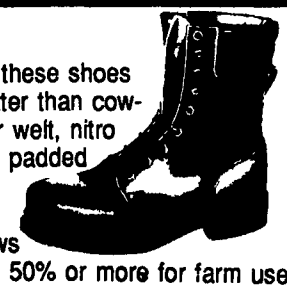
HORSEHIDE
GENUINE HORSEHIDE
Barnyard Acid Resistant American Made



Made of tough, long wearing horsehide, these shoes stand manure, silage, oil and grease better than cowhide. Shoes feature a genuine Goodyear welt, nitro cork sole that will not track, steel shank, padded collar, cushion insole and arch support. Ideal for barn use. Sizes 7-13 including ½ sizes. 1st quality. Our experience shows that horsehide outlasts good cowhide by 50% or more for farm use.

Working For You From the Ground Up

4-H, FFA Youth Get More Than $16,000 For Livestock

GRATZ (Dauphin Co.) — In the fourth and most successful Gratz Fair 4-H/FFA Livestock Sale, buyers supported youth from throughout Dauphin and Northumberland counties by paying a total of $16,380 for lambs, hogs, and beef cattle.

Fifty buyers, more than any other year, were registered to bid on the 72 project animals. The 4-H and FFA members raise the animals each year for judging at the Gratz Fair, and the livestock auction is held to give the youth a market to sell their animals.

The sale, held under a large tent out of the rain, also unexpectedly resulted in the start of a new scholarship fund for Dauphin County 4-H. Bill Campbell, representing Hoss's Steak and Seafood Houses, Duncansville, had the winning bid on the grand champion market beef cow for $1.50 per pound — a total of $1,860. The animal was raised by Jeremy Dobbin of Halifax. Campbell then donated the animal back to have it sold again, with the new money to go to the Dauphin County 4-H program.

Lynn Schwalm of Herndon, representing Hatfield Quality Meats, Hatfield, offered to pay a $.70 per pound base price on the second bidding.

As the bidding started, Frederick Rudy, Dauphin County extension agent for 4-H and youth development, and Eugene Sweigard of Halifax, a long-time 4-H leader in the county, decided on the spot that they would use the money to start a scholarship fund, something that had been considered for a while by the 4-H but kept from becoming a reality because of lack of money and time.

That scholarship program is now in place with $1,091.20 in the pot. The cow was purchased by John Fritz of Sunset Ice Cream, Williamsport, at $.89 per pound.

Another highlight of the night was Rudy's announcement of the fair association's plans to build a 70-by-108-foot livestock show arena at the fairground. Sponsors are being sought for the building, which is expected to be constructed in time for next year's fair.

In addition to the purchase of the grand champion, Campbell from Hoss's also bought the reserve grand champion market beef. His bid of $1 per pound for the 1,175-pound animal gave 4-H'er Doug Reinert of Halifax $1,175 for his work. Campbell also bought the other two market beef cows, paying $1 per pound for each of them.

In the market swine category, 46 animals were sold. Schwalm from Hatfield bought the grand champion, raised by Jason Wolfe of Halifax, for $2.31 per pound, a total of $538.23. Keystone Farm Credit, Hegins, purchased the reserve grand champion hog, raised by Jocelyn Greider, Halifax, at $2.05 per pound, a total of $518.65.

In market lamb, Agway-Elizabethville purchased the grand champion from Garth Campbell of Gratz, paying $2.20 per pound, a total of $283.80. Upper Dauphin Livestock Sponsors bought the reserve grand champion, raised by Dobbin, at $1.50 per pound, or $187.50. There were 21 market lambs sold.

Auctioneers George and Mike Deibert, Klingerstown, volunteered their services for the sale.

The complete list of animals sold follows (name and hometown of seller, name and hometown of buyer, price per pound and total sale):

Market Swine

Reinert, (champion lightweight), Keister's Middleburg Auction, Middleburg, $.85, $178.50.

Donald Ferster, Dornsife (reserve champion middleweight), Hatfield, $.76, $180.12.

Brian Snyder, Dornsife (reserve champion lightweight), Triple K Builders, Dornsife, $.85, $194.65.

Market Beef

Jeff Eure, Hoss's Steak and Seafood House, $1, $960.

Jon Eure, Hoss's Steak and Seafood House, $1, $1,060.

Market Lambs

Garth Campbell, Gratz, ETC Farms, $.80, $116.64.

Ameer Farhat, Halifax, Agway-Elizabethville, $.85, $85.

Martz, Meckley's Limestone Products, $1.20, $100.80.

Garrett Campbell, ETC Farms, $.87, $117.45.

Matt Romberger, Dalmatia, Meckley's Limestone Products, $.95, $119.70.

Dobbin, Lykens Valley Roller Mills, R.D. Millersburg, $1.05, $110.25.

Lancaster Holstein Association Sets Banquet

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Holstein Association will hold its annual banquet on Friday, Nov. 13 at 7 p.m. here at the Country Table Restaurant.

Youth awards to be presented at the banquet include recognition at the Black and White Show, the county distinguished junior member contest (judged on a completed Pennsylvania Holstein Association Distinguished Junior Member book), and project forms recognition.

Also at the ceremony, awards will be presented for the member with the highest county milk, fat, and protein production. Picture contest awards will be presented in two divisions — working category (youth working with their project animal) and human interest category.

For the distinguished junior member contest, age groups will include junior, 0-12 years old, winner be awarded a showbox; intermediate, 13-16 years old, winner will receive a show calf; and seniors, 17-21 years old, a trip to the Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Convention and a Pennsylvania Holstein jacket.

The Holstein Club will donate $300 toward the dairy princess attending the public speaking seminar.

Entertainment for the banquet will be provided by Stephen Productions' "The Magic of John Westford." Tickets for the banquet are $10.50 for adults and $5.25 for children 10 and under.

Ticket deadline date is Wednesday, Nov. 4. Tickets are available from the following (717 area codes): Lowell Brubaker, 653-2612; Steve Hershey, 367-1593; Nelson Wenger, 665-7233; Steve Shertzer, 872-8525; Lynn Royer, 569-2304; Jack Coleman, 687-6844; Harold Shellenberger, 653-5663; Leroy Welk, 786-7287; or Phil Crouse at (215) 267-4165.

For more information, contact Lowell Brubaker, (717) 653-2612.

Jill Harnish with Spring Shade Musical Miss. Jill is the Lancaster County Dairy Princess, and Miss is the yearling that the Lancaster County Holstein Association gave in support of their youth program last year at the local annual meeting. Born September 1, 1991, Miss has become quite a growthy heifer that tapes in at nearly 900 lbs.

Jill appreciates the heifer and what the Lancaster Holstein breeders have done for the youth. She urges all youth ages 13 to 16 to try for this year's calf. Jill says it's not all that hard to do. For fast information contact Jack Coleman, youth committee chairman. Phone: (717) 687-6844.

MILK AMERICA'S HEALTH KICK

Keystone Futurity Entries Due

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The 1995 Keystone Holstein 3-Year-Old Futurity is now open for entries, according to a recent news release from the Pennsylvania Holstein Association (PHA).

The Keystone Futurity is a project of the PHA to stimulate interest in breeding and developing outstanding registered Holsteins for production and type regardless of individual herd size.

Three nominations are required for each animal that competes. Any breeder may nominate as many heifer calves as they wish. There is a guaranteed purse of $500 to the winner.

Under the rules of the futurity, any registered Holstein female bred in Pennsylvania and born here between Sept. 1, 1991 and August 31, 1992 is eligible.

The fees consist of a $3 per head first payment by Dec. 1, 1992; second payment of $11 by Sept. 15, 1993; and a third payment of $20 per head by Sept. 15, 1994.

All futurity funds collected are to be used only for for the futurity. The purse is to be divided with 50 percent, or at least $500, being awarded to the owner of the first place animal. The remainder of the money is to be divided among those competitors who show in the 1995 futurity class.

All nomination fees are committed to the purse. No refunds will be made, whether an animal competes or eligibility is discontinued.

Maintaining eligibility is done by continuing to make subsequent payments by due dates. Any animal sold will remain eligible, as along as the animal meets all other PHA show eligibility requirements.

The owner of a nominated animal will be notified when payments are due. Failure to make the next payment cancels eligibility.

For more information, call the PHA at (814) 234-0364.

Pa. State Grange To Williamsport

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Nutrient management, health care, funding for University of Pennsylvania Veterinary School, and election of new officers are just some of the topics to be discussed at the upcoming Pennsylvania State Grange Session Oct. 25-29 in Williamsport.

More than 1,000 Grange members from around Pennsylvania will gather at the Scottish Rite Consistory for the state convention, where new policies are discussed and voted on by delegates. This year's session is being hosted by Lycoming County.

"The Grange is a grassroots organization which gets its policies from the local Granges in the form of resolutions," said Pennsylvania State Grange Master (president) William H. Ringler. "Over the years, the Grange has successfully lobbied for such issues as rural mail delivery, establishment of rural electric cooperatives, and fairer pricing for farmers. All these policies started at a local Grange and were then passed to the state level."

Highlights of the five-day convention will be an address from State Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff, Oct. 27; National Grange Vice President Kermit Richardson, Oct. 26; Rep. Roger Madigan, Oct. 28; and Rev. John Mostoller, Oct. 27.

All-Pa. Contest Deadline Nov. 1

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The deadline for the 1992 Pennsylvania Junior All-Pennsylvania Contest is Nov. 1, according to a recent news release from the Pennsylvania Holstein Association.

Open to Pennsylvania Junior Holstein members, the contest is a picture and placing contest. Each entry must include a picture of the animal and a summary of all show placings during the year.

Each class will be judged and the winners announced in the January issue of the official magazine of the PHA, Pennsylvania Holstein Profiles.

Pennsylvania Dairy Seeks Outstanding Promoter

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — For a third consecutive year, the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program will be recognizing an outstanding dairy promoter in Pennsylvania. The award's focus has changed, somewhat, with all active dairy promoters eligible for nomination, regardless of affiliation or farm background.

"This award is our way of expressing appreciation for the efforts of dairy promoters throughout the state," said Nadine Houck, Promotions Specialist, with the PDPP. "Local and regional promotion efforts are necessary for our Program's activities to be successful."

The award qualifications were extended to include dairy farmers, as well as allied industry personnel, extension personnel, teachers, and others who assist dairy promotion efforts. By focusing on both dairymen and non-dairymen, the PDPP will be recognizing those individuals who work together to increase the awareness of dairy products and the dairy industry.

The 1993 Promoter of the Year will be announced at the PDPP's Annual Meeting, slated for February 2, 1993, in State College. The review committee will select up to five finalists for the award, before the winner is announced in February.

Nomination for the award requires the following information: a completed nomination form, a brief biography of the nominee, and an outline of the nominee's dairy promotion activities.

All nominations are due in the PDPP office by October 31, 1992. Nomination forms are available by contacting Nadine Houck at (717) 787-6903.

BRING IT HOME.

Get the yields you deserve for all the hard work that goes into raising a good corn crop, with the proven performance advantage of Pioneer® brand hybrids. Because all over the country, the facts show, once again, those who planted our hybrids harvested more bushels per acre. So ask your Pioneer sales representative about which hybrids will help bring out the Earning Power in your fields. And keep a good thing going.

NEW 3525 — 106 CRM

The new performance leader in this maturity. 3525 is a widely adapted, stable, high-yielding hybrid. Tall plant type, excellent for grain and silage. Late flowering. Good ear flex and ear attachment.

3394 — 111 CRM

Record setting yields and exceptional agronomics. This exciting hybrid combines: impressive early growth, strong stalks and roots, exceptional stress tolerance, above average drydown and lengthy staygreen. Widely adapted to varying soil types, tillage methods and populations. Good grain appearance.

3293 — 114 CRM

Similar to 3241 with more top-end yield potential. Exceptional early growth. This hybrid features outstanding stalks, superior staygreen and drought tolerance. Above average grain appearance and grain protein content.

3241 — 114 CRM

Excellent early growth and resistance to several diseases make 3241 ideal for conservation tillage. Grain growers will appreciate its outstanding stalks, lengthy staygreen and reliable drought tolerance. Good grain appearance with above average grain protein. Top silage producer.

Comparative Relative Maturity (CRM)

With no industry standard for maturity ratings, comparing maturities between companies is usually difficult. Use this rating to compare Pioneer hybrids with competitive hybrids of similar maturity and harvest moisture. These ratings are based on customer side-by-side and research comparison experience. Individual company ratings may still show a variation from the average comparative rating.

Weikert's Meat Purchases Md. Reserve Grand Steer

TIMONIUM, Md. — Weikert's Meat Market, Gettysburg, Pa., purchased the reserve grand champion crossbred steer at the Maryland State Fair 4-H/FFA Livestock sale held recently at the Maryland State Fair.

The steer shown by Brett Fogle, Woodbine, Md. sold for $1 a pound.

Weikert's was a major supporter for the sale. They purchased a hog shown by Jennifer Wildesen of Uniontown for $1.50 a pound; two lambs shown by Jennifer and Justin Wildesen for $2.00 and $2.10, respectively; and in addition to Fogle's reserve grand champion steer they purchased 6 other steers. Owners of the other steers were Craig Bryant of Queen Anne's County; Dennis Willard Jr. of Frederick County; Melissa Harrison of Carroll County; Zeb Amoss of Carroll County; Robert Condon of Carroll County; and Gabe Zepp from Carroll County.

This was the first year that Weikert's have purchased the Maryland State Fair and they joined 56 other buyers in purchasing lambs, hogs, and steers raised by Maryland 4-H/FFA project members for the 1992 sale.

Hatfield Quality Meats, Hatfield, Pa. continued to be a major supporter for hogs sold during the sale. They purchased the reserve grand champion hog shown by Tara Chaudry of Howard County for $1.60 a pound. Other hogs they purchased were shown by Nicole Patrick and Melissa Patrick of Howard County and Jessica Fogle, Tracey Clagett, and Brandi Brumit, all from Carroll County.

Total sales were slightly more than $43,000 for the 35 lambs, 35 hogs, 22 beef steers, and 2 dairy steers sold. Average sale prices excluding the champion's sale prices were beef steers - 81 cents a pound; lambs - $2.07 a pound; hogs - $1.24 a pound and dairy steers 71 cents a pound. The grand champion market lamb owned by Monica Feeser of Carroll County set a new record price of $13.75 and was purchased by Deggeller Attractions of Stuart, Florida. Other grand champions were beef steer shown by Tim Clark, Howard County and purchased by Dr. Emmett Full, Mt. Airy for $2.20 a pound and grand champion market hog shown by Monica Feeser of Carroll County, which sold for $3.50 to Chesapeake Food Concessions, Glen Arm.

PDPP Approves Marketing Plan, Budget

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Last week, the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program Board approved a marketing plan for 1992-93. During a meeting in Harrisburg, the PDPP Board finalized a budget for the coming year, reelected officers, and welcomed three new representatives to the board.

"Our board and staff have come together to generate an outstanding marketing program for the state's dairy farmers," said Karl Kroeck, PDPP board chairman, in announcing the plan. "Our plans for 1992-93 include continued joint advertising programs with our partners, revitalization of retail marketing programs, additional sports marketing efforts, and maintenance of our communications and public relations activities."

The plan includes continuance of the joint partnership agreement with Pennsylvania's Dairy Promotion Partners, including the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Mid East UDIA/F.O. 36 Advertising and Promotion Agency, and the PDPP. This agreement has been in force since 1989 and has fueled the development of efficient marketing programs for Pennsylvania's dairy farmers.

Along with joint programming, the PDPP will continue with programs of its own including sports marketing with Penn State University, the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Harrisburg Senators, and the Hershey Bears. Nutrition education programming will also be supported through the three dairy council units operating in Pennsylvania. Other campaigns such as June Dairy Month, CHEERS, and July Ice Cream Month, are also a part of the 1992-93 plan.

"We have taken a long look at our effective programs and worked to strengthen those that provide a benefit to the dairy farmers," said Brian Ross, PDPP program manager.

The PDPP board also elected officers at this meeting. Karl Kroeck, from Knoxville, Tioga County, was reelected chairman. All other officers were reelected as well including: Donald Cook, from Drums, Luzerne County, vice-chairman; Janet Reynolds, from Watsontown, Northumberland County, secretary; and Robert Gehman, from Cooperstown, Lehigh County, treasurer. Dr. John Plummer, from Chalfont, Bucks County, and Richard Shellenberger, from Manheim, Lancaster County, were reelected to the board's executive committee.

Several new members were welcomed to the PDPP board as well. These new members included Donald Everitt, from Mifflintown, Juniata County, John Ligo, from Grove City, Mercer County, and Alan Meyers, from Gettysburg, Adams County.

THINKING OF REMODELING?

MUCH HAS CHANGED IN THE POULTRY INDUSTRY DURING THE LAST TEN YEARS

■ FOUR HIGH, 20" DEEP CAGE SYSTEMS

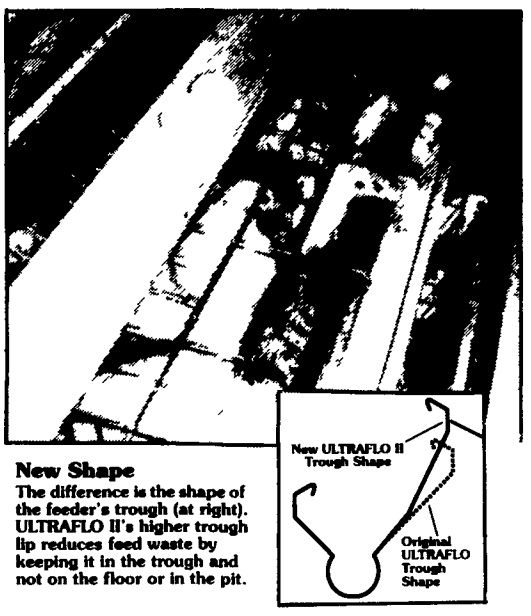
FOUR HIGH DURATRIM

The same width as 3 high dropping board systems and 4 high reverse cage systems and INCREASES CAPACITY BY 33%

■ CHORE-TIME®

ULTRAFLO™ FEEDING

Lower maintenance, better feed conversion and performance for layers, pullets and breeders.



New Shape
The difference is the shape of the feeder's trough (at right). ULTRAFLO II's higher trough lip reduces feed waste by keeping it in the trough and not on the floor or in the pit.

■ CHORE TIME® Turbo VENTILATION

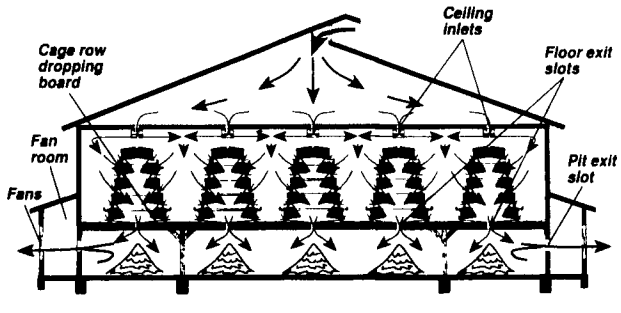
Negative Pressure House



TURBO ventilation provides year round, even temperatures, end to end - side to side - tier to tier and at the same time dries manure to a dusty - fly resistant - product!

■ CHORE-TIME® H2 and C2 FEEDERS

Feeders for broilers and poults...Grilled or Grilless - The Feeders with Windows!

ALSO: ■ Automatic nests for broiler breeders and commercial breeders ■ Nipple drinkers and cup drinkers for broilers and breeders ■ Electronic ventilation controls which are easy to install, easy to operate and pay back in fuel savings and productivity

Kerra Allen And The Sheep That Raised $2,197 For God

"At first, I struggled a little with giving up the money," Kerra said, "but then, I asked myself, 'Who needs it more?'"

When Kerra heard the minister say that Clare House, a temporary home for women and children who suffer financial hardship, would need to be closed down because they did not have enough funds to keep operating, Kerra was alarmed. She had heard about Clare House before. "We often took our pennies to Children's Church and deposited them in a box for Clare House," Kerra said.

The home, a Christian non-profit organization, has been in operation since 1985. Although the home survived on month-to-month private donations, contributions dropped considerably recently. The Rev. Theodore McCabe, the minister of Ruhls United Methodist Church where Kerra attends, believes that those who had previously contributed to Clare House recently sent their donations to the hurricane victims of Florida, Louisiana, and Hawaii. McCable and other Clare House board members understand the great needs the hurricane victims suffered, but the need to help homeless women and children remains constant.

When Kerra heard the home would have to close unless it received immediate funds, she vowed to donate the money from selling Patches, a sheep she purchased from Joyce and Kirt Diffenderfer of Manheim.

When Kerra told her parents, Keith and Kendy Allen, about her vow, they decided that they would pay the feed bills instead of having the costs deducted from the profit. Kerra sold two other sheep to pay for the purchase price of Patches. That way, the total selling price could be given to Clare House.

Kerra did everything that she could to raise the best sheep possible. She fed Patches a nutritionally balanced diet, exercised it daily, and pampered it. She wrote a letter, which she sent out to 12 potential buyers.

The letter read: I am writing to tell you that I will be selling my 4-H lamb at the Manheim Fair on Friday, Oct. 9, at 8 p.m.

I want to tell you this because all the money that my lamb sells for will be donated to Clare House — a home for homeless women and children in Lancaster that my church helps to support. It needs money desperately and I want to help.

I am 11 years old. My lamb and I will be wearing matching ribbons.

Will you please help support me in doing this?

Kerra arrived at the Manheim Farm Show full of optimism as she tacked up a sign above her sheep pen promising that "all of the selling price of my market lamb will be donated to Clare House of Lancaster." Kerra also hung up a newspaper clipping describing the plight of Clare House.

Kerra's optimism faded when her 102-pound lamb only placed fourth in competition. She knew that fourth-place lambs did not bring much money on the auction block. She was praying for a grand champion or at least the reserve title — those are the lambs for which buyers paid top premiums.

Kerra honestly reported her reactions to this disappointment by saying, "I told God, 'I'm doing this for You, Lord. What's happening here?"

Unknown to Kerra were two businessmen who had heard in a round-about way about Kerra's pledge to donate money to Clare House.

One man was Darvin Boyd of Hamilton Bank, which has supported the 4-H program for 20 years by buying a lamb and steer during the fair season. Boyd heard about Kerra's promise to donate the money to Clare House through Chet Hughes, Lancaster County Extension agent.

Boyd said, "I had never heard of Clare House, but Kerra's story appealed to me because any kid that has that kind of heart and is willing to give to help those less fortunate deserves good support for the cause."

Boyd was even more impressed when he heard that it was Kerra's idea, not her parents', to donate the money.

Another businessman was Tom Drumm of TW's Leather Sales, Inc. Although he attends the same church as Kerra, they did not know each other. He read a brief notice about Kerra's pledge in the church bulletin. Drumm talked with some people who work with his TW's Leathers Sales at 50-A South Broad St., in Lititz. Together, they decided to purchase the sheep as a fund-raising effort for Clare House.

When Kerra led her sheep before the auctioneer, she did not know that Boyd and Drumm, who were also unknown to each other, were going to bid on her sheep.

When the bidding climaxed at $11 a pound, Kerra said, "I was so happy, I was hysterical. I hadn't realized what God's plan was. How could I not have trusted Him to bring a good price for the sheep?"

When Kerra, who was deeply attached to Patches, was told that she could keep the sheep, she was ecstatic. "Patches is going to live in luxury on our farm until he dies," she said.

The sale was finished Saturday night on October 9, but Boyd couldn't erase the memory of Kerra's pledge.

He was curious. What kind of place was Clare House, which caused such compassion to be shown by an 11-year-old girl?

Monday night, he decided to find out. He looked up the place located at 342 E. Chestnut St., Lancaster. There were three women sitting on the front porch.

Boyd sat on the bannister and casually chatted with the women. He said, "I walked away convinced that Clare House was a worthy cause."

The next day, Boyd called a meeting with fellow bank officials. He said, "For 20 years, we have been committed to helping agriculture, but this goes beyond that. This young girl epitomizes qualities of what 4-H is all about. It shows community involvement, caring, and sharing. Let's support the cause and be grateful for young people like this in our society."

Hamilton Bank decided to give Kerra $1,075, the bid Boyd had offered at the sale, for her to donate to Clare House.

When Kerra heard about the offer, she said, "I just think that it's really special that buyers cared this much to help. I really appreciate both of them. I am so happy."

Boyd said, "By doing this, the bank did not want to take away anything from the grand champion winner. But this was a unique cause. It merited the support it received."

Drumm, a board member for Clare House, hopes others will be inspired to give to the home for the homeless. He said, "I also hope this brings attention to the good 4-H'ers do for the community."

Kerra, who is a sixth grader at Mastersonville Elementary School, had some other good news. The day after the sale, she was chosen as a junior high winner at the county Ag Science Fair.

In another unusual gesture at the Manheim Livestock Sale, Tracy Bollinger, who is a member of the Lancaster County Meat's Judging Team, donated the money from her market hog to the team, which includes Wendall Landis, Angie Erb, and Dwain Livengood. Since the members won the state contest, they are eligible to compete nationally at Kansas City, but they need money to pay traveling costs. Tracy's 220-pound hog was purchased for $850 by 20 buyers who pooled their money. Hoss's Steak and Seafood House donated two of the pigs they purchased back to the judging team, which enabled the team to raise another $550 for traveling costs.

Hoss's also purchased the 1,300-pound grand champion steer from Casey High for $4,225, and then donated it back to raise another $1,250 for the Manheim FFA scholarship fund.

J. Omar Landis also contributed to the FFA fund when they gave back the grand champion lamb after they had purchased it from Mark Tracy for $518.95.

Adam Forry's grand champion market hog sold to the record-breaking price of $6.50 per pound to Manheim Auto Auction. The reserve champion hog sold for $6 per pound to Omar the Tent Renter.

The reserve champion sheep, owned by Travis Donough, sold for $2.50 per pound to Walter Dunlap. Travis also owned the reserve champion steer, which weighed 1,140 pounds and sold for $1.25 per pound.

1992 Delp Award Nominations Now Accepted

LANCASTER (Lanc. Co.) — Nominations are currently being accepted for the Chamber's fourth annual George C. Delp Award. This award is made at the annual Agriculture-Industry Banquet to a Lancaster Countian who has been influential in promoting agribusiness within the Garden Spot.

To be eligible for nomination, the individual must meet the following criteria:

1. Be a resident of and/or work in Lancaster County for at least three years.

2. Project a positive community image.

3. Be dedicated to the improvement of the agricultural community in Lancaster County.

Nomination forms are not carried forward from year to year, so it is important to re-submit the name/s of qualified individuals. Nomination forms may be picked up at The Lancaster Chamber of Commerce and Industry, 100 South Queen Street, or by calling Jay Howes at the Chamber, 397-3531. Deadline for submission of nominations is Friday, October 23, 1992.

If you have any questions or need additional information, call Jay Howes at 397-3531.

Pa.DHIA Explains Changes To Better Services

DIXIE BURRIS
Manager, Membership Development

FOCUS
Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association
Call 1-800-DHI-TEST for service or information.

The dairy industry changes daily and with it, PA DHIA is forging ahead with new technology, new reports, and new information being made available to the dairy farmer.

Convenience, good service, and accuracy are some of the goals of PA DHIA; therefore, dairymen will see numerous changes in the reports and services over the next few months. We will explain a few of those improvements in this article. In the next couple of weeks we'll look at the specifics of each change.

Beginning Nov. 1, dairymen will see some change in the size of the forms being sent, along with a smaller envelope.

The monthly lactation report, herd summmary I report, and reproductive management report will change from their present size to 8.5x11.

Also the header page which accommodates the barn sheet will change from its present size to 8.5x13 and will include all the member services a dairyman can add, drop, or receive information about a particular report. All that is needed to add, drop, or select information will be to check the appropriate box on the header page.

This is a smaller, more manageable size which makes the reports more convenient to handle and to keep. A binder to contain these reports will be distributed by the technicians in November.

The repackaging of the reports takes place in January-when every report will be priced separately. You may want to watch for a future article that will explain the unbundling of the reports.

Several other changes are also occurring: SNF (solids not fat), which will be offered by the end of the year. SNF column has been added to the monthly report and the "calf page" will be replaced with a "heifer inventory report."

Many dairyman have already experienceed the new lap top computers carried by the technicians right into the milking parlor. The region managers and senior technicians are already using them in the field and it won't be long before your technician will be trained and have their own lap top.

These computers would benefit the farmer by offering some additional reports rights on the spot. Used in conjunction with QBS or Quick Barn Sheet and Dairy Comp 305, technicians will now have the ability to provide the diaryman with reports that contain information that can be used to make immediate herd management decisions several days in advance of when the paper DHIA reports arrive in the mail.

QBS and Dairy Comp 305 are not intended to be a replacement for DHIA mainframe computing. Component analysis data can only be added into the reports after the samples have been tested in the lab. What the technician lap tops are intended for is immediacy of data reporting.

What kinds of data need to be received in an immediate fashion? Dairymen may be interested in action lists (pregnancy checks, dry dates, etc.) and ranking by test day milk for regrouping cows.

Next week we'll specifically talk more about the changes to take place in the monthly report.

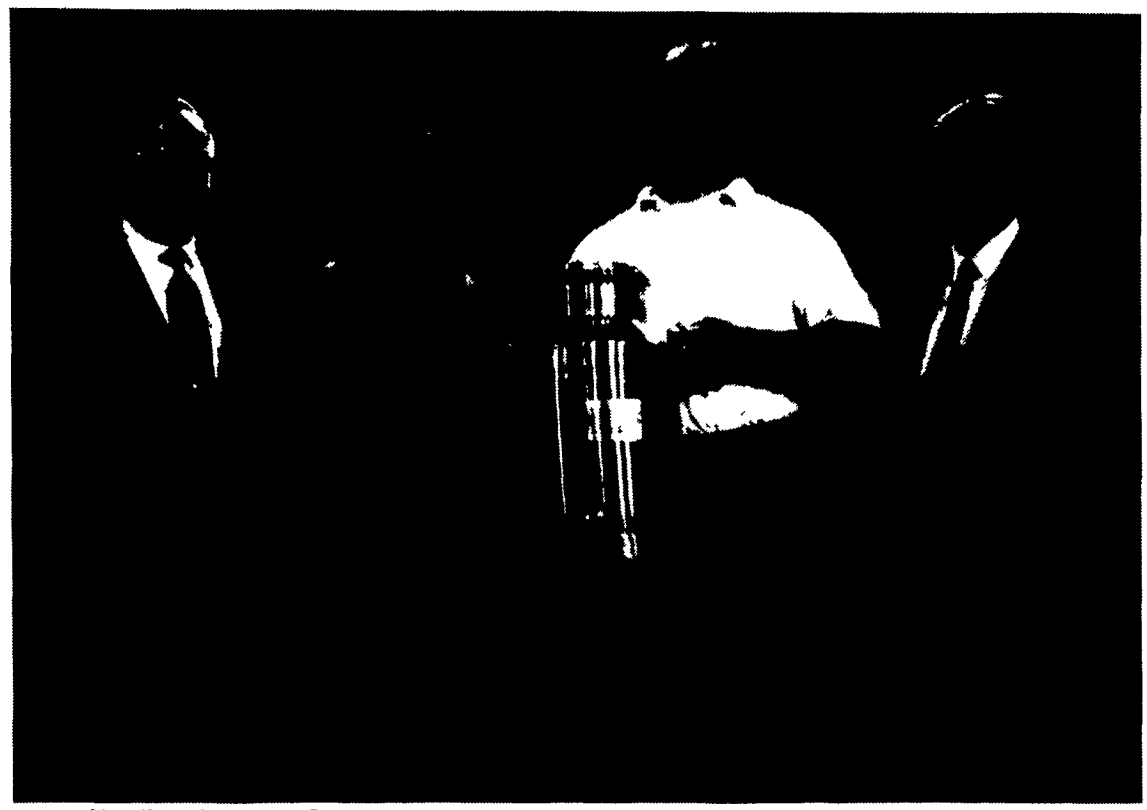
Dairy Gridiron Classic Scores Victory

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — For five consecutive years, the "Dairy Gridiron Classic" contest has been held between Maryland and Penn State universities.

This year, like several before, the Nittany Lions took home the trophy in a 49-13 victory that saw many spectacular performances by both teams. The "Milk Can" trophy will remain in State College, with Maryland hoping to take the crown in the contest finale, to be held in October 1993.

The Lions victory was keyed by the outstanding appearance of senior tailback Richard Anderson, who rushed for 138 yards and scored four touchdowns in the Penn State win. For his efforts, Anderson was named the Uni-Mart Player of the Game. It was an ironic twist, as Anderson came to Penn State from Sandy Spring, Maryland, just several miles down the road from the University of Maryland.

In accepting the "Milk Can" trophy and scholarship funds, head coach Joe Paterno said, "We appreciate the support and efforts of the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program and the state's dairy farmers." Paterno received the trophy and scholarship award from PDPP Board Chairman Karl Kroeck, at a post-game press conference.



Holding the Dairy Gridiron Classic milk can trophy, Penn State football players V.J. Massilo, left and Lou Benfatti, are flanked by Karl Kroek, chairman of the PDPP Board of Directors, left, and Brian Ross, program manager. Massilo, a punter, and Benfatti, a defensive lineman, played key roles in the Nittany Lions 49-13 win over the Maryland Terrapins.

The scholarship monies are to be distributed by Penn State's College of Agriculture to students pursuing careers in dairy and food science. The annual award was originated by the PDPP to recognize students and bring greater awareness to the state's number one agricultural industry. The scholarship awards will be made in spring of 1993, to correspond with the academic year.

MILK CHECK

THOMAS JURCHAK
Dairy Specialist
Lackawanna County

THOMAS JURCHAK
PSU Extension Agent

After 21 weeks of increasing cheese prices and four months of increasing Minnesota-Wisconsin prices, it looks like the end of the line for this year.

There may be more price changes ahead but they won't be significant increases or decreases. At least opinions are divided on which way the prices will go, but predictions of a $13 M-W this fall are fading.

Reasons for the change in prediction center on increasing milk production, especially in the upper Midwest where they are now catching up with six months of increases in the Northeast.

In addition, a lot of other signs are showing up, indicating market conditions which favor further weakening in wholesale prices.

Cheese handlers feel their inventories are now adequate for the rest of the year and, with milk production increasing, have decided to buy only what they need or when they find a bargain.

Butter and powder, as well as cheese, are moving East from the West coast and by mid-September you could buy Grade A powder in Chicago for $1.10 a pound — down 6 cents from the month before.

Powder processors were turning to Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) for the first time since last summer. Only butter sales were looking brisk with prices up 6 cents and CCC purchases the lowest in almost a year.

How Bad

You're only looking at pennies in product price changes. You won't see these in your milk check for two months and in the meantime the farm milk price will increase.

We're just reading the signs indicating what to expect in the near future so you can plan accordingly, or at least anticipate the change.

Block cheese prices are down 2.5 cents since they peaked in August but barrel cheese prices are off more than 5 cents a pound.

Since cheese prices are a major part of the Minnesota-Wisconsin price, you'll find the M-W down 5 cents to $12.54 for August. That's the end of a four-month, $1.61 increase in the M-W, but still $1.04 better than last year. It's more of a leveling off in the M-W to the end of the year without any big drops expected, unless milk production makes the increases this fall that we didn't see last spring.

For 1993, estimates on the M-W go as low as $11, if we have a spring flush. Grain prices will favor it, but forage quality may not.

Around the State

As mentioned earlier, the recent drops in product prices won't be reflected for two months in your milk check.

In the meantime, the farm price continues to increase on the strength of M-W prices in June and July.

In Order 2, the Uniform Price to producers increased 20 cents from July going to $13.36 and that was $1.32 better than last year.

In Order 36, the August price was up 22 cents over July to $13.52 and in F.O.4 the Weighted Average was $14, or 18 cents better than last month. Both of these two orders are up in price over last year, about the same amount as F.O.2.

Further increases in all three federal orders are expected next month on the strength of Class I prices following the M-W peak of $12.59 in July.

An Ill Wind

Whether it will be Hurricane Andrew or the race for the White House, farmers can expect some form of financial federal aid to be offered.

Producers may benefit from what will be called Phase II or III of the Hurricane Andrew disaster relief program.

Phase II is only for last year's fall-seeded crops harvested this year, but Phase III goes all the way back to 1990 and 1991 if you have unrecovered losses.

Phase II deadline is Oct. 2, but Phase III just starts Oct. 13 and goes to Feb. 12. See your local ASCS office for details.

There may be other benefits coming to dairy resulting from horse trading on international agreements, so watch the political scene closely from now to November.

CORN SILAGE QUALITY

Last month I talked about silo filling time with corn as our number one silage crop. In that column I stated that as corn breeders and animal nutritionists take a closer look, they now know that when it comes to nutritional value for livestock, all corn hybrids are not alike. In this month's column I'd like to follow up on this point and some other quality factors with some recently reported information from Michigan State University.

Genetics, say the Michigan workers, plays a major role in the variations of fiber fractions and digestibility of corn forage. In one Michigan study, for example, 19 corn hybrids in a 110-120 day maturity zone were compared for acid detergent fiber (ADF), neutral detergent fiber (NDF), lignin, and NDF digestibility. They found the range of 18.5 to 23.2% for ADF; 37.9 to 45.6% for NDF; 2.45 to 2.82% for lignin and 41.5 to 46.4% for NDF digestibility. Their conclusion-variation in fiber content and digestibility by hybrid was substantial.

But genetics wasn't the only factor affecting quality of corn silage. Here is a brief rundown on some of their other oberservations.

MANAGEMENT

Maturity at harvest, they say, has an effect on corn forage fiber concentrations, and digestibility. In one study, as forage dry matter increased from 30% to 41%, NDF, ADF and lignin values declined by 11%, 13% and 6%, and fiber digestibility decreased by nearly 10%. The decline in fiber digestibility was due in fact, they concluded, to the loss of lower leaves.

Likewise, plant population density has a slight but definite effect on fiber fractions and in vitro NDF digestibility. Fiber fractions and digestibility increased slightly as populations increased from 18,000 to 34,000 plants per acre.

Recent studies by New York researchers suggest that nitrogen fertilization may also have an effect on NDF content. These workers found that whole plant NDF concentrations decreased with increasing N rates, in their study from 0 to 225-pound N/acre.

ENVIRONMENT

Environmental factors such as drought also have an effect on fiber content. And while the effect of drought stress is not well understood, never the less it has been shown that drought-stressed forages generally have lower fiber content and higher digestibility than forages grown with adequate moisture.

All of this means, the Michigan workers concluded, that fiber concentrations of corn forage are extremely variable. Environmental conditions during growth can affect fiber concentrations and fiber digestibility greatly. Both fiber concentration and fiber digestibility are variable by corn hybrid. And corn fiber content can be greatly reduced by nitrogen fertilization and maturity while other management factors such as population have a lesser effect. Finally, they say, understanding the factors affecting forage quality and the variation in forage quality will help to develop a forage mangement program that will enhance production and profitability.

As I see it, these studies also indicate the value of a sound forage testing service to develop profitable rations for today's high producing dairy cows.

ADC Announces Quality Award Winners

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — Atlantic Dairy Cooperative will present its 1992 Quality Premium Award to 34 members who earned the cooperative's quality milk bonus all 12 months of the 1991-1992 fiscal year.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative represents more than 3,500 dairy farm families in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

"This award recognizes members who consistently produce high quality milk for the cooperative," said Don M. Breiner, Atlantic's quality and field services manager. "We commend these producers for their commitment to quality."

During the past fiscal year, which ended July 31, Atlantic paid out $1.89 million in quality milk bonuses. On the average, 38 percent of the cooperative's membership earned the extra payments throughout the year.

Begun in 1987, the quality premium program provides a financial incentive to members to produce high quality milk. Members must meet a series of seven quality standards set by the cooperative to obtain the bonus. The premium itself is paid out on a two-tier level based on per hundredweight production.

The 34 award winners will receive a plaque during their local and district meetings this fall and next spring.

In District 1, David A. and Sharon K. Bishop, Doylestown, and Samuel W. Morris, Pottstown, were premium winners.

In District 2, Lester C. Jones & Sons Inc., Medford, N.J., John F. Hubschmidt, Bridgeton, N.J., and Ella V. Eachus, Mullica Hill, N.J., won.

In District 3, Joseph L. and Joseph H. DeLong, Quarryville, and Edward L. and Edd W. Zug Jr., Peach Bottom, won.

In District 5, David S. Hess, Lancaster, won.

In District 7, Amos M. and Ruth A. Conley, Mount Joy, Daniel E. and David L. Groff, Lebanon, Rhoda Reist, Lebanon, Earl N. Landis, Manheim, Phares Z. and Francis Musser, Newmanstown, and Mark C. and Mark A. Patches, Lebanon, are to be presented awards.

In District 9, Marvin Bennetch, Myerstown, and James B. Siegrist, Wernersville, were winners.

In District 10, John T. and Julie A. Mayer, Taneytown, Md., William R. Powell III and Herman E. Bendig, Union Bridge, Md., and Karl D. and Bonnie L. Wantz, Taneytown, Md., won.

In District 13, Geary E. and Judy F. Shade, Alexandria, are to receive a plaque.

In District 15, D. Sharpe and Donald E. Keller of Chambersburg, won.

In District 16, Vincent W. and Dean Lobaugh, Aspers, Gene E. Sauble and Harold F. Weaver, York Springs, and Robert H. Jamison, Carlisle, were winners.

In District 18 Albert M. Berg Jr., Mt. Pleasant Mills, Robert D. and Linda J. Loy, Loysville, and Jesse E. and Barbara J. Singleton, Landisburg, are to receive plaques.

In District 20 Joe E. Amick, Martinsburg, Thomas J. Brodzina, Altoona, and Randall and Karen Huntsman, Martinsburg, won.

In District 21 Blair L. and Mary J. Bennett, of Everett; in District 22 H. Carlyle Russell, of Rome; and in District 23 Leland G. Loomis, of Forrest City, and William and Elizabeth Smith, Montrose, are also to be recognized.

MARYLAND DHIA

September 1992

The September 1992 DHI information for Maryland dairy herds is listed by herd name, county association, total number of cows in the herd and, the average production per cow on a 3.5 percent Fat Corrected Milk (FCM) basis for all milking cows in the herd.

The herd must consist of at least 10 cows averaging 65 pounds or more of 3.5 percent FCM per cow per day. All of the herds are on official DHI or DHIR test.

Also listed are the top 10 herds in Maryland for the Brown Swiss, Guernseys and Jerseys, and the top eight herds for Ayrshires.

Conservation District Week Begins

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — The Lebanon County Conservation District, along with 66 other conservation districts in Pennsylvania, will be celebrating Conservation District Week October 18-24.

County conservation districts are unique service agencies in the field of natural resource conservation who recognize the importance of preserving our environment in the present and in the future. Districts and the people behind them resolve land, water, and related resource problems.

Working with local, state and federal agencies, the districts develop programs which address such areas as soil and erosion control, environmental education, stream protection, water quality and supply; forest management, farmland preservation, stormwater management, and nutrient management.

Conservation districts deal with a diverse mix of environmental challenges. They are funded by a combination of county, state, and federal funds. Each conservation district has a board of directors who volunteer their time to oversee the conservation programs.

During Conservation District Week, the Lebanon County Conservation District will be distributing "Your River Starts Here" kits. These are water conservation kits designed to help improve local and downstream water quality.

The "Your River Starts Here" kits contain useful water conservation gadgets, including a water faucet aerator and literature providing tips on protecting and conserving water.

People who are interested in obtaining a free "Your River Starts Here" Kit should stop by the Lebanon County Conservation District, 2010 Cornwall Road, Suite 5, Lebanon, PA 17042-9788 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. For more information contact the Lebanon office at (717) 272-3377.

McKean Holds 4-H Show, Sale

SMETHPORT (McKean Co.) — The McKean County Fair recently hosted the 12th annual 4-H Livestock Show and Sale. Sixty one 4-H'ers exhibited 96 market animals (six steers, 54 market hogs, and 36 market lambs).

In the steer competition, a 1,153-pound Simmental cross owned by Justin Comes, Smethport Livestock Club, was chosen as grand champion. Reserve champion honors went to David Kohler, McKean Co. Livestock Club, showing a 1,074-pound Hereford. Both the master fitter and the master showman awards went to Laura Comes, Smethport Livestock.

In the market lamb competition, the grand champion was awarded to Michael Lisek, Smethport Livestock Club, with his 110-pound Suffolk. Justin Comes, grand champion steer winner, was then chosen for reserve champion lamb with a Suffolk weighing 129 pounds.. In the showmanship/fitting competition, Rick Morgan, Kane Livestock Club, was named master showman and Laura Comes, Smethport Livestock Club, was named master fitter.

Grand champion steer at 1,153 pounds, owned by Justin Comes, was purchased by Durleson Feed Store of Port Allegany for $1.40/pound.

Grand champion lamb of the McKean County 4-H Show is owned by Michael Lisek and was purchased by Integra Bank/North of Bradford for $7/pound.

During the market swine show, brothers Ray and Richard Bierbower, Kane Livestock Club, captured the top honors. Ray's 232-pound Duroc was selected for the grand champion and Richard's 238-pound Tamworth cross was chosen for Reserve. In the showmanship competition, AmieSue VanGiesen, Kane Livestock Club, was named master showman. Jon Stanley, Kane Livestock Club, was chosen for master fitter.

Judge for the livestock show was Joyce Hileman.

At the livestock sale, 49 buyers purchased the 86 animals offered for sale for a total of $27,911.90.

The grand champion steer was purchased from Justin Comes by Burleson Feed Store of Port Allegany for $1.40 per pound. David Kohler's reserve champion was purchased by Duffy Inc. of Smethport for $1.45 per pound. The average price paid per pound for the six steers with champions was $1.22 per pound and without the champions $1.12 per pound.

Integra Bank/North of Bradford was the successful bidder for Michael Lisek's grand champion lamb at $7 per pound. The reserve champion lamb was purchased from Justin Comes by Quality Markets of Jamestown, N.Y. for $4.50 per pound. Average price paid for the 32 lambs with champions was $1.67 and without the champions $1.40 per pound.

The grand champion hog was purchased from Ray Bierbower by Hamlin Bank of Smethport for $3.50 per pound. Purchaser of Richard Bierbower's reserve hog was Duffy Inc. of Smethport for $2.50 per pound. Averages for the 48 hogs were $1.19 with the champions and $1.11 without the champions.

On the Sunday after the sale, the 4-H'ers and the Livestock Committee hosted a pig roast for all the buyers and their families.

Grand champion hog owned by Ray Bierbower was purchased by Hamlin Bank of Smethport for $3.50/pound.

Kids With An Albino Calf

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)—The Garber and Deitrick kids show us an albino calf that was born last week on the Spring Lawn Farm located south of Lancaster. True albino calves with the corresponding light eyes are rare. According to the National Holstein Association, they have record of only two females in the last five years. This is a bull calf, and Joe Garber said the calf's dam is also almost an albino but has a good production records.

In the photo are, left to right, on the calf hutch, Marco Deiter, 7; Lacy Deiter, 5; Charise Garber, 3; Josiah Garber, 5; and Jennifer Garber, 5, holding Kendall Garber, 3. Around the calf, Crystal Garber, 5; Ryan Garber, 10; Jamie Lee Deitrick, 9; Eric Garber, 2; and Jeff Garber 6. Two-month-old Kristen was too small to get on the picture.

These kids belong to Joe and Yvonne Garber; Tammy and Mark Deitrick; Dave and Shirley Garber and Nancy and the late Fred Garber. As you can see, there is never a dull moment around this family farm. Photo by Everett Newswanger, managing editor.

'Tailgate' To Serve Pa.'s Finest Products

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania's agricultural commodities have joined forces to sponsor the fifth annual "Pennsylvania's Finest Tailgate" at Penn State University, Saturday, October 17.

The special feast, to be held just prior to the Nittany Lions Homecoming game with the Boston College Eagles, will offer an array of tailgate delights.

"Penn State fans are well recognized for their tailgating specialities," said Betsy Dupuis, communications director with the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program. "We have continued this event to celebrate tailgating traditions and offer some new recipes and menu ideas to fans."

The menu features "vegetable pizza," made with real dairy products, fresh mushrooms, and a variety of Pennsylvania vegetables. In addition, fans will enjoy "Pork Italianne" and "nutty maple surprise bars." These fine foods will be surrounded by fabulous landscaping displays featuring the state's finest greenery. The event will also feature a drawing for fresh Pennsylvania foods along with other items including a "Stadium Fun" Penn State gift basket.

Fans attending the homecoming game should come to the "Pennsylvania's Finest Tailgate" tent, located at the south end of Beaver Stadium, near the beaver stone. All foods will be served beginning three hours before gametime, with foods available while supplies last. Tailgate planners anticipate that nearly 2,000 people will be served at the tailgate.

The tailgate has become a regular feature of Penn State football and was established to highlight the state's agricultural industries.

Further information about the tailgate is available by calling (717) 787-6903.

SRUA Sponsors Farm/City Day

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Farm/City Day will be held on Oct. 21 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Hetzel Union Building on Penn State's University Park Campus. The event is sponsored by Students for the Responsible Use of Animals (SRUA).

SRUA is a new student organization at Penn State concerned about issues facing agricultural, biological, and wildlife animal users. SRUA is inviting participation from university faculty, staff, students, commodity groups, biotechnical companies, and others who deal with animals.

"This will be an excellent opportunity to show the university community the vast amount of information that has resulted from research with animals," said Jodie Everly, SRUA president.

"We want to display the positive aspects of research and animal use," she said. "We want to expand on the humane treament of animals by promoting better understanding between Penn State students and agriculture, Pennsylvania's largest industrial sector."

Stanley Curtis, head of Penn State's Dairy and Animal Science Department, and Norman Wilkinson, executive director of the Pennsylvania Society for Biomedical Research, will be the keynote speakers for the event.

More information about Farm/City Day is available from Mary Beth Bennett at (814) 863-7738 or Lowell Wilson at (814) 863-3659.

White Rock Farm:
Where Tourists Find Joy In Country Living

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

KIRKWOOD (Lancaster Co.) — Farming and travel are two loves that Les and Lois Hershey share. Before marriage, both Les and Lois traveled extensively to other countries. It was something they hoped to continue throughout life. Both also intended to choose farming as a career.

But, it's almost impossible to travel when operating a 150-acre beef and crop farm — unless you come up with the solution the Hersheys have chosen. This friendly, outgoing couple opened a bed and breakfast in their 1860 farmhouse in southern Lancaster County.

"We decided to let the travelers come to us. It's just like traveling without leaving home," Les said of the opportunity to visit with guests from around the world.

Many of the guests return again and again to White Rock Farm in its tranquil setting surrounded by woodland and overlooking the scenic Octorara Creek.

As guests relax on the porch, listen to the crickets sing and to the occasional clip-clop of an Amish horse and buggy passing, they often remark: You're so lucky to live where it's so peaceful and have no stress, no worries, no headaches....

Les shakes his head. "If they only knew, the challenges we face as farmers — especially the weather."

But there is no better place than at White Rock Farm for travelers to find out first-hand exactly what it is like to farm in the 20th century.

"Many guests come with the concept of living on an "Old MacDonald's farm," Les said. They are fascinated to learn that farming is big business with computers, long hours, and record keeping an integral part of everyday life.

Many of the guests have no previous experience with farm life and "think that anything with four legs is a cow." Sometimes this concept becomes a bit hilarious. Les tells of the time a guy with several degrees behind his name visited the farm. The guest kept referring to the steers as cows. The Hershey's five-year-old son repeatedly corrected the guest. In exasperation, the guest turned to Les and said, "Tell your sons that these animals are cows — not steers!"

Guests like to follow Les around the farm as he completes chores. At times, it is inconvenient as Les needs to complete planting and harvesting schedules. Nonetheless Les enjoys spending time with guests and explaining the intricacies of farming and the culture of Lancaster County.

One of the most asked questions is "What is the difference between Mennonites and Amish?

The Hersheys, who are Mennonite, enjoy sharing their faith and find that many guests are searching for spiritual truth. One time, a Jewish stockbroker spent hours questioning Les about his faith. Later, the stockbroker embraced Christianity and quit his job on Wall Street so that he could teach in an inner-city ghetto in order to help others.

From childhood, Les always intended to take over the family farm, but when he graduated from high school, his father, Floyd, did not need full-time help. Les filled several years with college, and with jobs such as crop farming 1,000 acres with a neighboring farmer, and working in contruction.

"I liked the variety these other jobs offered me," Les said, who found the experience valuable when he took over the farm place.

Lois also grew up on a Lancaster County dairy farm, but the couple did not meet each other until both had finished college. Lois returned home to teach physical education, but always felt that someday she would marry a farmer.

Ten years ago, her intuition came true. At first, the Hersheys milked cows for a neighboring farmer. Both loved the dairy industry, but it was during the dairy buyout and Les' father decided to sell the herd.

Les chats with his father, Floyd Hershey, through which the White Rock Farm has been handed down.

A few years later, when Les took over the family farm, he wanted to go back into dairy, but it did not seem financially feasible. Although the Hersheys adapted to raising 200 head of steers and crop farming, they still speak longingly of someday having their own dairy herd.

"I like working long days. I'd rather be milking cows than spending that time on a freeway," Les said.

In the meantime, Les spends long hours with his seed cleaning and Ag Bagger sideline businesses.

Homemade bread, made by Lois and sampled by Lisa, is always part of the country breakfasts served to guests at the Bed and Breakfast.

Homestead Notes

The Hershey children pedal corn and puppies around the White Rock farmhouse that dates back to 1860.

Loren and Lisa spend happy hours with the cats and puppies at White Rock Farm.

The Hersheys started their Bed and Breakfast by using three bedrooms in their stone farmhouse. Since their family has expanded (and another baby is expected in a few weeks), the Hersheys have cut back to two rooms. Generally, they are full every weekend from Februrary to December. Summer months usually mean week-long guests.

Lois makes an all-you-can-eat country breakfast, which includes homemade bread and jams, shoofly pie, quiche, blueberry pancakes, French toast (from homemade bread), and homemade grape juice.

Lois arises at 5 a.m. to have breakfast ready by 8 a.m. (on Sunday, breakfast is served at 7:30 a.m.)

Guests enjoy leisurely visiting over breakfast. When finished, Lois has baking, laundry, cleaning, extensive landscaping to upkeep, and the care of the three children. Last year, she homeschooled the oldest. Since they are expecting a baby next month, she is not homeschooling but plans to resume it with the two oldest children next year.

She also makes quilts, which she sells to guests.

Of her many activities, Lois said, "Don't ask me what time I go to bed. I'm so used to being busy, I don't know what it would be like not to be."

While many question how she can operate a bed and breakfast with three young children, Lois said. "It seems easier to have guests every day than occasionally because it forces me to keep the place cleaned up."

Lois Hershey makes the quilts used on the beds at White Rock Bed and Breakfast and also makes quilts to sell to guests.

Unlike many bed and breakfast operations, the Hersheys welcome children as guests. The Hershey children are delighted to have guests join them whether it is going fishing or riding bicycle on the spacious macadam driveway.

Like her husband, Lois enjoys hard work and long days, but most of all she likes "the advantage of being together as a family on the farm."

"Having a bed and breakfast is a fascinating way to interact with people from all walks of life. We had guests with occupations that ranged from janitor to foreign ambassadors," Lois said.

MAKE THE MOST OF ENERGY EFFICIENT DISHWASHERS

During the last two decades, appliance manufacturers have made great strides in improving the energy efficiency of the dishwashers they produce. These efforts will continue as they work towards the energy efficiency standards established in recent U.S. legislation.

Most new dishwashers use 20 percent less water and energy than previous models. If you are in the market to replace your dishwasher or buying your first dishwasher, read the following tips to help you choose an energy efficient dishwasher and then conserve additional energy when using the appliance.

Since 80 percent of the energy consumed by a dishwasher is used by the home's hot water heater, lower water usage results in considerable energy savings.

Look for a metered fill feature. This fill method uses a float to accurately measure the amount of water that goes into the dishwasher, assuring the right water level is reached during every cycle regardless of water pressure.

Consider the range of cycles you will need to efficiently meet your family's dishwasher needs. A Light/China cycle, offering all that's needed for lightly soiled dishes, used several gallons less water than a longer Pots/Pans cycle. It also uses less overall energy.

When combined with a no-heat fan dry option, a shorter wash cycle will realize maximum energy conservation. (A no-heat drying cycle can save approximately 10 minutes of the heat-on-time required by a heat-dry cycle.)

Operating a dishwasher requires less hot water than hand washing the same amount of dishes — an average of 9.9 gallons of water per load compared with 15.7 gallons to wash a sink full of dishes by hand. Even so, efficient use of the appliance can save still more energy. Here are some tips to remember:

1. Do not pre-rinse normally soiled dished. Rinsing dishes before placing them in the dishwasher needlessly wastes several gallons of water. For good washing results without hand-rinsing, select the correct cycle for the load, use the recommended amount of detergent and make sure you maintain a 140-degree F. water supply.

2. Load carefully for the best washing results. Incorrect loading may cause poor washing and make it necessary to re-wash all or part of the load.

3. Fan dry dishes (without heat) when you do not need a rapid drying cycle. Allow longer drying times.

4. Use your dishwasher during off-peak hours. Local utilities recommend this to avoid heavy energy usage at certain times of the day. Check with your utility company to see if off-peak rates exist.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

There oughta' be some way to market common sense.

Some folks seems to possess way more than their share of this vague but valuable inner resource. And then there are other folks that, well, to put it in the vividly-descriptive terminology of one of my favorite persons, "were behind the door when the brains were passed out."

Most farmers I've ever met seem to be the sort of individuals blessed with overflowing capacities of common sense. Without it, how would they ever survive weather extremes, unpredictable markets, tight cash-flows, regulatory overkill, and political leadership increasingly out of touch with agriculture.

Still, despite normally high levels of "horse sense," farmers continually rank right up there near the top of the list in occupational accidents. And this of year, with diminishing hours of daylight, impending winter weather, and acres of corn, soybeans and hay still to be harvested, the ag-accident rate potential takes a big upwards whack.

Extension specialists warn that silo gas, that heavy, invisible but lethal by-product of freshly-cut ensiled corn, is extra prevalent this year for whatever the reason. Combines — awesome, wonderful, but easy to roll with full bins of grain — are lumbering in droves toward hilly fields of corn and beans.

And then there's the traditional, mounted corn picker, a hands-down winner in neatly removing fingers from farmers' hands as efficiently as it snaps ripe, golden ears from stalks.

Carelessness, in-a-big-hurry-ness, too often wins out over common sense.

A classic farm accident anecdote often retold by The Farmer originated from a custom-operator acquaintance who lived to a productive old-age, despite at least one particular tendency toward an equipment maintenance shortcut.

This optimistic, always-in-a-hurry, farm veteran ran a corn sheller, which possessed some chain apparatus that, like all chain apparatus, needed greasing from time to time. Shutting down the equipment took time, so he determined one rushed day to simply put a dab of grease on the chain while it was running.

You know the rest. The chain snatched the finger with the grease dab, taking both fingertip as well as lubricant into a moving mechanism.

Sometime later, the same gentleman tried the identical maneuver once again. And lost another chunk of the finger.

"And I still think I could get that grease onto the chain while it's running," the operator once confided to The Farmer's amusement.

With continuing high numbers of farm accidents, bureaucrats are now proposing removing the present exemption of farms with less than ten employees from safety-related inspections and record-keeping. Just what we need folks - more inspectors and more red-tape-paperwork to deal with what is too often the result of simple carelessness.

But some of the closet calls we've had are of the potential "roadkill" type, caused by impatient drivers sharing our roads with farm equipment.

Just last week, The Farmer was driving a tractor and gravity-wagon on a hilly stretch of rural highway that connects a local community to the closest interstate exit. It's heavily traveled, despite lots of roller-coaster type ups and downs, and no-pass, prominently marked, bright yellow, double line.

As he topped one of the hills, paying close attention to two cars coming toward him in the opposite lane, movement next to the tractor suddenly caught his eye. It was, in what I later warned him was a stereotypical description, "a blonde in a red car" passing him.

Both approaching vehicles managed to "nosedive" into a newly harvested hayfield, barely missing the passing car, a road sign - and the tractor. It was one of the few spots on the entire stretch of road without banks.

Common sense cannot be marketed... or legislated... or mandated.

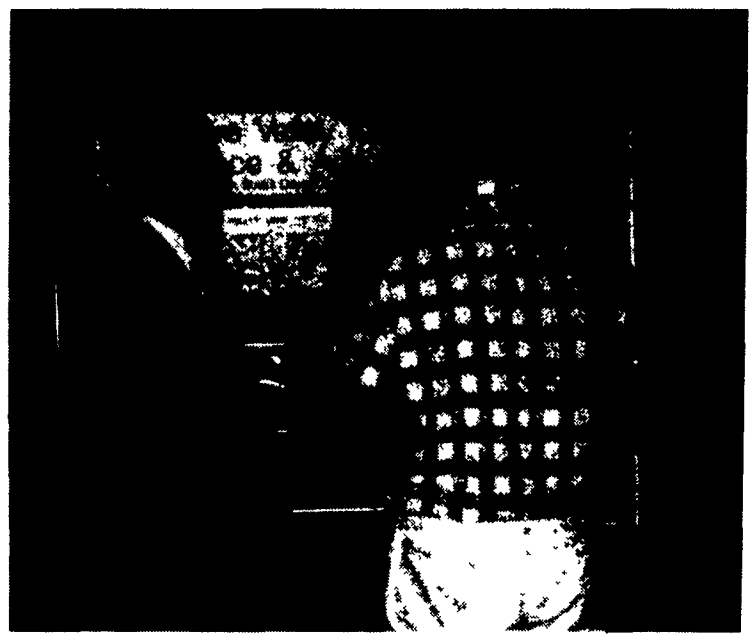
Bed And Breakfast Seminar

CREAMERY (Montogemery Co.) — A two-day workshop, "The Inns and Outs of Bed and Breakfast" is being offered by Penn State Extension on October 20 and October 27 at Meyers Restaurant in Quakertown. The workshop begins at 9 a.m. and concludes at 3:30 p.m. each day. Registration for the meeting is $45. For more information, call Penn State Extension at (215)345-3283. The workshop is designed for anyone interested in starting a bed and breakfast. Bed and breakfasts are becoming increasingly popular way to earn additional inocme and to meet a variety of interesting people. Many long-lasting friendships have resulted from a stay at a bed and breakfast. For travelers and vacationers it is an interesting and relaxing way to spend a night or a week while meeting people familiar with the community. The first day, October 20, begins with how operating a bed and breakfast may impact on you and your family's life, developing a business plan, rules and regulations regarding zoning and food safety and sanitation, and hospitality ideas. Topics on the second day, October 27, include developing a marketing plan, promotion and advertising, reservation services, and insurance needs. The workshop will conclude with a slide tour and a panel of successful operators telling about their own experiences in the business. The panel will consist of Al Granger of Glasbern Inn, Foglesville, Patty Benson of The Great Valley House, Malvern, and Dorothy Gillam, Philadelphia. All participants will receive 1.0 Continuing Education Units (CEU) from Penn State University.



At the Careers and Opportunities Night, at the PA All American, six colleges provided displays and information about college opportunities and agricultural careers. These included Dr. John Plummer, from Delaware Valley College, who is shown here speaking with a parent regarding the College's agricultural programs. The event was sponsored by the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council and the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 20

Lancaster Farm Women Society 20 met on October 1 at the home of Pauline Reinhart with Dorothy Crawford as co-hostess. Following the refreshments, Dorothy read Psalm 30.

For the program, Vicki Blevins gave a talk on the Library in Quarryville and stated that it will now be independent as before it was a part of the Lancaster County Library. Following her interesting talk, Vera Herr, the president, conducted the business meeting. The 16 members present responded to the roll call by telling something about the person seated to their right. The Sunshine Committee reported one basket of fruit and three cards were sent during the month. Anna Mary Groff, chairman of the nominating committee, reported nomination for Nancy Axe, president; Jean Ressel, vice president; and Vera Herr, treasurer.

Several members will be attending the County Convention on November 7. The next meeting will be at Zion United Church of Christ of New Providence, with Helen Tout and Dorothy Shirk entertaining.

Berks Society 11

Berks County Farm Women Group #11 met in the Frystown Fire Hall for a Tupperware party which was a success with Dorothy Batdorf as highest sales person. Refreshments were served. The roll call was "What is your favorite Tupperware piece?"

President Doris Brown conducted the meeting, first finalizing plans for ther County Convention, then commenting on the successful Berks Heim Picnic. A donation was given to the Bethel-Tulpehocken Library. Those who participated in the fund-raiser calendar collection turned in their money which is a nice way to boost the treasury.

October 13 is Farm Women's Day. The group will go to Esther's Diner for dinner.

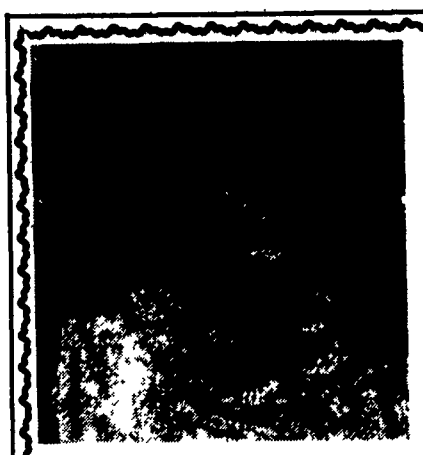
The October 26 meeting will be about First Aid and Safety at the home of Wendy Lingle.

Burning Wood And Coal

ITHACA, N.Y.) — As fall weather brings a chill to the air, owners of coal or wood stoves prepare to face the winter by burning solid fuels for heat. Other consumers may consider the economic and personal values of adding a stove to their homes. Solid fuels often are used to supplement an existing system that uses oil, gas, or electricity. Burning wood and Coal, a publication from the Northeast Regional Agricultural Engineering Service, includes advice for both the veteran with solid fuels and the complete novice.

This comprehensive manual provides detailed sections on evaluating solid fuel options, fireplaces, stoves, furnaces and boilers, installation, chimneys, wood and coal as fuels, and an appendix on safely cutting firewood with a chain saw. Many comparative tables and informative diagrams are incorporated. Burning Wood and Coal was written by Susan MacKay, Northeast Regional Agricultural Engineering Service; L. Dale Baker, International Harvester; John W. Bartok, Jr., University of Connecticut; and J. P. Lassoie, Cornell University.

Burning Wood and Coal, NRAES—23, is available for $5 from the Northeast Regional Agricultural Engineering Service (NRAES), Cooperative Extension, 152 Riley-Robb Hall, Ithaca, NY 14853-5701. Postage and handling are included for U.S. orders only. Make your check payable to NRAES or call (607) 255-7654 for more information or for a free publication catalog.



Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

In October you might expect to be digging potatoes, and we have dug bushels this fall. But, it seems unusual to be able to pick strawberries. As Allen planted an everbearing variety, I've been picking a small box full each week. They are quite sweet and good on our morning cereal.

The 100-foot row of sweet potatoes remains to be dug. It is a job that I enjoy as you never know what the next shovelful will produce — big ones, little ones or odd-shaped ones. I've just picked the last green beans from the ones that I planted the end of April. We've eaten beans most everyday this summer and even so I managed to freeze some 50 quart boxes of them.

Our little "farm" grandson has managed to survive an accident. You've heard of people falling on a stairs, well, this little fellow had a stairs fall on him. For two years the old flight of steps leaned against a wall in the barn. And, apparently when he climbed it, it toppled on him. In a way, we were lucky as it could have been worse.

First his foot was X-rayed and thought to be just bruised. Next his knee was swollen but that too was found to be all right. Finally five days later he had a cast put on him from his chest to his toes as his femur, the largest bone in his body, was broken. Now he has four to six weeks of laying flat and not being able to move at all except for his arms. We have babysat for him and I'm surprised to say that he was satisfied. And this after being an active 22-month-old "real boy."

His father and grandfather have made a gadget that allows him to be outside in my express wagon with sides. However, I'm sure there will be many hours of frustration for him and his parents.

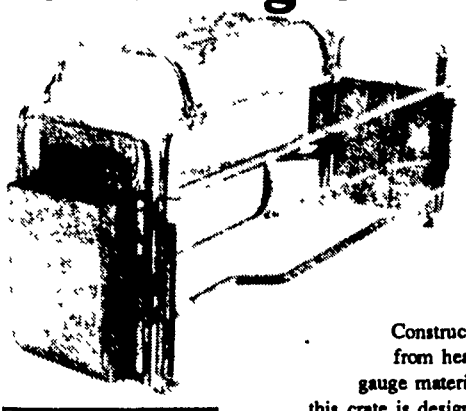
BSM Model 90 Farrowing Crate



GALVANIZED!

Constructed from heavy gauge materials this crate is designed to reduce crushing, with sow comfort in mind. The bowed bottom bars makes for a comfortable 33" crate width when the sow lays down, yet the adjustable anti-crush bars eliminates the sow from carelessly dropping on the piglets.

This movement restriction does not hamper the sow as she lays down, or wants to stand up, as the bars slide up and out of her way.

Squash Mealtime Blahs With Autumn's Bounty

Pumpkins are high in Vitamin A and low in calories. About 3½ ounces of pumpkin has only 26 calories. In addition to Vitamin A, B, and some C, pumpkins are fairly rich in carbohydrates and in minerals such as phosphorus, calcium, iron, sodium, and potassium.

Fresh pumpkin can be prepared for recipes requiring cooked pumpkin by removing fiberous strings, seeds, and skin. Cook in a small amount of salted water for 30 minutes or until pumpkin is tender to touch with a fork. Drain and mash or put through a ricer. For smoother pumpkin, puree in blender.

Another way to cook fresh pumpkin is to microwave sections on high for 7 to 10 minutes or until soft.

GRANDMA'S SOFT PUMPKIN COOKIES

2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ginger
3 eggs
15 ounces cooked, smashed pumpkin
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter, melted
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder

Mix together all ingredients. Drop a heaping teaspoon of cookie dough on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes.

STIR FRY CABBAGE AND ZUCCHINI

¼ cup oil
1 large garlic clove, sliced
6 cups sliced cabbage
2 medium zucchini
2¼ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon sugar

In a large Dutch oven over high heat, heat in hot oil and cook garlic until browned; discard garlic. Add cabbage and zucchini, stir frying until they are well coated with oil. Add salt and sugar. Reduce heat to medium. Continue stir frying about 7 to 8 minutes or until vegetables are tender crisp.

PUMPKIN WHOOPIE PIES

Sift together and set aside:
4½ cups all purpose flour
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda

In a large mixing bowl, beat until smooth:
2 cups light brown sugar
1 cup cooking oil

Add and blend well:
2 large egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups canned pumpkin or cooked and mashed

Add dry ingredients gradually, beating well after each addition.

Drop by heaping teaspoonful. Place them on lightly greased and floured baking sheet. Bake for 8 to 10 minutes at 350 degrees or until they spring back when pressed.

Remove from baking sheet to wire rack to cool. Frost bottom of 1 cookie with frosting and place a second cookie on top of frosting.

Vanilla Whoopie Pie Frosting:
2 large egg whites, beaten stiff
1 cup vegetable shortening
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
4 tablespoons all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons milk
1 pound confectioners' sugar

Add shortening, vanilla, flour, and milk to beaten egg whites. Beat at high speed for 1 minute.

Lower mixer speed and add confectioners' sugar. Beat until sugar is incorporated, turn mixer to high speed, and beat 5 minutes.

ZUCCHINI CRAB CAKES

2 cups grated raw zucchini
¼ cup parmesan cheese
¾ cup Italian bread crumbs
3 eggs
½ teaspoon seafood seasoning
1 heaping tablespoon mayonnaise

Mix together all ingredients to form into cakes and fry lightly. Makes about 8 or 9 cakes.

Not only can pumpkins be used in cooking but also as serving dishes. The next time, you want a stunning table centerpiece, use a hollow pumpkin and fill with a stew, soup or salad to serve to guests.

PUMPKIN SOUP

3 tablespoons butter
½ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon minced garlic
2 cups cooked pumpkin
2 cups chicken broth
⅔ cup evaporated milk
Tabasco sauce, to taste
Julienne strips of red pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch in 1 tablespoon cold water

Cook onions and garlic in 2 tablespoons butter until tender. Add pumpkin and broth, bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes to develop flavor. Add tabasco sauce. Stir a little soup into cornstarch and water mix; pour into soup and whisk to combine. Stir constantly until thickened. Heat 1 tablespoon butter in small skillet and cook pepper strips until tender. Stir into soup. Serves 4 to 6.

PUMPKIN PUDDING

2 cups cooked, mashed pumpkin
1 small box instant vanilla pudding
3 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 envelope Dream Whip topping
½ cup milk

When using canned pumpkin, add ½ cup milk to it. Mix the pumpkin, vanilla pudding, brown sugar, and cinnamon thoroughly. Prepare the Dream Whip according to package directions, using the ½ cup milk. When whipped, fold into the pumpkin mixture.

Contributor writes: If you use skim milk, this recipe is low in everything, but flavor. Try it!

1 tablespoon melted butter
1 teaspoon Old Bay seasoning

In mixing bowl, combine grated zucchini, beaten egg, and melted butter. Add seasoned bread crumbs, minced onion, and Old Bay. Mix well. Shape into patties. Fry until brown on all sides. Drain on absorbent paper.

Guests who visit White Rock Farm Bed and Breakfast get to see a "real farm" in operation. The 160-acre beef and crop farm in southern Lancaster County is home to the fourth generation of the Hershey family.

Les and Lois Hershey and their three children share their farmhouse built in 1860 with guests from around the world.

"It's an opportunity to travel without leaving home," Les said.

Guests enjoy a full country breakfast, which often features one of Lois's favorite quiche recipes. Here is one you will want to try.

CRUSTLESS BACON AND EGG QUICHE

3 eggs
1½ cups milk
½ cup Bisquick
¼ cup butter, melted
Dash pepper
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Grease a 9-inch pie pan. In a skillet, fry bacon until crisp. In blender, combine eggs, milk, Bisquick, butter, and pepper. Blend for 15 seconds until well mixed. Pour the egg mixture into the prepared pan. Sprinkle with diced bacon and cheese and gently press below the surface with a fork.

Bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes or until a knife inserted halfway between center and the edge comes out clean. Let stand 10 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

Cheese Sandwich Earns Chef Honors From Dairy Association

COLUMBUS, OH - Chef Bruce Caron, from Toledo, Ohio, became an esteemed member of the "Great Chefs of America" team when he answered the American Dairy Association's challenge to create a signature sandwich using cheese as the main ingredient.

Caron was one of eight winners in the American Dairy Association's second annual "Great Chefs of America" program, open exclusively to members of the American Culinary Federation (ACF). Over 300 entrants from across the United States submitted recipes in four categories: cross-cultural sandwiches; old favorites made new; mini-sandwiches; and breakfast sandwiches.

"Grilled Chicken Society Hill" combines chicken, blue cheese, and orange, the latter to cut the sharpness of the cheese. In developing his award-winning mini-sandwich, Caron says, "I closed my eyes and pictured the textures, colors and flavors of the ingredients. I submitted the recipe before I even tested it in the kitchen!"

Caron uses real cheese for flavor. "I cook for taste," he says. "It's my job to make any enjoyable dining experience for my customers, and you can't match the flavor of real dairy products. Imitations cheese doesn't melt correctly, and it even looks funny. I just couldn't justify it."

Caron, who began his career at age 14, is the owner of Ma Cuisine and Chef Bruce Catering in Toledo. Previously he was executive chef with Toledo's Inverness Club, and has served up culinary sensations at the Sheraton ITT in Minneapolis, MN and Jacksonville, FL and several Long Island country clubs.

His list of culinary awards proves he has the right approach. Caron holds a Best of Show and a gold, silver and two bronze medals from the American Culinary Federation. He placed second in the Ohio Pork Council's 1992 "Taste of Elegance" competition and is the reigning "Soup Off" champion in the Toledo City Fest Winterfest.

The eight "Great Chefs" received "Great Chefs of America" crystal medallions at a reception held in their honor May 15 in Chicago during the National Restaurant Association show. The winning chefs were also presented at the annual ACF conference, July 25-27.

Thirty-two honorable mention winners were honored with a $50 donation in their names to ACF's Horizons 2000, a professional skills development program that ACF hopes to establish in each of its chapters. Sixteen Judge's Award winners had $100 donated in their names to the program.

Caron is the second chef from Ohio to receive the "Great Chefs of America" honor. Last year, Chef Charles Langstaff, currently with Hoster's Restaurant in Columbus, captured top honors with his "Chicken Gorgonzola" salad.

Mid East United Diary Industry Association is the regional member unit of the American Dairy Association and implements programs on dairy farmers' behalf to promote the use of real domestic dairy products. The association provides a wide variety of services and information materials to food-service operators in Ohio, western Pennsylvania and parts of West Virginia and northern Kentucky. Among these are dairy product car and handling workshops, food handling and preparation tips, dairy recipes with accompanying nutrition information, and "REAL"™ Seal certification. Mid East UDIA also promotes real dairy products through advertising, retail marketing, consumer marketing, and nutrition education programs.

Eat Antioxidant-Rich Foods

A mounting body of scientific evidence shows that eating foods containing antioxidants can protect us from cancer, heart disease, and perhaps other chronic illness.

Luckily it's easy to incorporate these nutrients into our diet every day because fruits, vegetables, grains, and vegetable oils are the richest sources of vitamin E, vitamin C, selenium, and beta-carotene — the four antioxidant nutrients.

Fruits, vegetables, and grains are inexpensive and easy-to- prepare foods that Americans would do well to eat more of, according to Robert S. Parker, a Cornell University researcher who studies the relationship between diet and disease.

Perhaps the best known of the antioxidant nutrients is vitamin C, of orange juice fame. It's common to citrus fruits, tomatoes, peppers, cabbage, potatoes, and berries.

Beta-carotene is likewise found in fruits and vegetables, particularly those that are yellow or deep green. Carrots are beta-carotene's most commonly known source, but all the yellow fruits and vegetables — squashes, sweet potatoes, peaches, and apricots — contain it, too.

Spinach and other dark green leafy, vegetables are rich sources, as well. "The green pigment in chlorophyll overshadows the orangy- yellow of the beta-carotene. If you took the chlorophyll out of spinach, the vegetable would be bright yellow. So just remember that beta-carotene follows chlorophyll; if it's dark green it likely contains beta-carotene."

Vitamin E is found in many foods, but the best source is vegetable oils. Some oils are better sources than others. Olive oil is relatively low in vitamin E, whereas safflower is relatively high. Check the nutrition label on the bottle for vitamin content.

Vegetable oils have no cholesterol, which is a plus. It is wise to keep overall fat consumption low, a tablespoon or two a day of an oil rich in vitamin E is sufficient.

Selenium is the most ubiquitous of the antioxidant nutrients, since it is found in almost all plant foods grown in selenium-rich soil. Grains are among the best sources. Some areas of the United States are selenium deficient but supermarkets carry foods from across the country and around the world, eating a variety of grains regularly will supply sufficient selenium."

Cooking methods that fit today's lifestyle also preserve antioxidants in food and make them most easily digestible. Stir-frying, steaming, and microwaving — using as little water as possible — causes the least nutrient loss.

Boiling, simmering, and slow oven cooking — any method that involves liquid you throw away or exposes food to heat over a long period — results in the greatest nutrient loss.

In the case of beta-carotene, mild cooking of fibrous vegetables like carrots and broccoli seems to improve its absorbability by the body. Cooking softens and loosens the fibrous structure in which the beta-carotene is bound in these vegetables. Loosening this structure makes the beta-carotene more digestible in the stomach and upper intestinal tract.

Avoid peeling fruits and vegetables. If cooking them, do so whole when possible because many foods, potatoes for example, contain the heaviest concentration of antioxidant nutrients in the skins. "Raw foods are also reasonably good sources of antioxidants," says Parker, "but, in general, minimal to moderate cooking is certainly acceptable."

Vegetable Soup For Canning

1 gallon beef and broth

Cook until almost soft:

1½ quarts cabbage
1½ quarts carrots
1 quart celery
1 quart potatoes
2 quarts tomatoes

Add:

1 quart canned string beans
1 quart cooked lima beans
1 quart cooked soup beans
1 pint onions
1½ quarts corn

Combine mixture and add a few beef boullion cubes, if desired. Ladle mixture into jars. Process for 45 minutes in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure.

Autumn's Bounty

PUMPKIN FUDGE

2 cups granulated sugar
½ cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons canned pumpkin
¼ teaspoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon pumpkin spice

In a medium saucepan, combine sugar, milk, pumpkin, cornstarch, and pumpkin pie spice. Cook over medium heat, stir constantly, until sugar is melted and mixture comes to a boil. Cook until a small amount dropped into cold water forms a soft ball (238 degrees on a candy thermometer). Remove from heat, add vanilla. Beat until creamy. Pour into buttered 8x8-inch square pan. Cool until firm. Cut into squares.

PUMPKIN HAM PUFF

2 cups pumpkin, cooked
2 tablespoons butter
3 eggs, separated
2 teaspoons grated onion
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ cup flour
½ pound ground ham
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon thyme
¼ cup chopped parsley

Process pumpkin, butter, egg yolks, onion, lemon juice, flour, and spices. Stir in ham bits. Beat egg whites stiffly and fold gently into pumpkin mixture. Turn into greased two-quart casserole. Bake at 375 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Serves 4 to 6.

ZUCCHINI BOATS

3 small zucchini
1 tablespoon margarine
2 tablespoons onion, parsley, basil
8-ounce jar tomato sauce
½ pound ground beef
½ cup seasoned bread crumbs
Parmesan cheese

Cut zucchini in half lengthwise. Scoop out pulp and put aside. Cook zucchini in boiling water for 3 minutes. Melt margarine in frying pan. Add onion, parsley, basil, and ground beef. Add zucchini pulp to frying pan when ground beef is lightly browned. Drain off fat. Add tomato sauce and bread crumbs to the meat mixture. Stuff mixture into zucchini hollows. Place in shallow baking dish, spray bottom of dish with vegetable oil. Sprinkle with parmesan. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes or until tender. Try adding mozzarella or cheddar cheese to the top of the zucchini boats about 5 minutes before taking out of oven. Serve with tossed salad and Italian bread.

ANSWER — Helen Delaney, Centre Hall, wanted recipes using dried tomatoes. Thanks to Susan Moyer, Newmanstown, for sending a recipe.

Sun-Dried Tomato Spread

1 cup sun-dried tomatoes
Boiling water
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 tablespoon capers
2 teaspoons Italian seasoning
1 teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar

Place tomatoes in a small bowl; add boiling water to cover. Let set 15 minutes; drain.

Place tomatoes in food processor and puree. Add garlic, caper, Italian seasoning, salt, oil, and vinegar. Process until well blended and mixture is slightly coarse. Adjust seasonings, if desired. Store jar in refrigerator until ready to serve. To serve, spread melba toast with ricotta cheese and top with sun-dried tomato spread. Yield: about 1 cup spread.

ANSWER — Recently a reader requested an address to buy replacement lids for saltshakers, but nobody sent an answer. Thanks to E. Newswanger, Kutztown, who writes that she takes plastic caps from empty pill or medicine bottles that fit a shaker. With a small drill bit, drill holes in the top. She has replaced all her rusted metal tops with plastic ones and writes that with practice, you can make them look original.

ANSWER — Mrs. Harold Kuchler, Coatesville, wanted a recipe for Farina or Cream of Wheat. Here is a recipe using Farina from Eva Southard, Glen Rock, but I think Mrs. Kuchler may have wanted a recipe to make homemade Farina. If you have one, please send it.

Farina Fruit Refrigerator Pudding

2 cups canned cherry or pineapple juice
2 to 4 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup uncooked Farina

Mix the cherry juice with the sugar and salt in a saucepan. Heat to boiling point. Sprinkle the Farina over the hot juice, stirring in and continue to cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens.

Pour the pudding into a mold and refrigerate. Serve with milk or cream. Serves 4.

ANSWER — Grace Ikeler, Bloomsburg, requested recipes for Kosher Dill Pickles and for Bread and Butter Pickles. Thanks to Kathy Erickson, Chesterfield, NJ, who writes: My Momma couldn't cook hot water but she made good pickles — the best that I've ever had.

Bread And Butter Pickles

5 medium cucumbers, thinly sliced
3 small white onions, thinly sliced
½ cup Kosher salt
1 cup white vinegar
1 cup water
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon mustard seed
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon turmeric

Mix onions and cucumbers. Cover with salt and let stand 2 hours. Rinse and drain. Combine vinegar, water, sugar, and spices in a non-aluminum pan. Bring to a boil. Add cucumber, onion mix, and bring to a second boil. Pack in hot sterilized jars and cover with pickle syrup. Seal.

SPICED PUMPKIN FUDGE

¾ cup sugar
¾ cup butter
5⅓ ounces evaporated milk
½ cup pumpkin
1 teaspoon pumpkin spice
12-ounces butterscotch morsels
7-ounces marshmallow creme
1 cup chopped toasted almonds
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

In heavy saucepan, combine sugar, butter, milk, pumpkin, and spice. Bring to a boil, simmer on medium heat, stirring constantly to 234 degrees (about 10 minutes). Remove from heat, stir in morsels, marshmallow creme, nuts, and vanilla. Blend well. Quickly pour into greased 13x9-inch pan. Cool. Cut into squares. Wrap tightly. Store in refrigerator. Makes 3 pounds.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — D. Matie, Eden, NY, wanted a recipe for peanut butter pie. Thanks to Anna Mary Wenger, Lititz, for sending two recipes from the Hammer Creek Mennonite Cookbook, and to Carol Smoker, Stevens, and to a Berks County reader for sending recipes.

Peanut Butter Pie

3-ounce package instant vanilla pudding
1 cup confectioners' sugar
½ cup peanut butter
9-ounces whipped topping
1½ cups milk
1 baked pie shell

Mix pudding with milk. Beat until thickened. Mix confectioners' sugar and peanut butter. Spread half of the mixture on bottom pie crust, pour in pudding. Top with remaining crumbs and whipped topping.

Peanut Butter Pie

4 ounces cream cheese, softened
½ cup peanut butter
½ cup milk
1 cup confectioners' sugar
8-ounces whipped topping
8-inch graham cracker crust

Blend cream cheese, peanut butter, milk, and confectioners' sugar until smooth. Fold in whipped topping and pour into graham cracker crust. Freeze. Remove pie from freezer for 10 minutes before serving.

Peanut Butter Pie

1 cup peanut butter
3 ounces cream cheese
½ cup milk
½ cup confectioners' sugar
8 ounces whipped topping

Mix cream cheese, peanut butter, confectioners' sugar and milk with mixer until creamy. Fold in whipped topping. Pour into graham cracker crust. Chill until firm.

Peanut Butter Pie

½ plus 2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup peanut butter
6 tablespoons flour
2 eggs, beaten
1¼ cups milk

Crumbs:

¾ cup confectioners' sugar
½ cup peanut butter
Whipped topping

Mix together ¾ cup confectioners' sugar and ½ cup peanut butter until crumbly; set aside. Stir together the sugar, flour, and eggs. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until thick like a pudding. Add butter and vanilla. Cool a bit and add the ⅓ cup peanut butter; cool. Put two-thirds of the crumb mixture in the bottom of a baked 9-inch pie shell. Pour pudding over crumbs. Apply whipped topping over pudding. Add remaining crumbs. Serve.

ANSWER — Audrey Minns, Geneva, NY, wanted a recipe for canning whole milk. Thanks to Leora Petet, Hollsopple, and to E. Newswanger, Kutztown, for sending recipes.

Canning Milk

Cool milk. While fresh, fill jars to an inch near the top. Boil 30 minutes in hot water bath.

Home Canned Milk

Cool fresh milk with ice. Fill clear jars to 1-inch of the top. Adjust lids and process in water bath at a full hard boil for 30 minutes or in a pressure canner for 5 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. Milk has a tendency to become "carmelized" from such high pressures so go scant on the pressure and time. Shelf life up to one year.

ANSWER — Cindy Eshleman of Jonestown requested a recipe for Orange Pastel Pudding like that made at Shady Maple. Thanks to Anna Mary Wenger, 390 Sleepy Hollow Rd., Lititz, PA 17543, for sending a recipe published in "From Mother's Cupboard," a cookbook published by Hammer Creek Church and available from her by mailing $13, which included postage and handling.

Orange Pastel Dessert

3-ounces Jell-O, orange or other flavors
3-ounce package vanilla pudding
2½ cups water
8 ounces whipped topping

Cook the first three ingredients until it comes to a full boil and is thick and clear. Remove from heat and cool until slightly jelled; add whipped toppings.

Two-Day Auction Raises $320,000

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A total of $320,000 was raised at the 16th annual Church of the Brethren Disaster Relief Auction held on September 25 and 26 at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds. Proceeds from the auction benefit victims of disaster in the United States and around the world.

More than 10,000 people attended the two-day event sponsored by Church of the Brethren congregations in the Atlantic Northeast and Southern Pennsylvania Districts.

The sale of 68 heifers on Friday evening brought proceeds of $68,000. On Saturday, 114 quilts and wallhangings were sold ranging in price from $325 to $2,500. Other special items were: an Abner Zook three-dimensional painting, $9,500; a porcelain doll "As I Remember Mother" by Ruth Kniss of Brethren Village, $1,250; a Paul W. Brubaker oil painting of the Jacob S. King Farm in Millport, $1,900; and an apple dumpling made by the Chiques Church of the Brethren from a two and one half pound Stark's jumbo apple raised by Dan Fitzkee, $300.

Donated farm produce, 1,800 baked goods including apple dumplings, pies and cookies, and other food items were sold to benefit the auction. In addition, 68 craft vendors displayed and sold their items.

Profile Of A Country Kid

Ten-year-old Rachael Day hands out ribbons and trophies at the New Holland Fair.

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Ten-year-old Rachel Day is the youngest of four children. While being the youngest has special benefits, Rachel said that it also means, "I get picked on a lot."

Rachel lives with her parents, Clifford and Anna Day, and her brothers, Joe, 20; and Peter, 14; and sister, Becky, 11.

A fifth grade student at Summit Valley Elementary School, Rachel plays flute and piano.

She doesn't like school homework because "it takes up so much time."

Her favorite activities are swimming and playing soccer.

Last year, Rachel showed pigs at the New Holland Fair, but this year, she couldn't because her family did not have room to raise the pigs.

"I really miss showing pigs," Rachel said. "I hope I get a chance to have some again."

This year, instead of showing pigs at the New Holland Fair, Rachel handed out ribbons and trophies to winners in the sheep show. Her dad, who is a FFA teacher at Garden Spot High School, was in charge of the show.

Nutritious Halloween Treats Do The Trick

NEWARK, Del. — Try something different this Halloween. Instead of giving trick-or-treaters empty-calorie treats, why not scare up a batch of nutritious homemade goodies.

"Look for recipes low in sugar, salt and fat," suggests Claudia Holden, state coordinator for Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP). "In many instances, these ingredients can be reduced by one-fourth without significantly changing the taste." Quick breads and cookies that contain raisins, nuts, dried fruits, grains, seeds, whole-wheat flour and rolled oats are popular with children.

"Involve your own trick-or-treaters in preparing the treats," Holden says. "Use this time to send a positive nutrition message to children by emphasizing the importance of choosing snacks that are good for you. Delegate tasks according to each child's ability and provide plenty of supervision."

Holden offers the following recipes for nutritious Halloween treats.

NO-COOK TRAIL MIX

1 bag (21 oz.) pretzels
1 box (1 lb.) seedless raisins
1 cup peanuts (unsalted or low salt)
1 cup popcorn

Mix all ingredients. Bag in sandwich bags.

PUMPKIN BREAD

1½ cups enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
4 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon each, cinnamon and cloves
½ cup honey
1 cup pumpkin
¼ cup oil
1 egg, beaten
½ cup raisins

Mix together dry ingredients. Beat honey into pumpkins and mix with oil and egg. Add dry ingredients to mixture and stir in raisins. Pour into greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes to one hour. (You may want to make several loaves to maximize use of oven. To serve, cut loaf in half lengthwise, then slice into 36 small pieces. Bag and enjoy.

Note: Pumpkin bread can be made ahead and frozen for future use.

BANANA DATE CHEWS

2 very ripe bananas, mashed
½ cup corn oil margarine, softened
¾ cup finely-chopped dates
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons of whole-wheat flour and 2 tablespoons of wheat germ
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 cups quick oats

Cream bananas and margarine. Stir in dates and vanilla. Mix together flour, wheat germ, baking powder and oats. Stir into creamed mixture. Drop by tablespoons onto lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake at 325 degrees for 25 minutes. Makes 3 dozen.

WE'RE VOTING FOR BUSH

Here's Why

There's a lot of truth to that old saying — "If it ain't broke, don't fix it."

Farmers were hurting when President Bush took office in 1989. But he didn't think agriculture needed a major overhaul. Instead Bush did some fine tuning.

He ordered USDA to slim down and get more efficient.

He put Farmers Home Administration on sound financial footing, better able to serve hard pressed farmers.

He called for and signed a new farm law that made the market place the driving force of agriculture. Rather than Congress. Or USDA.

He went on the offensive to win new world markets for the American farmer.

And good things started happening.

- Net cash farm income jumped to an all-time high, a full 32% better than the previous four years.
- Ag sales and gross cash receipts went up $17 billion.
- Farm exports surged to a strong $37 billion in 1991 and a possible $41 billion this year.
- Farm equity is up $42 billion; and farm debts down $57 billion.

And the market place did it. During these same Bush years farm subsidies were cut by more than half.

What can we expect in Bush's second term?

- "A further upswing in farm exports," say economists, due to new trade pacts negotiated by Bush team.
- A major cut in capital gains tax if Bush gets his way with Congress, giving farmers more money to invest or pay off debt.
- A 100% tax deduction on health insurance for farmers and other self employed. Just like corporations.

And more good news. Bush has fresh federal money in the pipeline for rural schools, roads and health centers. And he's fighting for rural enterprise zones to jump start local economies.

President Bush is on a roll. He has our vote. He deserves yours.

Carey Promotes 'Nature's Toothbrush'

BETH MILLER
Adams Co. Correspondent

ASPERS (Adams Co.) — Jane Carey is right in her element this month.

October is National Apple Month and Carey, a 17-year-old from Aspers, is the 1992 Adams County Apple Queen.

Carey is the 37th Apple Queen for Adams County. She knew long ago that she wanted to wear the crown and sash.

She knew that when she was just a little kid.

"After I saw the Apple Queen when I was a very little girl, I knew that was what I wanted to do when I got older," Carey said.

Until a few years ago, however, she wouldn't have had a chance.

Sally Kime, the coordinator of the Apple Queen program, said the queen competition originally was open only to girls who had family members who owned an orchard.

That rule was dropped several years ago, Kime said, and now the contest is open to any girl who is interested in helping to promote the apple industry, one of Adams County's major industries.

In Carey's case, there is a link to the apple industry, although not a direct one.

Her grandfather worked in the orchards that cover Adams County's landscape, but her family is not now involved in the industry.

During her one-year reign as Apple Queen, Carey will promote the apple industry by giving tours of the county's prominent orchards.

She also will hand out samples of apples, apple cider, apple butter and other sweet-tasting apple products at area fairs, at banquets and at promotional programs at shopping malls.

One of her favorite duties, she said, is to take her apple programs to the schools.

Carey said that is fun because the school children really seem to enjoy the presentation. For the little kids, she reads a story about Johnny Appleseed, shows a short film about the apple industry and then answers any questions the children have.

Carey is in school a lot herself. The daughter of Michael and Carolyn Carey, she is a senior at Biglerville High School, right in the heart of Apple Country. The orchards are visible from the classroom windows.

Her school activities include involvement in athletic training, the field hockey team, the blood donor committee and in dramatic presentations.

She is an attendance office assistant and has been feature baton twirler with the high school marching band.

Outside of school, her activities include bicycling, traveling, swimming, reading and improving her technique with the baton.

Her plans include attending a college or university to major in athletic training.

Carey has considerable talents in the kitchen also. That much is evident by her prize-winning recipe for apple walnut torte.

The recipe calls for 1¼ cups of sugar; 1 cup of Mazola oil; 3 eggs; ½ teaspoon of salt; 1 teaspoon of vanilla; 2 cups of unsifted flour; 1 teaspoon of baking soda; 1 teaspoon of cinnamon; ¾ of a cup of chopped black walnuts; and 4 large or 5 small peeled and shredded apples.

All that should be mixed in order and baked in a 13 by 9½ -inch pan with the bottom and sides greased and floured. It should be baked at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Her duties as apple queen are time-consuming, but Carey has a lot to work with.

The things she tellls about apples include the fact that the fruit is "nature's toothbrush" becasue eating them can help exercise the teeth and massage the gums.

In addition, she tells mothers that apple juice is good for children, since it has been proven that infants who are fed apple juice tend to have less rash, colic and other disorders.

Carey also says that apples are good for people who are watching their weight because they are low in calories and 100 percent fat-free.

They even are good for stubborn colds, she said, because studies have shown that apples lower the incidence of colds and other aliments of the upper respiratory system.

Carey's duties as queen are taking her to most of the county's more prominent orchards.

One of those is the Hollabaugh Brothers Inc. Fruit Farms and market on Rt. 34 near Biglerville, just nine miles north of Gettysburg and its famous Civil War battlefield.

Carey recently made her apple pitch at the Hollabuagh's market on a sunny fall day and handed out literature, to a steady flow of customers.

The operation has more than 400 acres in fruit production and has more than 135,000 fruit trees - many varieties of apples of course, along with apricots, plums, pears and peaches.

The business, owned and operated by two generations of the Hollabaugh family, has 50 employees and produces more than 150,000 bushels of fruit every year.

Hollabaugh's is just one of the many places Carey is to appear in the coming year.

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

HARRISONBURG, VA — It's a clear, cloudiness, and virtually windless daybreak greeting the expansive and picturesque Shenandoah Valley. At 6:30 a.m. with her crew of four volunteers, registered nurse Linda Heatwole has arrived at a plateau of open fields skirting the city limits. If all systesms are "go" she will launch Evening Star, her own hot air balloon, for a pre-breakfast flight.

Heatwole, who received her pilot's license last August, after acquiring the required hours, passing an FAA examination, and flying solo, got interested in the sport after she had been asked to crew for someone else at a rally. When she finally took her first ride, Heatwole says, "My mouth was hanging open the whole trip." She says, "The very first time I saw the balloons, I was captured."

In 1990, Heatwole purchased her first balloon, a used one from a friend. Its name was Stardust. But the 1991 winter weather was unfavorable for flying and so the balloon laid in its storage bag too long. When the annual "grab test" was performed on the balloon material at the FAA repair station, Stardust failed the test. Heatwole was heart-broken. "I had bonded with that little balloon," she said.

It should be noted that the outer portion of the balloon (brilliantly colored portion seen by spectators), is really an "envelope" sealing in other flying apparatus. By means of various attachments, cords and cables, that reach the wicker or rattan basket where the pilot stands during flight you finally have a complete hot air balloon.

You get used to hearing the words: burner, attachment toggle, skirt, suspension cables, panels, seams, vent valve, loadline and load tape. Each component represents an extremely important function prior to and during the balloon flight.

Six persons gathered for Heatwole's flight including this writer who was about to take her maiden balloon voyage. It was the first day of October and autumnally chilly. Those who had left home without breakfast found their mouths salivating with thoughts of a steaming hot mug of coffee.

Not ready to risk a windy takeoff, Heatwole ordered everybody into her van which was still loaded with the balloon cargo, telling them she would launch off instead from the old soccer field less than a mile away.

Once there, a flurry of activity began as crew members — engineer Steve, retiree Walt, and nurses Martha and Jan — helped Heatwole carry the 417-pound basket off its custom rack behind the van. It was placed on its side and the wrinkled envelope stretched out. When all the parts were attached, inflation of Evening Star began and Steve was told to be crew chief for this flight.

Heatwole who has some 20 crew volunteers, said she plans ahead, jotting down names of those who are available on certain days. They might have diverse backgrounds and lifestyles, but they all share a love for the sport. Some have yet to experience floating aloft, but never mind that, it is still an exhilarating and exciting sport in which to participate.

"The crew sort of evolves for each pilot," says Heatwole. "The crew chief is responsible on the gound. He helps to assemble the balloon, does crowd control and is a public relations person" she says. "The crew is vital."

Of course, lots of technical stuff went on, too, with various gauges, instruments, and instructions. But finally, the basket was turned upright and was ready for its capacity pilot and passenger who were soon lifted up and away higher higher.

Unbelievable! Just like floating on air. To quote Heatwole's

Linda Heatwole in an inflight closeup is shown waiting for a word from the crew in the chase vehicle about landing her hot air balloon.

Heatwole purchased a new Dacron balloon which she designed with two shades of blue, red, hot pink and yellow, broad diagonal stripes. She kept the same basket to use because of its good condition. The savings, therefore, were substantial since purchasing an entire system is very expensive, according to Heatwole.

Now she owns the only hot air balloon in town and one of two in the entire Shenandoah Valley at last report.

Although official weahter reports that morning were good, a stiff breeze was evident when the pie ball (small helium-filled balloon) was released into the air to friend, Ed Newman, from his book Hot Air and Gas, a passenger of his once said, "It's like having your soul massaged."

Virtually miles of Shenandoah Valley were visible as the balloon rose to about 1,000 feet (2,500 feet above sea level according to the pilot). About 15 deer were grazing in a field and a moving train was spotted. Every object took on toy likeness including a deep quarry and its heavy equipment.

Passing over busy Interstate 81 in a southeasterly direction, Heatwole said she keeps the balloon high enough to cause no distraction for drivers. That morning becasue the balloon was sailing along at a lively pace, it was soon out of sight of the crew, who by radio communications, said they'd gotten caught in early morning traffic and were still attempting to leave city limits. Heatwole groaned. The crew had to be ready to help bring the balloon down at an appropriate site when she prepared to land.

By adding or releasing the heat inside the balloon using the burner at the bottom or the vent at the top, Heatwole gradually lowered it. Finally, the chase vehicle, could be seen on a nearby road.

It was a relief to pass over the dangerous power lines below and anticipate landing in a partially cut corn field.

A pilot in a cute little yellow, single engine airplane was curiously circling the flashy balloon, giving it a wide berth. On the west side, the balloon's black shadow moving along the rolling Virginia hillsides, was caused by the rising morning sun.

The crew moving speedily, parked the van, dashed to the landowner's house (luckily nearby) and requested landing permission for heatwole who flung out the rope. Jan tried frantically to locate it somewhere in the tall corn. It was right over her head. What a laugh!

After 45 minutes of air time the flight ended. Time to pack. The crew had guided the balloon into the next grassy field, concerned about sharp corn stubble. Only now there were cow pies in abundance. Amazingly, nobody seemed to care. Heatwole took charge again and within a short time the envelope was deflated and everything repacked and loaded into the van.

Graciously, Heatwole served light refreshments from two small picnic hampers stowed in the van. It was a time to socialize and thank the landowners, in this case Beery Farms, Inc., Pleasant Valley, VA, Represented by Danny Beery and his son, Anthony for their kind hospitality during her unexpected, early-morning drop-in.

"Balloon rallys are huggy events," said Heatwole, "because we only see each other twice yearly." She says there is much camaraderie and she has made wonderful new friendships, not just over the balloons, but with landowners where landings have happened. Usually, she attends rallys in North Carolina and southern Virginia.

For all her spirit of adventure, Heatwole is obviously a gracious and hospitable woman who gives much thought to planning, detail and the comfort of her friends. She emanates self-assurance and elan.

Never married, Heatwole has been around a few decades. As a youngster, her family with seven children, was very conservative. Additionally, through the years, some 16 foster children came and went through their home. Before she could leave home for college, Heatwole spent one year managing the family household and cooking.

Following the 1972 devastating earthquake in Nicaragua Heatwole spent three years in the Managua area heading a volunteer medical team. "It was overwhelming," she recalls, "but I liked it." There were three Americans and several natives.

Travel through the jungle to their camp was on mules. Each had a machete and knew how to use it. Heatwole had to learn fluent use of the Spanish language.

She says that experience compelled her senses to see and feel reality. There was both birth and death for the young nurse to cope with besides sicknesses, and other jungle menaces. Help and supplies were a day's ride away.

Later she and her sister also traveled for six consecutive weeks in the United States and Canada, camping in parks and sleeping in a tent they had purchased for the journey.;

Heatwole is currently the nursing coordinator and house supervisor at Rockingham Memorial Hospital in Harrisonburg. She is working to achieve her commercial balloon pilot's license.

Scholarships Available For Ag Students

CHICAGO, Ill. — The Chicago Mercantile Exchange is challenging students of agriculture to cash in on their writing skills by entering the 1993 Beef Industry or Pork Industry Scholarship Programs, administered respectively by the National Cattlemen's Foundation (NCF) and the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC).

A total of eight $2,500 scholarships will be awarded through the two scholarship programs. The four beef industry scholarship winners will be announced at the National Cattleman's Association Convention in January and the four pork industry scholarship winners will be announced at the Pork Industry Forum in March. Additionally, one of the top four winners in each industry will receive an all-expense paid trip to that industry's convention.

To qualify for one of the eight scholarships, students must:

- Be enrolled in a two-year swine program or in the College of Agriculture at a four-year institution;
- Write a brief letter indicating what role the student anticipates playing in the industry after graduation;
- Write an original 750 word essay, identifying an issue confronting the beef or pork industry, and proposing a solution;
- Obtain two letters of reference from current or former professors or industry professionals;
- Prepare a cover sheet with applicant's: (1) name, (2) complete mailing address and telephone number, (3) school name, (4) year in school and (5) permanent mailing address and telephone number; and
- Enclose the above items in a single envelope and submit to the appropriate industry organization:

Submissions for the CME Beef Industry Scholarship Program should be sent to Donald Butler, Chairman, National Cattleman's Foundation, 1301 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W., Suite 300; Washington, DC 20004-1701 no later than Dec. Questions regarding the Beef Industry Scholarship should be directed to Pamela Fyock, 202/347-0228.

Submissions for the CME Pork Industry Scholarship Program should be mailed to Ernie Barnes, National Pork Producers Council, Box 10383, Des Moines, IA 50306 no later than Dec. 31, 1992. For more information on the CME Pork Industry Scholarship Program, contact Ernie Barnes, 515/223-2751.

Rice is available in many convenient forms. Basically, rice comes in four forms or degrees of processing. Regular-milled white rice — it's completely milled so that the hulls and bran layer are removed. Brown rice has only the hull removed leaving the nutty flavored bran layer. Parboiled rice which has undergone special pressurized steam processing before milling for lighter and fluffier rice and pre-cooked rice which is the fastest cooking rice of all. Completely cooked and dehydrated, it takes only a few minutes to prepare.

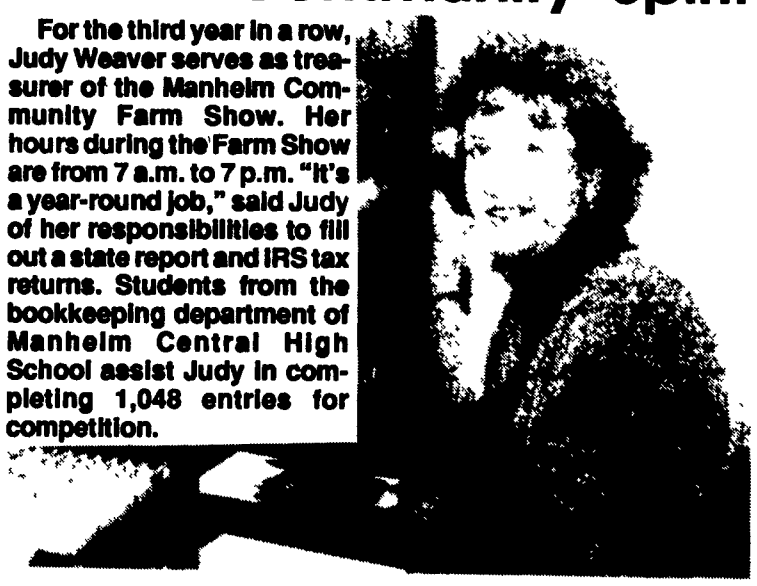
Community Spirit Alive At Manheim Farm Show



For the third year in a row, Judy Weaver serves as treasurer of the Manheim Community Farm Show. Her hours during the Farm Show are from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. "It's a year-round job," said Judy of her responsibilities to fill out a state report and IRS tax returns. Students from the bookkeeping department of Manheim Central High School assist Judy in completing 1,048 entries for competition.

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — For 39 years Manheim Community Farm Show has been promoting competition and exhibition of agriculture, arts, crafts, and commercial products during the first full week in October.

It takes a lot of people working behind the scenes to make participation successful.

Earl Geib, president of the Farm Show committee, said that working behind the scenes is a year-round activity. "We are extremely grateful to all community people who work to make this event possible and the patrons and local businesses who financially support the Farm Show," he said.

Because no admission is charged, it is difficult to know how many people attend the Manheim Farm Show, but record-breaking crowds appeared to gather at Lancaster County's final fair held this season.

A popular attraction at the Manheim Farm Show was this cotton afghan throw with drawings depicting Manheim's historical and contemporary attractions. For information, write to Carol's Creations, 1592 Old Line Rd., Manheim, PA 17545 or call (717) 664-2834.

For eight years, Jay and Carol Mylin of Manheim work as chairman and secretary of the sheep committee. "I enjoy involvement in the community and seeing the kids work together in an atmosphere of friendly competition," said Mylin, who is Lancaster County DHIA director. Farm Show Queen Elizabeth Hess, right, handed out the ribbons.

4-H HAPPENINGS

4-H Exchange Club

The Lancaster County 4-H Exchange Club hosted 12 4-H'ers and four chaperones from Oklahoma for one week in July. Last year the Lancaster County group visited Oklahoma as part of this exchange.

In an attempt to show them the industry, heritage, and culture as well as the many splendors of Lancaster County, each day was packed full of tours and sight seeing. They visited Gettysburg, Philadelphia, and Washington D.C. and had access to many historical sites.

A bus tour of the Amish farmland, with a guide to explain the ways of the Amish life, showed them a new culture.

Local tours included Anderson pretzels, Wilbur Chocolate, Herr's potato chips, Stoltzfus Meats, Hershey Chocolate World, Roots farmers market, Kitchen Kettle Village, Robert Fulton Birthplace, Central Market, Founder's Hall, and The Lancaster County Wax Museum.

Pot Pie, dried corn, chow-chow, and whoopie pies were also introduced to them. On their return home, they prepared these foods as a treat for their sponsors who helped finance their trip here.

The rolling hills, winding roads, and lush green grass fields provided a new landscape for the 4-H'ers. Tobacco and soybean fields needed some explanations. One of the chaperones asked to have her picture taken beside corn fields, because she had never seen such tall, thickly planted corn fields.

The club began the week's activities with a pig roast followed by swimming. For relaxation, the club spent an afternoon tubing down the Pequea Creek. A cookout and volleyball followed. However, a thunderstorm occurred and put the volleyball on hold.

Many new and lasting friendships were started last year with this exchange, and renewing them again this year made them even stronger. When the time came to depart, the depths of these friendships were felt as the hugs were given and tears were visible. Letters have been passing in the mail as the club tries to do its best to keep these friendships active.

The exchange was arranged by club leaders Elaine Craig and Paul and Orpha Strausbaugh with the help of 4-H agent Zoann Parker.

Forestry-Wildlife Competition

TOWANDA (Bradford Co.) — The Bradford and Sullivan County Offices of Penn State Cooperative Extension announces the first annual Youth Forestry and Wildlife Skills Competition. This competition will be held in April at the Annual Endless Mountains Maple Festival. Skills to be tested include tree identification, log scaling, tree measurements, wildlife identification, and wildlife track identification. There will be two classes for this event. The senior division is for those youth from 9th through 12th grade and the junior division is for youth from 6th through 8th grade. First prize for each of these divisions is a $50 savings bond and second prize will be a quart of maple syrup. Other prizes will also be presented.

This advance notice is to encourage those youth who might be interested to begin practicing now in these events. More information, registration, and help can be available by contacting Dr. Bob Hansen, Mrs. Levetta Comstock, Mr. Tom Maloney, Penn State Cooperative Extension, 701 South Fourth Street, PO Box 69, Towanda, PA 18848-0069, (717)265-2896.

Farmers Have a Friend in Pennsylvania...

Lynn Yeakel
for U.S. Senate

As your next U.S. Senator, Lynn Yeakel will be working to keep farmers off the "Endangered species list"

Taxes and Finance: Using the tax code to promote fairness and prosperity by:

-- targeting long term capitol gains tax breaks for productive farm investments
-- giving a break on taxes to working and middle class families

Trade: Working for a fair and balanced trade policy by:

--Using access to our market as clout to promote fair foreign competition
--Protecting domestic markets from dumping
--Opposing the "fast tracking" of the North American Free Trade Agreement
--Promoting the U.S. agricultural products worldwide through "strategic marketing campaigns"

Environment: Working to ensure that sound environmental policy does not put farmers in economic distress by:

--Providing "just compensation" for wetlands
--Protecting private property rights

Opportunity and security: Protecting the values and culture of family farming by:

--Funding extension service programs, the young farmers home loan program and supporting 4H and FFA
--Promoting comprehensive health care reform to ensure affordable coverage and quality care for all Americans.

Home Storage Of Fruits And Vegetables

ITHACA, N.Y. — That crisp smell of fall makes some of us want to squirrel away our garden produce for winter. Drying, freezing, canning, and pickling are some ways of preserving that food. But lately researchers have been rediscovering a preservation method used extensively by our ancestors—storage. Home Storage of Fruits and Vegetables, a publication from the Northeast Regional Agricultural Engineering Service (NRAES), reveals what you need to know to take advantage of this lost art.

Once the weather has grown cold and late-maturing crops have reached the proper stage of maturity, the time is right for storage. Storage doesn't demand the high investments in time, energy, and money that other preservation methods do. It uses cold weather for refrigeration and requires only some materials, some maintenance, and an awareness of food characteristics to assist natural conditions.

Home Storage of Fruits and Vegetables provides illustrated examples of ways to achieve storage both indoors and outdoors. A section on outdoor storage shows how produce can be preserved beneath mounds of earth and insulation or in buried containers, outdoor cellars, sheds, garages, small pits, or trenches. A section on indoor storage points out a host of potential storage areas in the home. Unheated rooms and closets, pantries, attics, stairwells, basements, or any sufficiently and evenly cool spot can be adapted for some types of food storage. Both sections offer guidelines for preparing each type of storage and how to keep it safe from rodents, water, and extreme temperatur

Since produce requires proper handling before storage, Home Storage of Fruits and Vegetables includes a section on the best times and techniques for harvesting, packing, and using stored food.

The bulletin Home Storage of Fruits and Vegetables, NRAES-7, is available for $5.50 from the Northeast Regional Agricultural Engineering Service (NRAES), Cooperative Extension, 152 Riley-Robb Hall, Ithaca, NY 14853. Postage and handling are included. Make your check payable to NRAES, or call (607)255-7654 for more information or for a free publication catalog.

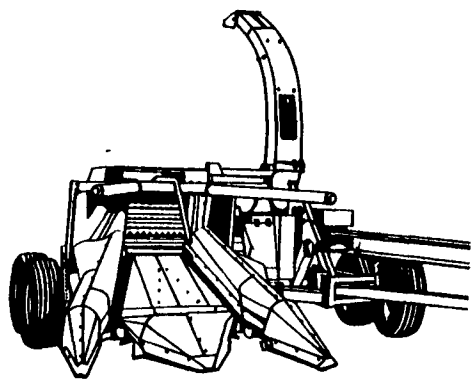
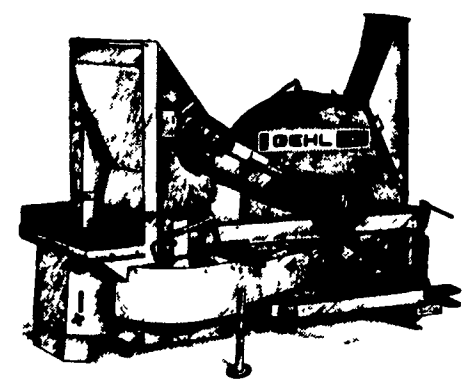
GEHL®

Versatility Champ!



With a horsepower rating for maximum 200 hp, the Gehl 1060 featues exclusive patented spinner delivery system that "jets" material from cylinder to blower in a continuous flow. Other features include overrunning clutch; in-head hydraulic knife sharpener that allows in-field knife sharpening and refacing of cutterbar, using tractor hydraulics; and single-station cutterbar adjustment. Auto-Max system, speed monitor, metal detector, haylage water tank optional! It's totally versatile! Make us prove it with a demonstration.

Blowers To Fill Tall Orders



If you need a high-capacity forage blower to fill your tallest silos, Gehl blowers will help get your silo-filling done in short order

- Three models give you a choice of 540 or 1,000 rpm operation.
- Twin spinners rifle material into the blower fan at nearly 35 mph
- Twin-sided fan disc with paddles on both sides shoots the crop up the pipe in a nearly continuous flow.
- Split rim sheets feature a replaceable inner liner for longer life and lower maintenance costs
- Many convenience features include swing-away blower outlet, air vents, adjustable left tire, right tire guard, wide hopper, removable tunnel covers and dual water inlets

They have also purchased swine, sheep, and beef at the youth livestock sales to support 4-H members with their animal projects.

4-H members completing "Leadership Skills You Never Outgrow" project were recognized with a personalized certificate and a 4-H pen. Those honored were Abe Bucher, New Oxford; Kelly Merson, Littlestown; and Kelly Rockafellow, Littlestown.

The 4-H Leaders Banquet also included the annual meeting of the 4-H Clubs of Adams County, Inc. The 4-H leaders elected the following as directors for a three-year term: Suzie Eckert, New Oxford; Wilbur Slothour, Aspers; Dawn Bodenberg, Gettysburg; and Dr. John Dodson, Gettysburg.

Annual Holiday Meeting

"What Goes Around Comes Around" is the theme of the Penn State York Cooperative Extension's annual holiday meeting scheduled for Thursday, October 29 at the 4-H Center near Bair.

The all-day session starts at 9:30 a.m. and concludes at 2:30 p.m. This year there will be an evening session from 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. which will offer a repeat of the two featured programs from the daytime meeting.

Phyllis Frey will share the folklore, myths, legends, facts, and fancies surrounding "The Evolution of Santa Claus." She has created more than 40 Santas which show his many forms starting 2000 years before Christ to the present-day Santa Claus.

Christenna Stamm and Hettie Wengert from Lebanon County team up to show their gift and decorating ideas using ticked fabric as their base.

In addition to the above presentations, the daytime program will include "Gifts of Love" presented by Michelle Rodgers and special entertainment. Exhibits by homemaker groups will be on display throughout the day and evening.

Tickets for the event cost $3.50 for day and $2.50 for evening. They may be purchased before October 22 from the Penn State Cooperative Extension, 112 Pleasant Acres Road, York, PA 17402. Please make checks payable to "Extension Service Special Fund." No tickets will be sold at the door. Those attending the daytime session should bring a bag lunch. Beverage will be provided. The committee will be accepting donation of non-perishable food items to be used in holiday baskets for families in the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program.

Child care will be available during the day time session only for toddlers and preschoolers at a cost of $3 per child. Please register in advance and provide a bag lunch for each child.

For further information, contact the Penn State Cooperative Extension, 717-757-9657.

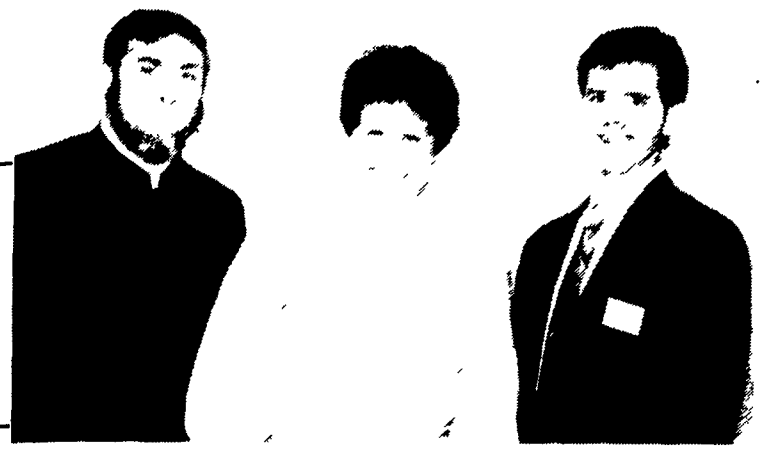
Jack Waybrant, representing J.F. Waybrant & Sons, received a Winross truck plaque from Brenda Petry, president, Adams County 4-H board of directors. J.F. Waybrant & Sons was recognized with the 1992 Adams County 4-H Partner in 4-H honor at the 4-H Leaders' banquet. The recognition was given to Waybrant's due to their financial support of the Adams County 4-H program and their participation in the 4-H swine, sheep, and beef project sales.



Business Symposium Offered For Teens

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Teens will have a chance to develop their entrepreneurial skills at a Youth in Business Symposium sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, Maryland Institute for Agriculture and Natural Resources, and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"Empowering Teen Entrepreneurs" will be held February 18-19, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel at the Inner Harbor in Baltimore, Maryland.

The program is designed to be of interest to three groups of participants: teen entrepreneurs; young people interested in starting their own businesses; and adults interested in entrepreneurial programs for youth.

The symposium agenda includes concurrent workshops on issues related to youth business opportunities and skills; panel discussions involving successful teen entrepreneurs; and an exhibition of existing teen businesses and model youth business programs.

These activities are designed to:

- introduce teens to the concept of entrepreneurship and the realistic business opportunities available to them;
- showcase success stories of young people engaged in operating their own business;
- increase awareness of the Maryland 4-H Learn and Earn program among staff and volunteers of agencies serving young people; and
- provide youth workers with the information they need to plan, organize, implemenmt and evaluate teen entrepreneur programs.

The advance registration fee for the conference is $85 for youth and $145 for adults. This fee — due by January 16, covers all symposium sessions, handouts, two luncheons, a dessert reception on February 18, continental breakfast on February 19, and a T-shirt. Lodging costs are not included. Single-day registration fees are $55 and $85 for youth and adults, respectively.

For more information about the 1993 Youth in Business Symposium: "Empowering Teen Entrepreneurs," contact Edith Williams, Extension 4-H specialist, at (301) 403-4250 or Bill Clark, Baltimore Extension 4-H agent, at (410) 396-4906.

Cold Storage

ITHACA, N.Y. — Operators of refrigerated and controlled atmosphere storage facilities and their consultants have many questions about how to manage these systems for maximum results. Others have questions about constructing or updating their existing facilities to increase the marketable life of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Refrigeration and Controlled Atmosphere Storage for Horticultural Crops, NRAES-22, a guide for the operation, construction, and maintenace of refrigeration and controlled atmosphere storage conditions, is available for $7.00 from the Northeast Regional Agricultural Engineering Service (NRAES), Cooperative Extension, 152 Riley-Robb Hall, Ithaca, NY 14853-5701. Postage and handling are included for U.S. orders only. Please make your check payable to NRAES or call (607)255-7654 for more information or for a free publication catalog.

John Deere... A Way of Life

Western New York
4-H Animal Show

4-H members from 10 western New York counties consigned market steers, hogs, and lambs to the annual Western New York 4-H Meat Animal Show and Sale, held recently at the Empire Livestock Market in Pavilion.

Seventy-eight 4-H'ers sold a total of 129 project animals at this annual event, which is the climax of the project year for 4-H'ers raising market animals.

Harris Wilcox, Inc. donated auctioneer services and Empire Market, Pavilion, donated the use of their facilities.

Steers started the sale this year with Erie-Niagara Insurance of Williamsville outlasting all bidders for the champion. The 1,165-pound champion steer was exhibited by Timothy Bond of West Valley, an Erie County 4-H member, and was sold for $2 per pound. The reserve champion steer was purchased by OK Markets, Caledonia, N.Y., from Jennifer Gray of Springwater, a Steuben County 4-H member. The 1,160-pound reserve champion went for $.85 per pound.

A total of 8 steers brought their exhibitors an average of $.93 per pound. Judge Ted Perry, a Cornell beef specialist selected Jennifer Gray as champion showman. Other showmanship awards went to Tim Bond (second) and Jessica Gernatt (third).

Market hogs were next on the auction block with 57 animals bringing their owners an average of 72 cents per pound. The grand champion was sold for $2.30 per pound to Fleet Bank of Buffalo. This 236-pound hog was the project animal of Robert Junot of Holcomb, an Ontario County 4-H member. Greg Hargrave from Wayland, a Steuben County 4-H'er, sold the 228-pound reserve champion hog to Jones Chemicals, Caledonia, N.Y. for $2.05 per pound. Hogs were judged by Brad Huffines of Waterloo, N.Y., who selected Joe Bezon of Byron, an Orleans County 4-H member, as the champion hog showman. Other hog showmanship awards went to Seniors: Kristen Stewart (second) and Lisa Perrin (third). Juniors Don Galbraith placed first, Jennifer Wright (second), and Russell Miller (third).

Market lambs finished the sale this year and averaged $1.05 per pound. The grand champion was exhibited by Shane FitzPatrick, of Dansville, a Livingston County 4-H member. The 132-pound champion was sold for $2.20 per pound to Harris Wilcox, Inc., Bergen, N.Y. The reserve champion was exhibited by Jeff Wilson of Dansville, an Allegany County 4-H member. This 140-pound lamb was sold for $1.85 per pound to OK Markets, Caledonia, N.Y. There were 63 lambs in the show and sale. Judge Robin Swartz from Attica, N.Y. selected the following 4-H'ers for showmanship awards: seniors - Annette Lear (Champion), Brenda Zarpentine (second), Robby Wilson (third), Brian Wilson (fourth), and Juniors Jacob Fiegl placed first, Erin FitzPatrick (second), and Robert Hatch (third).

ALDERFER SALE

The Nase Family Decorated Kas was sold at the Alderfer Catalogued Auction in Hatfield, Pennsylvania for $132,000 on September 24. According to all dealers, collectors, and writers questioned, the Kas became the highest priced piece of furniture ever to sell at auction in Pennsylvania. It was owned by Charles Nase of Perkasie, Bucks County and purchased by a private collector, represented at the auction by Terry Dwyer of Whispering Pines Antiques. At least three other bidders were present, also ready to pay over $100,000.

Alderfer's has sold furnishings and farm equipment for Mr. Nase over the past 20 years. Now at age 80, Mr. Nase is moving into a retirement home. He decided that it was time to find a new owner for the Kas, which he believes has been in the family since about 1973.

A Jacob Krout, Plumstead, Bucks Co. clock, also owned by Charles Nase, went to a local collector for $5,500.

Two Fern Coppedge paintings brought $10,500 each and a third realized $14,000. An early Edward W. Redfield from his student days in France realized $15,000. An A.P. Martino went for $10,000 and a very small and early gem by Harry Leigh-Ross brought $5,250.

A fine Windsor arm chair belonging to a retired local doctor went for a strong $4,000. His Sarouk rug also brought $4,700. A Sellersville lady realized $6,600 for her Tiffany Studios lamp. Several Native American items hit four figures, and an early portrait of Columbus went to the Mercer museum for $2,100. A Durer etching from the 16th century found at a flea market, went to a New York buyer for $6,000.

A heart-shaped fraktur from Kirke Bryan, 86, of Norristown, realized $5,600, and his walnut high chest brought $7,500. Ending the day with the first section of Kirke Bryan's library, Alderfer's sold over $45,000 worth of fine and rare books. More auctions follow from this extensive library.

CHRIST UNITED LUTHERAN CHURCH SALE

A Benefit Sale for the Christ United Lutheran Church Camp was held October 3 at Camp Mount Luther west of Mifflinburg, Pa. off Route 45.

There were 49 quilts and wall hangings sold for over $7000. They ranged in price from $200 to $550 each. The total sale is expected to be over $16,000.

Other prices were: doll house $90, quilt racks $50 to $60 each and iron bank $50.

Wayne Shively was the auctioneer.

KING SALE

A Public Auction of a Holstein herd, milk equipment and farm machinery was held October 6 by Nancy Ann King, South Groffdale Road, Lancaster Co., Pa.

The 42 mature cows ranged in price from $850 to $1850 and a bred heifer was sold for $1300. The open heifers ranged from $675 to $875.

Other prices received were: flat bed wagons $740 & $900, trailer plow $425, N.I. crimper $600, Wisconsin engine $1100, N.H. mower $950, N.I. manure spreader $1800, liquid manure spreader $2000, N.I. #56 rake $1200, N.H. #310 baler $3250, J.D. #999 corn planter $900, McCormick #16 ensilage cutter $1650, Int. #656 gas tractor $3400, DeLaval milkers $225 each, and Sputnick milk mover $2200.

Other items sold were: 2 calf igloos $225 each, single horse $1525, pair of horses $2700, harness $85 and standing corn $265 per acre.

REAL ESTATE AUCTION

3 FARMS! 320+ ACRES! 3 FARMS!

For Dr. & Mrs. Robert N. Ragland. After a number of years of hands-on farming besides his professional vocation, Dr. Ragland wishes to engage in other pursuits, and will offer the farms at public auction.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1992

10:00 A.M.

On the premises at R.D. #3 Lutz Rd., Stewartstown, PA 17363. Rt. I-83, take Exit #1 and follow Rt. 851 east to Stewartstown, left on W. Penna. Ave., right on Main St., left on College Ave. at funeral home, and continue 3 mi. on Rt. 851 to Pleasant Valley Rd. Leave Rt. 851 and go straight ahead on Pleasant Valley Rd. to Stop sign. Right on Blue Ball Rd. and immediately right onto Lutz Rd. Follow Lutz Rd. 1 mi. to Farm #1 on the right.

FARM #1: The Ragland Residence, known as "Heritage Manor Farm." Consisting of 153+ acres. 90+ acres tillable. In a high state of cultivation, in small grains, soybeans and corn. Barns & pens w/slatted floors. Silos and automated feeding system for 250 head of cattle. 2 stalls for horses. Frame dwelling has Master Suite plus 3 bedrooms, large eat-in kitchen, formal dining room, Hunt Room w/fireplace, and 2½ baths. Contoured and terraced fields for water control. Large pond for beauty, recreation, irrigation and fire protection. The serious farmer or the gentleman investor will find this a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. This is an outstanding crop farm. It has been, and can again be a steer feeding operation. And it lends itself to immediatle use as a cow-calf/beef-finishing operation.

FARM #2: This farm, presently an integral part of the three-farm package, consists of land-only, with no improvements. It has 59 acres m/l of land, with 40 acres m/l tillable. It has 3 building rights, 2 of which already have 1+ acre lots sub-divided, approved, perked and probed. This farm, of exceptionally fine cropland, is a very desirable and valuable property on its own, or purchased in combination with Farm #1 and/or Farm #3.

FARM #3: From Farm #1 go back out Lutz Rd. to the Stop sign. Turn right onto Blue Ball Rd. and go ½ mi. to farm lane on right. A beautiful farm in its own right. This property has many features which will commend it to the serious discriminating buyer. 109+ acres. Approximately 100 acres tillable and in a high state of cultivation. The frame dwelling has a 4+ bedrooms. Fine bank barn with a 20'x50' cement silo & nearly new unloader. Set up to feed approx. 100 head of cattle. The layout of the steer barn readily lends itself to conversion to boxstalls for horses. A new spring-fed pond has recently been constructed. This farm has one extra building right, and has a second right-of-way to the farm from Lutz Rd.

TERMS: A down-payment of 10% of the gavel price in cash or guaranteed funds is required on day of auction. Balance due in-full on or before January 8, 1993.

INSPECTION: For private appointment, phone the owner at (717) 993-2717 or contact the auctioneers. Open House for tours of the land and inspection of the buildings will be held on Sunday, October 11, 18 & 25 - 1:00 to 4:00 P.M. Phone 717-741-4489 For Color Brochure.

Strong Showing At KILE Beef Shows

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The beef cattle competitions of the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg saw a number of local veteran and new showmen take home top awards.

There were 564 head of beef cattle entered for competition. The KILE attracts exhibitors from all over the United States and Canada. Regional exhibitors do not get an edge because of proximity.

The premier indoor exhibition of livestock in North America is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the state Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania State Farm Products Show Commission.

Some of the highlights of the beef cattle shows include the youth, or junior, competitions.

"Liza Jane," a yearling heifer, was also named grand champion in the open and junior Limousine shows and grand champion bred and owned at Lebanon County Fair. Liza Jane is to be exhibited at the State Farm Show in January.

John, a ninth-grader at Cedar Crest High School, is a member of the Lebanon 4-H Club and the Cedar Crest FFA. This is the best showing he has had at the Livestock Exposition during his few times here.

John also raises Hampshire pigs on Harnish Farms. John's parents Guy and Carol Harnish own the farrow-to-finish operation.

Cane Ridge Becky Jay, a senior yearling, won grand champion Limousin female honors.

Another outstanding accomplishment was displayed by a veteran 7-year-old livestock exhibitor from Marion Township, Berks County, who captured the reserve champion banner in the cow-calf division of the Polled Hereford show.

Margeaux Firestine, daughter of Michael and Martene Firestine, who operate Map Farm near Womelsdorf, took the reserve banner with "Miss Jangle" and her calf, "Map Maurice."

Margeaux, a second-grader at Conrad Wiser West Elementary School, has been showing at KILE and at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show since she was 4 years old. She also won reserve champion honors with another bull calf at the York Fair.

When Margeaux, who weighs only 54 pounds, is not leading 2,000-pound steers around the ring in livestock shows, she enjoys collecting rocks, collecting miniature kangeroos, or riding her pony, "Charlie." She is also an avid reader.

She said she is already thinking about which animal from the 30 Polled Herefords at Map Farm she might show at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show in January.

Kenley Jo Myers of Dallastown exhibited the grand champion female Simmental cow.

DVF Ms Black Broderick, calved in May of 1991, won its class for early summer yearling heifers and went on to take the

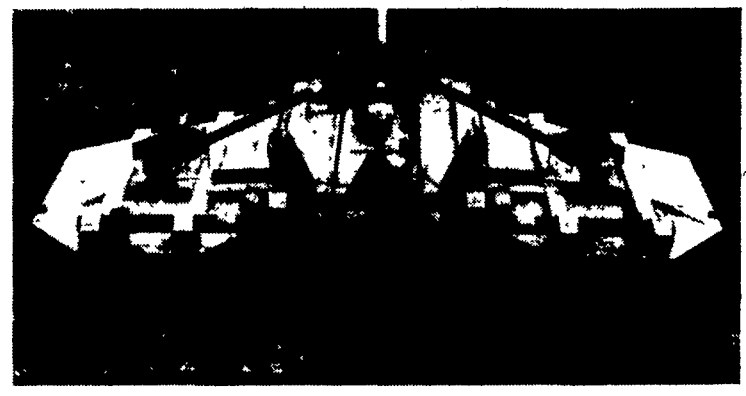
LAND PRIDE

15' ROTARY CUTTER



Land Pride 15' Rotary Cutter offers rugged dependability

Starting with a 10-gauge deck for the center section and wings, we've added effective reinforcement channels to each section for superior strength. With a mowing height ranging from 2" to 14", it can also handle material up to two inches thick. With two self-leveling rods from front to rear, mowing height can easily be maintained, as well as deck-flexing being held to a minimum.

Showing out of Dunkard Valley Farm in Dallastown, Kenley Jo has been exhibiting of KILE for the past six years. She said she plans to show her champion Simmental at shows in Louisville, Ky., and Denver, Colo., before returning to the State Farm Show in January.

In a family effort, William and Karen Flagg's Pickering Meadow Farm, of Phoenixville, Chester County, exhibited the reserve champion bull in the Pennsylvania Capital Futurity for Simmentals. Their son Dean Flagg showed the reserve champion female.

The futurity was sponsored by the Pennsylvania Simmental Association and therefore restricted to members, of which there are 120. Three judges oversee the show which has a purse of $6,000.

The 700-pound bull, "Ultra Clean Stretch," is an early spring bull calf. This was his first show.

"PMF Ariel" is an early junior yearling heifer. She took first place in her class at the State Farm Show last year.

Seven-year-old Dean Flagg said he raises one calf every year, "but this is the best any have done."

Dean, like many agricultural youth past and present, said he plans to put his money in the bank for college. He also said he was anxious to get home and hang the banner in his room.

The Schuylkill Elementary third-grader is also looking forward to bringing Ariel to the State Farm Show in January, although she will be having a calf shortly thereafter.

He said he's looking forward to joining the Chester County 4-H. Currently he belongs to the Junior Simmental Association.

The Flaggs have run a fulltime beef operation since 1979, starting with two female Simmentals. They now have about 50. They are breeding primarily for performance.

"We use EDP's (expected progeny differences) to predict the quality of calves, for weaning weight, yearling weight, calving ease and maternal milking ability," Karen Flagg said.

"We've placed emphasis on that — a major in performance and a minor in showing, so to speak. It's nice to be able to take the performance animals into the show ring and show them successfully."

The K.I.L.E. also proved another victory for Nico Polled Legacy, a 2-year-old bull, which was named grand champion Limousin bull.

Owned by the Green Pastures/ Fairlane Farms/ Maple Lane Farms/ McGee Cattle Co. partnership of Louisville, Ohio, Nico Polled Legacy also won grand champion distinction at the Ohio State Fair, was reserve champion at the Kentucky State Fair, and has done well nationally. The partnership has been exhibiting at KILE for six years with good results.

Baumheckel Elected Chairman

COLDWATER, Ohio — Ralph Baumheckel, senior product manager at White-New Idea Farm Equipment Co., has been elected chairman of the associate members division and director of the American Seed Trade Association (ASTA).

Baumheckel served as vice chairman for the past year, and will serve as chairman until the summer of 1993. Duties of the chairman include presiding over associate member meetings during the year as well as representing the concerns of the division as a voting member of board of directors of ASTA.

The associate member division of ASTA is comprised of 128 companies serving the seed industry. Chairman Baumheckel's goal of expanded division activity will be implemented through associate member mailings to identify division concerns and calling for increased support and input at the upcoming Corn, Sorghum and Soybean Research Conference held in Chicago in December. Tracking the "6-9 regulation" will be one of the first projects of the associate members. The "6-9 regulation" regards nonrefillable container standard which could greatly affect the seed industry and its suppliers.

Ralph Baumheckel

Baumheckel's position as chairman is held in addition to his product manager's responsibilites at White-New Idea.

G & G Industries Offers Plastic Dock

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — G & G Undustries is offering a new line of docks that provide maintenance-free savings never available with the traditional wood dock.

Designed to replace wood piers (just as fiberglass boats have replaced yesterday's wooden boats, the new Brock Dock is a realistic alternative to wood.

The Brock Dock components are manufactured by Brock Manufacturing from marine-grade polyvinylchloride (PVC). The dock can be custom-designed in any size or configuration and is also available in standard 2 foot, 3 foot and 4 foot widths.

Unlike wooden piers, the Brock Dock planks won't rot, chip, crack, splinter, or warp. It never needs painting or sealing and remains cool under the summer sun. The dock system consists of Brock planks that attach to Brock Snap Locks screwed to painted wooden Stringers.

In addition to custom-built Brock Docks, G & G Industries also offers Brock Dock do-it-yourself kits with illustrated instructions.

For more information, call G & G Industries at (800) 869-5641 or (717) 733-9396.

New Fastener Design For Drinkers

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Since 1984, Alvin Lapp (S.M. Company) has been manufacturing several sizes of Lapp Energy-Free drinkers for livestock that use no gas and no electric, with good success.

Just a few months ago in new single hole Model 2008 replaced the prior Model 3009.

The new model has an all-new stainless steel lid fastener design that uses no nuts, or screws, (no tools needed) to remove the complete lid. It also has an improved drinking hole area. The units are constructed of an impact-resistant polyethylene with urethane foam insulation to keep from freezing.

Estimate weight is 40 pounds. The unit measures 19¾ -inches wide by 17-inches high by 28¾ -inches long. Contact S.M. Company, 1060 Sheep Hill Rd., New Holland, Pa. 17557, (717) 354-9205.

Fire Ant Control Available

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Logic® insect growth regulator for control of fire ants now can be used in noncropped and nongrazed farm areas. The fenoxycarb bait formulation formerly was labeled only for use in nonbearing citrus.

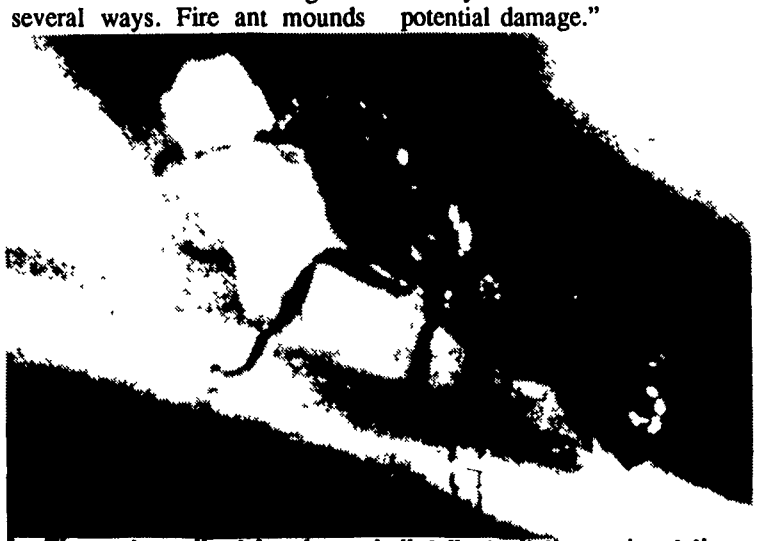
Noncropped and nongrazed areas include around barns, outbuildings, fence rows, set-aside acres, and other areas not grazed by livestock or used as cropland. Areas where only horses graze can be treated with Logic.

Fire ants are one of the toughest pest problems in the South. More than 260 million acres in the southeastern United States are inhabited by fire ants.

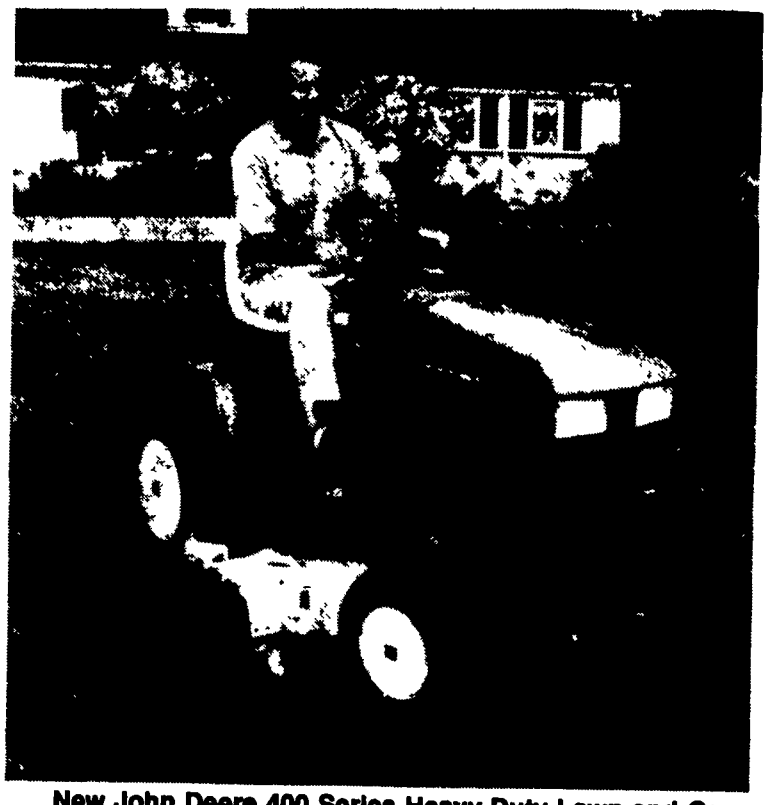
The insect causes damage in several ways. Fire ant mounds may be two to three feet high and wide and can damage farm equipment. In addition, fire ants can actually destroy plant material. They may feed on the buds or fruits of many plants or girdle young trees.

Fire ants also have a dangerous sting, for which more than 10,000 people a year seek medical attention. Logic is slow-acting but effective for control of fire ants. The bait is collected by worker ants and distributed as food throughout the colony.

"There is noticeable ant mortality within six to eight weeks following treatment," said Product Manager Bob Brown. "And the continual decline of the fire ant colony reduces or eliminates potential damage."



Fire ants collect Logic and distribute it throughout the colony as food, causing considerable ant mortality and a continual decline of the fire ant colony.



New John Deere 400 Series Heavy-Duty Lawn and Garden Tractors include 2-pedal foot control hydrostatic transmission with differential lock, internal wet disk brakes, hydraulic PTO clutch, shaft-driven implements, and power steering with tilt steering wheel. A 6.5-U.S.-gallon fuel tank is standard. A 540 rpm rear PTO gear box is optional on all models.

John Deere Unveils New Tractors

RALEIGH, N.C. — The new John Deere 425, 445, and 455 lawn and garden tractors provide a long list of high-quality features: 2-pedal foot control hydrostatic transmission with differential lock, internal wet disk brakes, hydraulic PTO clutch; shaft-driven implements, and power steering with tilt steering wheel.

All three models are powered by OHV liquid-cooled engines with full pressure lubrication and oil filter, and heavy-duty air filter with restriction indicators. These tractors can be teamed with 15 Quik-Tatch implements, including 48-, 54-, and 60-inch mowers. A large 6.5-U.S.-gallon fuel tank allows extended operation between refills.

The 20-hp model 425 has a V-twin gas engine. All-wheel steer is optional only on this model. It improves maneuverability with large implements. For example, all-wheel steer reduces turning radius from 26 to 21 inches with a 54-inch mower; trim radius is reduced from 26 to 7 inches, leaving an uncut circle of 16 inches.

The 22-hp model 445 includes a V-twin gasoline engine with electronic fuel injection and cruise control. Professional seat and seat suspension are standard.

The 22-hp model 455 provides an in-line 3-cylinder diesel engine and cruise control. Pro seat and seat suspension are standard.

A 540 rpm rear PTO gear box is optional for all three models.

Stoltzfus Feed Appoints Swine Specialist

GAP (Lancaster Co.) — Stoltzfus Feed and Supply, Inc., has announced the appointment of swine specialist Ed Herrmann.

The addition of Herrmann allows Stoltzfus Feed and Supply, Inc. to expand service to existing and new hog accounts by assisting independent hog producers with nutritional, genetic, and management services, and assistance in marketing livestock. Stoltzfus Feed and Supply has been servicing hog producers for the past 10 years in nutrition and marketing.

Herrmann was formerly employed as a livestock buyer for Smithfield Foods, Gwaltney Packing Company, of Smithfield, Va. He was graduated from Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture and resides with his family near Holtwood, where he operates his own swine enterprise.

THE NEW 5240 MAXXUM®: PROOF THAT LEADERSHIP NEVER STANDS STILL.

5240 MAXXUM 100 PTO hp

Three years ago, the original line of Case International MAXXUM tractors set a standard for the mid-size class that is yet to be matched. And now that standard is about to be raised. ■ Introducing the new 5240 MAXXUM—A mid-size tractor that refuses to act that way. With the kind of deep, reassuring power reserves that fieldwork demands. A standard 16F/12R transmission that ensures total versatility. And a list of features so complete that no job will seem out of reach. ■ For three years, we've compiled your suggestions regarding the original MAXXUM line. And now those suggestions are part of every new 5240. ■ You wanted more visiblity; we added exclusive all-glass doors. You asked for easier implement attachment; we added ground-level hitch control. You wanted more muscle; we added horsepower, durability and efficiency. All in all, more than 50 changes have been made. ■ Stop by and see the new 5240 MAXXUM today. And bring along some high expectations.

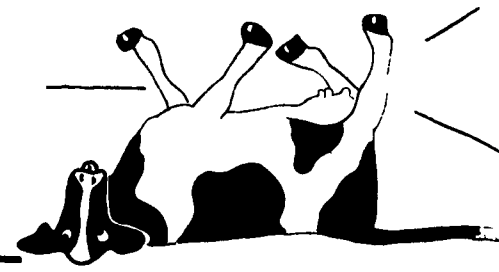
MILK. IT DOES A BODY GOOD.
MIDDLE ATLANTIC MILK MARKETING ASSOCIATION, INC.



Hey! Folks

If your cows are slipping and falling, it ain't my fault because I have a machine called a Scabbler that will fix that concrete so your cows won't keep slipping all the time.

We've got service all around this section of the country, and I have a fellow just jumping to do your job mighty fast.

And that ain't all, our prices are right reasonable, and if you're a tightwad we'll let you do the job yourself if you've got over 500 square feet. It can save you right smart a money.

So call me on my nickel at 800-692-0123. If I'm not by the phone, some real live person will take your number, and I'll try to get back to you real soon. Usually somebody is awake in this outfit, so you just call any time day or night. But, please mind the Lord, and don't call on Sunday.

Just one more thing. We fellows make our living doing this kind of work, and we've got children to feed and bills. That's our side of it, but you've got such things too. A lot of people tell us that this Scabbling saves a whole lot more than it costs. So go ahead and do it. It'll put shoes on everybody's feet.

Be looking to hear from you folks right soon.

The Scabbler Man

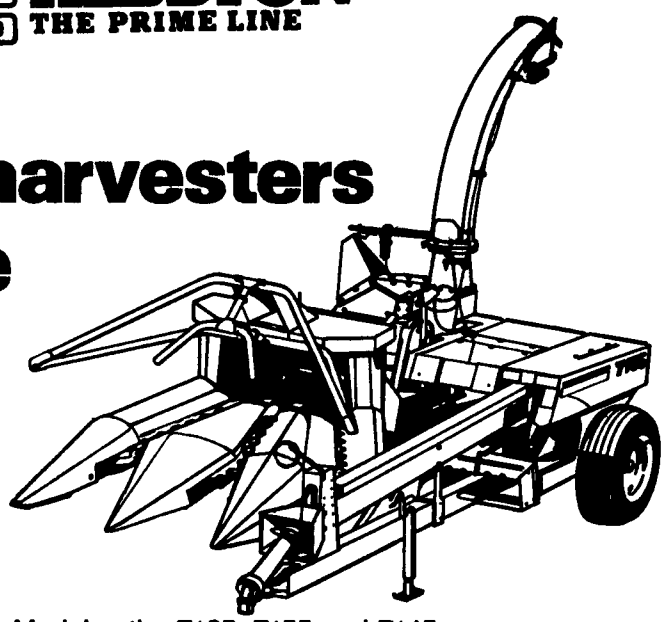
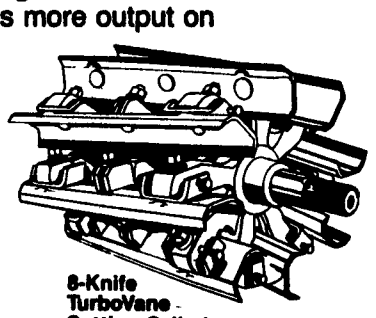
HESSTON
AGCO THE PRIME LINE

Hesston harvesters give more forage on less fuel.



Three Hesston Models...the 7165, 7155 and 7145... offer increased harvesting capacity with the revolutionary 8-Knife TurboVane Cutting Cylinder. This exclusive Hesston design features eight C-2 knives that produce high capacity "scissor-action" cutting that eliminates bunching and carry-over...and gives more output on less fuel!

The C-2 knives have two cutting edges that can be reversed for longer service life. And the Auto-Sharp Knife Grinder, standard on the 7155 and 7165, sharpens quickly and easily...anytime and anywhere! It is a self-indexing grinder that sharpens knives with the cylinder running in normal cutting direction.



8-Knife TurboVane Cutting Cylinder

Straight-Thru Crop-Flo puts more horsepower and fuel into cutting and less into crop handling...eliminates cross augers or spinners that can drain power and waste fuel. And Hesston's new auger base header unit allows you to work more crops on a lower overall investment!

If you want to forage more on less fuel, see your Hesston dealer today about Models 7145, 7155 and 7165 ...for tractors from 60 to 250 HP!

Osman Visits KILE

Lavern Osman (right), representing the FHA from Washington DC, visited KILE with Dennis Grumbine, chairman of the show. Osman showed cattle when he was younger and has grand children on his farm who show cattle in Wisconsin.

Osman said the kind of cattle of the 40's could not be shown now and he said this showed that Agriculture adjusts to the times. In his work with FHA Osman helps young people get started in farming.

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

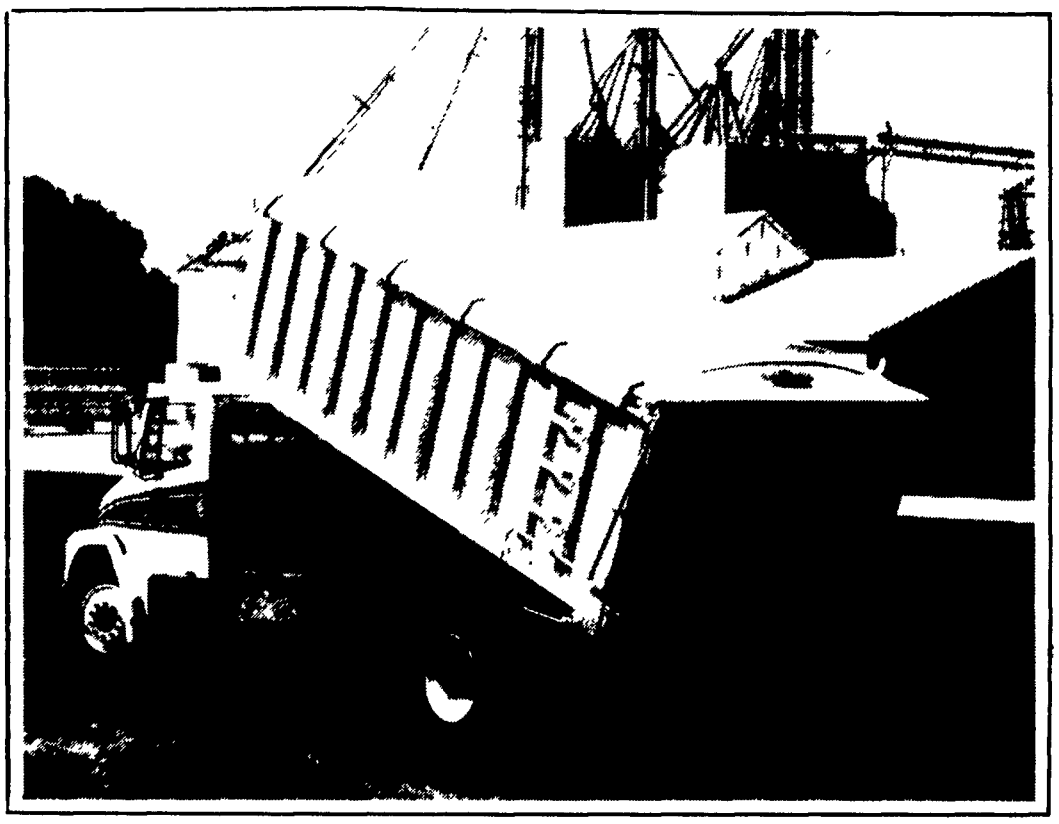
In grain bodies, aluminum makes $ense.



Eby Aluminum Grain Bodies pay off in dependable long-term service. Their all-aluminum construction means:

- Greater payload efficiency
- Maintenance-free service
- Substantially higher resale value.

FREE FITTED TARP THRU 11-1-92

If you think that steel is cheaper, think again. We can show you how aluminum actually saves you dollars in the long run.

Eby's time-tested design is available in lengths to 24' and a 48" standard height; optional heights include 54", 60" and 72". A long list of standard features such as tie rail, built-in steps, aerodynamic uprights and Harsh hoist is complemented by a full range of custom options, including tailgates, Wahpeton tarps and chute.
When you select your next grain body, consider the value that aluminum offers. It's a worry-free investment in your future.

hillsboro

24 Foot Length Shown

28 Foot Length Shown

Optional deck over the neck is 7½ 'x8'

The FLIP-UP BEAVERTAIL raises and lowers in seconds -- slide out ramps are stored under the beavertail. The Hillsboro Flatbed features a full 96" deck width which is more value than the competition

The Hillsboro Flatbed is available in two styles, the 20' and 24' trailer with standard neck, and the 28', 30' and 32' trailer with heavy duty neck.

VERSATILE — RUGGED — RELIABLE and REASONABLY PRICED!

The Hillsboro Flatbed Trailer with flip-up beavertail can be the one trailer that means lower cost for you. Here's why!!

VERSATILITY! That's what makes a Hillsboro trailer such a good investment. With the beavertail down it's an excellent trailer for moving wheeled equipment. Flip the beavertail up and it adds an extra four feet of deck space for hauling hay and other bulky loads.

HERE'S WHAT HILLSBORO QUALITY MEANS - All Hillsboro trailers are manufactured in precise jigs and fixtures which assures excellent alignment of axles, a better pulling trailer, a level and square trailer.

HILLSBORO WORKMANSHIP INCLUDES-Exceptional weld quality, material that is chemically cleaned, two coats of high quality paint, material strength engineered into the best flatbed value.

Towing System by DMI

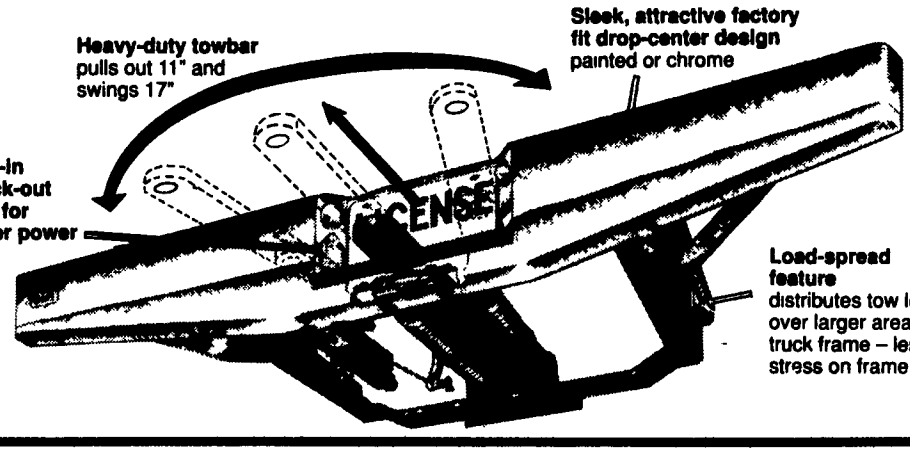
BASIC UNIT
As Low As
$319.00

The Premier Towing System

"Quic", Safe and "Cush'ned" Towing
One person hookup... secure connection... "cush'n" absorbs towing jerk.

Investment Protection
The spring "cush'n" reduces transmission, differential, suspension and frame stress.

Durability
Built-in quality and superior design – Quic-Cush'n II may outlast your next 3 trucks!



Heavy-duty towbar pulls out 11" and swings 17"
Sleek, attractive factory fit drop-center design painted or chrome
Built-in knock-out hole for trailer power plug

York Holds Roundup Sale

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

THOMASVILLE (York Co.) — Spirited bidding and a spirit of generosity highlighted the annual York County 4-H Sheep and Swine Roundup Sale, held recently at the Weikert's Buying Station.

Opening the sale was the champion lamb, exhibited by York 4-H shepherd Tabitha Ebersole. The 110-pound purebred Hampshire generated bidding that climbed to $5.25 per pound before being sold by auctioneer Harry Bachman to Sam and Pat Adams, proprietors of Hummel's Sausage business.

"They all support our stand at the York Fair, so we try to support them," said the Glen Rock couple after their champion purchase.

Mike Klinedinst followed in the sale arena with his reserve grand champion, a 110-pound homebred Hampshire. The Stewartstown 4-H veteran, in his final year of 4-H membership, earned a $4 per pound bid for his pink-ribbon winner.

Buyers of the reserve champion were Jim and Miriam Waltemyer, owners of Waltemyer's Sales and Service John Deere dealership at Red Lion. The couple donated the lamb back to the club for use at the upcoming annual Lamb Club banquet.

Third in the ring was the champion heavyweight, a 125-pound lamb shown by Jacob Ebersole, York. Winning buyer was Bill Campbell of Hoss's Steak and Sea House, who ran the bid to $2, then donated the lamb back to benefit the Lamb Club.

Waltemyer's Sales and Service again held out in the bidding of the champion lightweight, paying $1.40 per pound for the 100-pound winner exhibited by York 4-H member Jennifer Flinchbaugh. The Red Lion couple donated their second lamb buy to the Lutheran Home.

Tabitha Ebersole returned to the arena with a second high-placing lamb, the reserve champion heavyweight. Agway Energy Products of York purchased the 135-pound lamb on a $1.10 pound bid.

Selling the reserve champion lightweight was Amy Sweitzer of Seven Valleys. The 80-pound lamb brought a final bid of $1.30 per pound from the petroleum products firm of Carlos Leffler, represented by bidder Robert Blecker.

The total 48 head sold in the lamb roundup sale averaged $1.25 with the champion, and $1.10 without.

Swine Sale

Hoss's Steak and Sea House continued its enthusiastic support of 4-H roundup sales, purchasing the champion market pig after boosting the bidding to the $5 per pound mark. Buyer Bill Campbell then donated the regional restaurant's chain's purchase back to benefit the York Swine Club.

Exhibitor of the champion pig was Thomasville 4-H'er Matt Sellers, who attributed his win to having picked out a "sleeper" when he selected his project animals. Sellers earned an additional $100 bonus from Duroc breeder Roger Bankert, Hanover, who offers the cash prize to youth who purchase his stock and exhibit them to champion honors.

Hoss's also was top bidder on a cake baked and donated to the club by Lois Rankin of Abbottstown. Campbell bought the cake for $110, and donated it back, with the proceeds to be split between the swine and lamb clubs.

Reserve grand champion was exhibited by first-year exhibitor John Strawbridge of Windsor. Hatfield Packing Company buyer Ezra Good held out to place the winning bid of $2.25 per pound on the 240-pound reserve.

Glen Rock 4-H member Ryan Trimmer had the champion pair of swine. They sold for 70 cents to Arlie Cornbower, representing Leidy's Packing Company.

Reserve champion in the pairs category was the entry of Kim Frantz, Seven Valleys. They sold for 65 cents per pound to Hatfield Packing Company.

Champion heavyweight was exhibited by Jason Rankin, Abbottstown. His 265-pound pig sold for 72 cents to Bankert's Durocs, Hanover.

Jennifer Flinchbaugh of York exhibited the champion heavyweight. Jerry's Food Rite of Red Lion purchased the 215-pound entry for 80 cents per pound.

York Bank and Trust, represented by David Yohe, purchased the reserve champion light heavyweight for 97 cents. Exhibitor of the 250-pound winner was Michael Stermer, East Berlin.

Reserve champion mediumweight was exhibited by Jocelyn Eberly of Dallastown. Her entry weighed in at 230 pounds and sold

Brillion

TAKE COMMAND OF TILLAGE PROBLEMS

Brillion's Landcommander gives you total command over the problems of compaction, soil erosion, residue management, and rough fields.
The front disc gang has 22"x¼ " disc blades on 15" spacings. They are designed to cup residue and work the ground to a depth of 6".
The Landcommander has the ability to till from 8" to 20" deep. This allows you to work through the deepest compaction zones. Brillion gives you the choice of 24" or 30" shank spacing. Automatic reset shanks allow non-stop farming.

Thirty-nine inches of underframe clearance allows the unit to work heavy residue without plugging. The rear disc gang has 20"x 7 ga. disc blades on 7.5" spacing. They cut residue, break clods and level the field. Working depth and disc angle are easily adjusted. You control the amount of residue to meet your conservation compliance needs.
Simple disc gang depth adjustment, innovative design, and heavy duty construction. The new Brillion Landcommander is built in the old Brillion tradition. We make "Tough tillage tools."

PEST PROBLEMS OF POULTRY HOUSING

Charles Pitts
Dept. of Entomology

Each of three poultry facility types principally used in poultry production (caged-layer, broiler/turkey, and breeder houses) has its own pest problems and unique management needs.

While this article is oriented primarily toward environmentally controlled, deep-pit, caged-layer operations (also referred to as high-rise houses), some material is also applicable to broiler, turkey, breeder, and other caged-layer operations.

Caged-layer houses are widely used for commercial egg production. These houses consist of two to four tiers of cages on the sides of an aisle with each cage containing several birds.

Manure accumulation under the cages presents the greatest fly breeding potential among the three types of facilities. Two basic types of caged-layer houses used in the Northeast are deep-pit (high-rise) and shallow-pit. These houses are environmentally controlled facilities with ventilating fans and closed walls.

The deep-pit house, a two-story structure with banks of three- or four-tiered cages on each side of three to five aisles, contains 30,000 to 100,000 birds. A house is typically 30 to 50 feet wide and 300 to 500 feet long. Posts, crossbeams, and braces support the chickens and cages on the upper level. Manure accumulates on the lower level and is usually cleaned out once or twice a year, occasionally at longer intervals.

In contrast, shallow-pit houses are one-story structures (sometimes referred to as wide-span houses) with three or four banks of two or three tiers of cages that may contain 7,000 to 30,000 birds. The house is 30 to 40 feet wide and 100 to 400 feet long. The floor is usually concrete with shallow pits under the cages. Manure accumulations are removed on a variety of schedules, ranging from 1 to 6 weeks.

Broiler and turkey houses are wide-span structures with litter covering the floor (wood shavings) and the birds running free. Little fly breeding occurs because of the dry litter, but high populations of beetles may occur in the litter.

Broiler-breeder houses are also wide-span structures with about 7,000 birds running free on a slat-litter floor. The outer two-thirds of the house has a slatted floor 2 feet above ground level with a litter covered floor in the center one-third of the house. Generally, fly breeding occurs in the manure accumulating under the slatted floor on which the feeders and waterers are located. In breeder houses, northern fowl mites can spread rapidly because of direct bird-to-bird contact.

Major Flies Associated With Manure

Manure breeding muscid flies, particularly the house fly, Musca domestica l., and occasionally the little house fly, Fannia canicularis (l.), and the black garbage fly, Ophyra aenescens (Wiedemann), are a serious problem for poultry producers in the northeastern United States.

Other flies commonly associated with northeastern poultry operations, but rarely noticed, are small dung flies of the family Sphaeroceridae.

House Fly
Musca Domestica L.

The house fly is the major pest species associated with poultry manure, especially in caged-layer operations.

Suitable fly breeding conditions are present year around in deep-pit houses because of long-term manure accumulation and controlled temperatures.

Even though flies have no direct effect on production, they are a concern to poultry producers because they can cause public health problems resulting in poor community relations and possible legal action. Effective house fly dispersal range appears to be 1/2 to 2 miles, but distances as great as 10 to 20 miles have been reported.

House flies may be vectors of more than 100 human and animal pathogenic organisms, including protozoa, bacteria, viruses, rickettsia, fungi, and worms. House flies are considered intermediate hosts for tapeworms and may transmit ascarids to caged birds.

Flies mechanically carry ascarid and other nematode eggs on their feet from manure to pens, feed, and water. Fly maggots ingest tapeworm and ascarid eggs from the poultry manure and retain them in the gut until maturity. In turn, infected flies are ingested by the feeding bird.

Although it appears that avian influenza is spread principally by contaminated shoes, clothes, and equipment, the virus has been isolated from adult house flies. House flies are nonbiting flies about 1/4-inch long, mostly dull gray in color, with four black stripes on the thorax. Mouthparts are sponge-like and used for ingesting liquid foods. House flies breed in animal manure, spilled feeds, and other moist, warm, decaying organic material. Each female can produce up to six batches of 75 to 200 eggs at 3- to 4-day intervals, laying the eggs in cracks and crevices under the surface of the breeding material. Larvae (maggots) hatch from the eggs in 12 to 24 hours. They are white and cylindrical, tapering anteriorly.

Maggots complete their development in 4 to 7 days, passing through three growth stages or instars as they increase in size. Mature larvae form a dark reddish-brown hardened case, called a puparium, from the larval skin and then pupate. The pupal stage usually lasts 3 to 4 days and an adult fly emerges to complete the cycle. Generations overlap, and all stages are present at the same time. The

Adult flies live an average of 3 to 4 weeks, but can live twice this long. They are most active during the day at temperatures of 80 to 90 degrees F and become inactive at night and at temperatures below 45 degrees F.

Resting adults can be seen on the ceiling, walls, posts, and other surfaces inside a poultry house and, outside a house, beneath roof overhangs, on walls, fences, and vegetation. Preferred resting places can be detected by the accumulation of "fly specks," light colored spots formed from regurgitated fluid and darker fecal spots.

Little House Fly
Fannia Canicularis (L.)

High populations of the little house fly may occur on poultry farms and become the predominant fly pest in some areas.

The little house fly resembles the house fly, but is smaller (about 3/16 inch) and has three brown stripes on the thorax. This fly is normally associated with litter-type floor housing and open window ventilation.

Like the house fly, the little house fly may invade homes in nearby residential areas, but tends to be slightly less annoying since it does not settle as readily on food or people. Both sexes can be found resting on weeds, branches, or sides of buildings. Adult males show a distinctive aimless hovering or circling flight behavior of long duration within the poultry house or in outside shaded areas. Females flies are less active and more often found near breeding sites.

Since this fly is less tolerant of hot, midsummer temperatures than the house fly, it often emerges in large numbers in early spring, declines in midsummer, and may peak again in late fall.

The little house fly life cycle is similar to that of the house fly. Eggs are deposited on decaying organic material, especially excrement from poultry, cattle, and humans. Larvae hatch from the eggs in 36 to 48 hours. Unlike the house fly, the larvae are brown, flattened, spiny organisms. Larvae require 8 days or more for development, depending upon temperature and manure conditions. Pupae resemble the larvae in appearance and last about 8 days. The egg-to-adult life cycle typically ranges from 18.5 to 22 days, but may be longer depending upon temperature. In the laboratory, more than one half the adults live 14 days or more. All stages except the egg have been recovered during the winter on Massachusetts poultry farms, although mature larvae predominated. Small numbers of adults overwinter in cracks and crevices.

Black Garbage Fly
Ophyra Aenescens
(Wiedemann)

Black garbage flies, found in large numbers around poultry facilities, are shiny bronze-black and a little smaller than house flies.

The life cycle is similar to that of the house fly and ranges in duration from 14 to 45 days. Black garbage fly larvae closely resembling house fly larvae hatch from the egg in 12 to 16 hours. Larvae develop in a minimum of 5 days and may prey on other fly larvae.

The pupal stage requires at least 4 days. Adults live an average of 14 to 20 days. Although no overwintering stage is capable of withstanding freezing temperatures, all stages are found throughout the year under suitable conditions.

Unlike the house fly and little house fly, black garbage flies tend to stay on their food source at night rather than rest on the ceiling or outdoor vegetation. Female flies seem to have limited flight activity, yet they have been reported up to 4.4 miles from their breeding areas.

While black garbage fly larvae have been known to exterminate house fly populations, they cannot be considered beneficial because of their large numbers on the farm and their ability to disperse as adults into nearby communities. Two other species of black garbage flies, O. Leucostoma, a widely distributed species, and O. Capensis, may be found on Pennsylvania poultry farms. All reports familiar to the author have been O. Aenescens.

Small Dung Fly
Sphaerocerids

Small dung flies are very small, blackish or brownish flies that breed in manure and other decaying materials. These flies often occur in large numbers in poultry manure, but do not appear to pose a nuisance on the farm or to nearby communities.

Sphaerocerids are among the first arrivals at new manure. Adult sphaerocerids forage over a broad range of manure moisture content, but predominate at the peak of the manure cone where moisture content is higher. Larval development occurs where moisture exceeds 50 percent.

Control efforts are discouraged because sphaerocerids are not pests and they may be utilized as an alternative food source by beneficial hister beetles.

The next article in this series will be on the different types of control. In the meantime, remember that good fly control is dependent on good manure management.

SALMONELLA IN SWINE

Salmonella problems are either on the increase, or we're getting better at diagnosing them.

Dr. Tim Loula, a veterinarian from Minnesota, recently told other practitioners attending the SPF Swine Conference that the disease seems to be gaining momentum in the Upper Midwest.

Dr. Roy Shultz, a veterinarian from Iowa, says the incidence of Salmonella cholerasuis in the last three to four years is the worst he's seen in his 32 years of practice. And Kent Schwartz, who works in the Iowa State University diagnostic laboratory, estimates that 25 percent of farms that finish pigs and 10 percent of the farrow-to-finish producers have had signs of Salmonella in the last year or two.

Nature Of Salmonella

Salmonella is a tough organism. It can grow between temperatures of 45 and 113 degrees Fahrenheit. It survives freezing and drying better than most bacteria. It's been known to live in manure oxidation ditches for up to 47 days.

Fortunately, the cells are quickly inactivated by heat or sunlight, and most disinfectants are effective at destroying Salmonella.

Pigs carry many types of Salmonella, but only three known serotypes lead to clinical signs of disease. The major form is S. cholerasuis, which accounts for about 95 percent of all disease-causing salmonella isolated from swine.

Pigs are affected from nursery through finishing. Signs of the disease include diarrhea, pneumonia, purple colored ears and belly, and a general lack of vigor. An important aspect of this serotype is that the disease isn't just in the gut — problems occur in many organ systems.

For example, Salmonella, which is usually not associated with pneumonia, was the most commonly isolated pathogen from swine lungs in 1989 at the Iowa State University diagnostic lab. In addition, pigs infected with S. cholerasuis often suffer from septicemia (bacterial contaminatior of the blood).

The second type of Salmonella, S. typhimurium, is isolated from only 2 percent of clinically affected swine. Because this serotype remains in the gut, diarrhea and poor growing pigs are the rule.

Occasionally this and the S. cholerasuis serotype can lead to a rectal stricture, which stops the passage of feces and eventually kills the pig. On rare occasions, the third serotype, C. typhisuis, clinically infects pigs. Pigs suffer from prolonged diarrhea and poor growth.

Spread Of Salmonella

Pigs with diarrhea (of any Salmonella serotype) will spread millions of bacteria by the day. Even common practices such as trucking, mixing, and collecting at feeder pig sales can trigger pigs to shed the organism.

The important concept to remember is that the bacteria are best transmitted from one pig to another. In fact, this is about the only mode of transmission in the case of S. cholerasuis since feed contamination with this type is rare.

S. typhimurium crosses species lines, infecting other farm animals, rodents, and birds (and possibly humans) which may move to neighboring farms spreading the disease. Feed contamination also occurs, although Salmonella contamination of meat and bone meal is much less prevalent than it was 10 years ago.

The Salmonella strains sometimes found in pork supplies originate from the live pig, but these are serotypes that do not cause disease in the pig.

Diagnosis

Seeing a group of pigs wasting away with profuse yellow to brown diarrhea should make you suspicious of a Salmonella infection. But with signs like that, it could just as easily be swine dysentery or possibly necrotic enteritis (caused by Campylobacter) if the pigs are in the nursery stage.

With salmonella, small amounts of tissue sloughed from the intestinal lining are often seen in the manure. And you may also see some blood, although it's usually not as profuse as that of dysentery.

But there is no sense in guessing. Take a few pigs to the lab to find out for sure.

Treatment

Little good news in this category. Most of the drugs at our disposal aren't too effective against Salmonella.

Kent Schwartz recently listed the sensitivity of S. cholerasuis isolates to various antibiotics. Here's the list plus a few comments.

Table 1: Percentage of Salmonella cholerasuis isolates sensitive to antimicrobials in 1988 (high percentage means more effective)

* Approved for swine, but not specifically labelled for Salmonella.

Most reports indicate that the drugs are most effective when used preventively. Once a positive diagnosis is made, your veterinarian and laboratory can assist you in selecting the most effective drug.

Prevention

All-in, all-out management, including cleaning and disinfection, helps but not as effectively as it does for other diseases.

- Move affected pigs to a separate pen if practical, especially if diarrhea is the main symptom. This will help reduce the spread of the disease.
- If buying feeder pigs, buy from a single source and avoid the sale barn whenever possible.
- Treating newly purchased pigs with an appropriate antibiotic and dewormer will reduce the incidence of Salmonella.
- Avoid overcrowding.
- Vaccination is an option since a few commercial products are available, however most practitioners have not had good success. Best results are obtained with vaccine products that contain only Salmonella. And it's possible that an autogenous vaccine may need to be developed specific for your operation.

Summary

1. Salmonella is an organism that can be found on virtually every swine operation. Many of the serotypes are of little consequence, but there are three types than can cause serious disease in pigs, the most common of which is S. cholerasuis.

2. S. cholerasuis can cause diarrhea and pneumonia as well as other problems for pigs from the nursery through the finishing stage.

3. Work with your veterinarian and diagnostic laboratory to obtain a clear diagnosis and treatment plan.

4. Prevent the disease by minimizing stress — sort pigs as little as possible, buy feeder pigs from a single source, and use all in all out management.

Issues Set Tone Of Farm Association Meeting

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Several resolutions directly related to the future of Lancaster County farms were passed and sent to the Pennsylvania Farmers Association for review at a recent meeting of the Lancaster County Farmers Association.

One resolution concerned a program to replace H.B. 496, the proposed state nutrient management legislation currently in the Senate Ag and Rural Affairs Committee. A Voluntary Whole Farm Program to be presented by the Family Farm Movement was endorsed at the county level, which includes provisions for allowing farmers to have final decision making on nutrient management legislation introduction, review, and implementation.

The proposals are to combat cocerns about the review of H.B. 496, which the county association believes had left out farmers at the decision-making level, which makes programs mandatory to farmers regardless of costs, and involves no tax-paying public involvement. The current bill, according to the county farmers association, "allows farmers to be trapped between competing government agencies involved in planning and implementation."

According to the resolution, if the Voluntary Whole Farm Program were adopted, farmers would be allowed to participate "under a one-plan concept with one agency to contact for plan development and implementation." It would require 100 percent of the cost to be shared with tax-paying public to ensure that technology, education, and economics drive the program.

Other policies recommended include a proposal to allow deer that are raised for venison or breeding stock be treated under state law as all other farmed livestock, with pertinent bill amendments; the Pennsylvania Farmers Association legal department should write contracts for farmers who do contract farming that would protect the farmer from being dominated by the agribusiness; a farmer classified as self-employed should be able to use their entire health insurance premium as a tax deduction; and a recommendation for a current law to require employers to carry workman's compensation to be abolished and be replaced with a law that would require employees to carry their own accident policy.

Also at the banquet meeting, the following district directors were elected: District 2, Ike Geib; District 3, Marvin Witmer; District 5, Earl Newcomer; District 9, Robert Best; District 10, Dale Martin; District 11, Willis B. Krantz; and District 12, Karl Herr.

Agway Schedules Annual Meeting

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Several thousand Agway farmer-members and guest will gather for the 28th annual meeting of the cooperative, October 29-30 in the Center of Progress Building at the New York State Fairgrounds.

Ralph H. Heffner, chairman of the Agway Inc. board of directors, and Charles F. Saul, president and chief executive officer, will address stockholders on Thursday, October 29, starting at 2:15 p.m. Six incumbent directors, who are standing for reelection to the 18-member board, will be introduced to the membership through a slide presentation describing their farm operations.

Approximately 36 young farm couples from throughout the Northeast will be special guests of Agway for the two-day event. Their schedule includes a tour of the Agway Farm Research Center at Tully, N.Y.

The Agway farm show, also at the fairgounds, will be open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. until noon Friday.

On Friday morning, October 30, members have an opportunity to question Agway officers and executives on a wide variety of topics during a open forum at 9 a.m. Orion Samuelson, a farm service director for WGN Radio and TV and vice president of WGN Continental Broadcasting Company, will be the speaker from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. Samuelson broadcasts daily agribusiness reports on WGN radio and 350 radio stations across the country. He also produces a weekly nationally syndicated farm television program.

Erie Extension Plans Annual Meeting

ERIE (Erie Co.) — The Erie County Cooperative Extension Association will hold its 1992 annual meeting and banquet on Thursday evening, November 5, at Edinboro Inn, US Route 6N, Edinboro.

The evening will begin at 7 p.m. with a social half-hour followed by a dinner served at 7:30 p.m. Cost of the dinner is $10 per person.

According to Emily Davis, annual meeting chair, this year's event will focus on cooperative extension's role in working with the Polish Ministry of Agriculture and Food Economy. Dr. Don Evans, assistant dean of the college of Agricultural Sciences and assistant director of cooperative extension, The Pennsylvania State University, will be the guest speaker. His topic, "Extension In A Changing World," will feature cooperative extension's partnership in developing an educational support system to help Poland's private farmers and agribusiness to succeed in an open market-oriented economy.

Reservations must be made by October 26 by contacting the Erie County Cooperative Extension Office, 850 East Gore Road, Erie, PA 16509, (814) 825-0900.

Our Neighbor, The Clagett Farmer

Editor's Note: In the August 15, 1992 issue of Lancaster Farming, writer Sam Stoltzfus took readers on a tour in part 1 of a series that featured the "combining" or harvesting of oysters in the Chesapeake Bay. As in the previous story, Stoltzfus highlights the importance of nutrient and soil conservation practices and what farmers can do to help save the bay.

Last of two parts

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Tucked in the hills of Upper Marlboro Township, Prince George's County, Maryland is the 285-acre Clagett farm.

Located just 15 miles east of Washington, D.C. the farm is dedicated to the concept "Save The Chesapeake Bay."

So it was on July 21, 1992, that 20 Lancaster County farmers chose to inspect this research facility. After the morning Chesapeake Bay tour on the oyster boat, Stanley Norman, it seemed altogether fitting and proper to do this.

The first business at the center was to have lunch. The cuisine was fries, hamburgers, and cold sodas, all of which tasted great. The dining room was the tobacco shed. We dined at hay bale benches and tables with the temperature in the 1990s, humidity likewise.

Farmer Michael Heller gave a talk about the Clagett Farm. The farm was donated to the Bay Foundation 10 years ago by the Clagett's.

A southern Maryland tobacco plantation since 1750, the land had been very neglected. Buildings didn't suffer much from paint brushes. But a beautiful mansion-like white house set on a little knoll showed that southern dignity.

Heller showed charts and data sheets showing how the bay is getting better and how the water life is improving. We also viewed a satellite photo showing the flow of the brown creek and river waters merging with the bay water.

The next business was to tour the estate. Farmer Heller wheeled out a John Deere 2550 tractor hitched to a hay wagon fitted out with dry cow hay bales for seats. Low side boards, which seemed to be kept there merely by habit, were not to be trusted as back rests. A hay bale served as a step.

He farm is being operated to educate farmers on how to control runoff, use less chemicals, and employ various methods of planting. Cultivating was used on the farm.

Heller brakes to a stop at exhibit 1, the runoff plots. Five plots three foot by ten foot are on a 15 degree slope. First one is woods, number two 4 rows of conventional till corn planted up and down the hill, number three contour strips of hay and corn, number four no-till corn on the contour, and number five lawn.

All strips have a metal flume-like spillway at the lower end to direct the runoff water into a 5 gallon glass jar set in a hole. After a heavy rain or a 7-minute dousing with a hose, the runoff is compared. No. 1, the woods plot, has no runoff. No. 2, the conventional till plot, has the most runoff and the dirtiest water. No. 3, the contour plot, is next best. The no-till plot shows very little runoff.

On the lawn strip, dye is spread on to represent lawn chemicals which show up in the runoff. The no-till runoff water is the clearest.

Next is exhibit 2, a groundwater testing station. A 23-foot, 2-inch polyvinylchloride (PVC) pipe is set in the ground. The water is drawn up with a 1-inch pipe with a ball value at the end. Amazingly, the water is always clear.

Exhibit 3 showed 4 strips of corn and its response to fertilizer. Plot A has no fertilizer and very puny corn. Plot B about 30 pounds of nitrogen per acre, some better, while plot C has 60 pounds of nitrogen and the corn is much better and greener.

In Plot D, all fertilizer that the soil test called for was applied and the corn was the biggest with the biggest ears.

Exhibit 4 displays the response to various amounts of weed sprays. No. 1 strip, about 24 and 40 feet, had no spray or cultivating. It was all weeds — in fact high and thick enough to lose a big pair of mules.

Heller admits however this same strip was not plowed and was planted in no till corn without spray or cultivation this year. No wonder the weeds have a chance. Any old rusty hoe knows that. No. 2 was cultivated but has no spray, and there were some weeds. No. 3 was cultivated and band sprayed, and was almost clean. No. 4 was only sprayed and had no weeds. The number 3 strip had the best corn.

Exhibit 5 was the ridge till plot. The ridge till ridges are about 10 inches high, made with a special cultivator, and left so for 7 years. A corn planter with a scraper blade makes a 6-inch wide flat on the ridge and plants. Then this special cultivator is set to cut some of the ridge off on the first pass.

Next cultivation the dirt is piled up again and then the last time more dirt is piled up. This looks like a good system and the weed control is good. Half of the plot was band sprayed. The corn is nice and big.

Heller said this system is best in a dry year. Heller said this ridge till also has less runoff and is the least expensive in fuel and chemical costs.

In the ridges, a series of 1-inch PVC pipes are set 2 foot in the ground to determine the water and nitrogen levels. It shows that 40 percent of the water and fertilizer will leach through the ridges and thus to the corn roots.

Heller started the tractor. Again we have a good time to view the farm. It is hard for many to understand the tour group is only 15 miles from Washington, D.C. Development pressure is high, and the land is worth about $30,000 an acre.

Exhibit 6 is clover and corn strips. Heller proudly said it has been this way for 10 years. Heller only uses 35 pounds of nitrogen per acre on the corn. He has had good corn yields and 5-6 tons of clover per acre.

Heller said alfalfa is harder to grow here since it takes 3-4 sprayings to kill the bugs. Potato leaf hoppers are bad here so they use clover.

Heller moved up to a series of fenced in pasture strips. Black Angus cattle calves poked noses toward us. Heller said he didn't use any wormer products for 4 years, and then it was for lice. He rotates the cattle 3-4 times a summer.

The group headed cross country again to the last exhibit, No. 7, which was a series of garden-like fields. This is called community supported agriculture — a new way to get the city folks to the country. Heller described it. Take a 9 acre plot, divide it in 100 shares; 3,920 square feet, an area 39 wide by 100 long per share. Sell the shares in the spring for $425 each. The farmer has his money up front — $1,841 dollars an acre. A shareholders meeting is held and is decided what to plant. Then the farmer plants, cultivates, and harvests. The shareholder is supposed to hoe weeds, then the produce is picked, placed in bags, and the shareholder can pick it up. And he takes whatever the plot produces — wet or dry year.

Heller said it works better than a pick-your-own or a lease ground system. But the system still has some bugs to iron out.

Heller made a 180 degree turn in the grass field and the group headed back. To quote Lincoln in part, the world will little note nor long remember who makes the world better but it will never forget who to blame for the pollution. The group learned how important soil and nutrient conservation is.

Michael Heller, Clagett Farm manager, explains how ridges are built in the ridge till system.

Lancaster Countians examine the different levels of runoff captured in the water jugs from the runoff plots at the Clagett Farm.

E-I-E-I-O
From Dairy and Animal Science at Penn State

Editor's Note: Daniel R. Hagen is an associate professor of animal science in Pennsylvania State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science. One of his areas of expertise is research on deer population control, about which he writes here.

DEER CONTROL

Daniel R. Hagen

Pennsylvania is widely known for its white-tail deer. Each year, thousands of hunters take to the woods searching for their quarry. But despite the popularity of hunting and the success many hunters enjoy, Pennsylvania's deer population is on the increase.

If fact, recent studies indicate that the current deer population is greater than that at any other time this century. And this situation is not unique to Pennsylvania. Deer populations are increasing in many other areas, including the scattered forests of the midwestern states.

Urban sprawl, more extensive farming, and construction of highways have combined to reduce both the amount of habitat for deer and the amount of land on which hunting is allowed. In addition, natural predators of deer such as wolves, mountain lions, and coyotes have been virtually eliminated in the commonwealth.

While the development of new park areas and provision of "green space" near residential areas have helped preserve deer habitat, managing the deer population in these and adjacent areas has become more difficult because hunting is often restricted there. Although hunting has been — and will likely continue to be the method of choice for managing Pennsylvania's deer herd, the combination of reduced habitat and less land on which hunting is allowed is making control of the deer population increasingly difficult.

In recent years, there has been increased interest in developing new methods for controlling populations of wild species, such as deer, in specific areas where hunting is impractical due to proximity to inhabited areas or where hunting is prevented by law. In Pennsylvania, these areas include Tyler State Park in Bucks County, Ridley Creek State Park in Delaware County, Gettysburg National Military Park, and a number of others. Previously, relocating deer to other areas and erecting fences around park lands have been proposed, but relocation doesn't solve the problem, it only moves it from one area to another. Fencing is costly and restricts deer movement and may actually intensify population growth inside the fenced area.

Recently, a cooperative effort between the USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service and researchers at Penn State was initiated. The purpose of the research project is to develop a viable contraceptive method for white-tail deer. The research project, led by Professor of Reproductive Physiology Gary Killian and myself, seeks to produce a method for sterilizing the females (does) so they cannot produce young. Our approach is to immunize the does against a specific component of the egg. Researchers hypothesize that, if the doe can become immune to the egg components, her immune system will destroy the egg before it is released. Alternatively, the immune system might attack the egg after ovulation and modify it so that it cannot be fertilized.

One of the challenges is to devise a treatment which is specific for deer. Previous studies in horses using less-advanced technology indicate that mares can be made sterile with this type of approach.

Because of the fundamental nature of our research, several years of study will likely be needed before definitive results are obtained. Once the technique has been developed, methods for administering the treatment to free-ranging deer must be identified. Once the method has been defined, it could be used by agencies for managing deer herds in problem areas where hunting is not a feasible management method.

It is important to note that this research is not directed toward abolishing hunting. Rather, it will address a need for additional methods for controlling deer in problem areas. The results of our research may also benefit those searching for improved methods for controlling other wildlife species that overpopulate particular areas.

Plans Under Way For FFA Convention

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — More than 25,000 FFA members, advisors, supporters and guests are expected to attend the 65th National FFA Convention November 12-14 in Kansas City, Mo.

The national convention is the culmination of a year's activities for FFA members. Delegates will discuss topics affecting the national organization and hear educational and motivational speakers. Exceptional FFA members and supporters will be recognized for their achievements and commitment to the organization.

The National FFA Organization will recognize outstanding members in 29 agricultural proficiency areas and in 14 agricultural skill and leadership competitions. More than 1,200 members will receive the American FFA Degree, the organization's highest degree. Two of the American FFA Degree recipients will be named American Star Farmer and American Star in Agribusiness.

In addition, chapters will receive recognition for excellence in safety, community development, and chapter activities. Winners in the Computers in Agriculture, Agriscience Teacher of the Year, and Agriscience Student Recognition Award programs will be named.

Business and industry supporters of the FFA are represented at the convention through the National FFA Foundation. The 1992 Sponsors' Board Chairman is Neil O. Christenson, vice president, Farm Equipment & Consumer Products Marketing, USA & Canada, Deere & Company.

A new parliamentary procedure contest will be inaugurated at the convention this year to encourage development of leadership skills. It is sponsored by the United Soybean Board as a special project of the National FFA Foundation. The winning team will demonstrate their skills on Friday evening of the convention.

Lee Thurber, national FFA president, said, "The new contest is a response to the many requests from students who have asked for a parliamentary procedure contest above the state level." This national event is modeled after an invitational contest first operated by the Carthage, Mo., FFA alumni affiliate.

"Today's agriculture offers great opportunities for young people," said Larry D. Case, national FFA advisor. "The national convention is one way the organization can help members discover the many facets of the agricultural industry as they meet business leaders, mix with other members from different agricultural backgrounds, visit the Career Show, participate in contests, and attend workshops and tours."

Speakers confirmed for this convention include Zig Ziglar and Dave Yoho, motivational speakers, and Mary Lou Retton, former Olympic gold medalist. Ziglar is sponsored by United Telephone System - Midwest Group through the National FFA Foundation.

The 1991-1992 National FFA Officers will direct the week's activities. They are Lee Thurber, national president, Roca, Neb.; Mike Stevenson, national secretary, Hobson, Mont.; Chad Luthro, central region vice president, Moorland, Iowa; Louie Brown, western region vice president, Hanford, Calif.; Wesley Barefoot, eastern region vice president, Dunn, N.C.; and Shane Black, southern region vice president, Athens, Ala.

"FFA — The Spirit of Leadership" is the theme for the 1992 convention and reflects the organization's underlying purpose of developing enthusiastic leaders for America and the agricultural industry. It is also the kind of spirit that stimulated local and state leaders to bring more members into the organization and to turn around a declining FFA membership.

The National FFA Alumni Convention and the National FFA Agricultural Career Show are scheduled in conjunction with the FFA convention. They are held in H. Roe Bartle Hall, located adjacent to the Municipal Auditorium.

Cheaper Feed May Mean Decline In Costs Of Producing Poultry

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Possible U.S. record corn harvest numbers of about 8.7 billion bushels and record soybean production of about 2.8 billion bushels because of excellent weather may mean good news for poultry producers.

It'll mean lower costs of production and possible higher returns this year than in any year since the mid-1980s, according to a representative of the USDA Economic Research Service in Washington, D.C.

Lee Christensen, section leader of poultry research and analysis of the USDA Economic Research Service who spoke at the recent Northeast Poultry Show, said prices for corn in the next year should be off 14 percent from this year, at approximately $2.05 per bushel.

Soybean prices should be about 3 percent down from this year, according to estimates by the service. That could mean a 4-6 percent range decrease on feed costs for the broiler, egg, and turkey sections.

Lee Christensen

Dr. Hugh Johnson

Dr. Frank Edens

Connie Cahill

Record amounts

According to the analyst, record amounts of product and declining demand, coupled to a continuing recession, signal only a 2 percent increase in the amount of meat consumers will demand in 1993, about 68.2 billion pounds (including poultry and beef). But the "bottom line," said Christensen, will mean that "overall feed costs will be lower" for producers.

Trend is up for broiler and turkey prices compared to last year. But 1993 will be only a "so-so" year for the broiler industry.

The egg industry has "fared the worst of any feathers" this year, he said. Production is ahead of demand, and prices went plummeting. By the second quarter of 1993, the slowdown will continue, and by the third quarter, because of the rapid drop in table egg use, he said, the prices paid to producers should average only 60 cents per dozen (wholesale prices about 73 cents, and retail about 92 cents). Egg net returns have experienced their first period of sustained loss since the fourth quarter of 1988. As of August 1 this year, about 230 million layers produce about 252 eggs/hen/year.

Christensen said that the biggest product growth area remains in the liquid, dried, or frozen egg forms.

Record numbers

Turkey stocks continue in record numbers, and the growth for turkeys (as well as broilers) remains in the export market, with Mexico proving to be a strong customer. Expect the price in the first quarter of 1993 for turkeys to be in the range of 57-63 cents/pound for eastern region 8-16 pound hens to producers.

The USDA holds a "guarded, optimistic outlook" for the poultry and egg industry in 1993. Producers, he said, should continue to study and analyze consumer needs and to "try to figure out what the consumer wants," he said.

Stress management

Also at the conference and trade show, Dr. Frank Edens, professor of physiology in the department of poultry science at North Carolina State University, spoke about the vital importance of stress management on poultry flocks.

Edens gave a detailed analysis of exactly what happens when flocks are exposed to stress. Poultry and humans respond much the same way to various levels of stress.

"Stress can be managed effectively," said Edens. He told producers, however, that "your role constitutes 100 percent of the effort."

The best way to deal with stress is to prepare for it. Planning ahead to compensate for hotter houses in the summer and cold stress in the winter is essential.

Manage stress

In terms of poultry diseases, Edens said, "Why wait until it's too late?" He said to combat diseases, manage heat and cold stress before problems appear. Monitor diets, water, feed availability, house insulations, installation of fans and foggers, and other equipment. Clean fan blades, run fans at night, whitewash the roof, keep barns dry, remove all dead and diseased birds promptly, catch and transport turkeys at night, and apply these measures on a consistent basis.

The outbreak of disease can prove to be the greatest stressor of all, he said. The care and common sense in the handling and transport of polts is also essential. Light and light quality are vital, and feed and water quality, good ventilation, sufficient space to prevent overcrowding, litter quality, environment and temperature, bacterial infection, viral disease, parasites, toxins, and other factors must be considered.

Preconditioning means and methods were also discussed.

Noncaring producers can be the source of the greatest amount of stress to poultry, according to the physiologist.

Allow "common sense" to dictate the operations, including good biosecurity in all its measures. "Common sense is probably the most important attribute a manager can possess," he said. "Turkeys can't manage turkeys."

Food safety

Also at the convention and trade show, Connie Cahill, American Egg Board, spoke about the Northeast food safety program. Cahill spoke about the various industry food handling trade shows she has attended and the various meetings held to curb the risks associated with Salmonella and other foodborne illnesses.

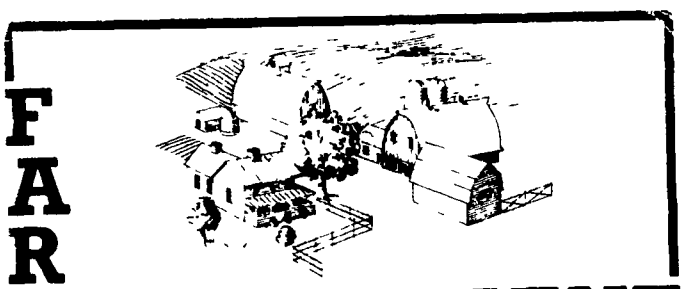
At the recent New Jersey Restaurant Show, Cahill spoke about the running egg law and several "interesting stories" she heard about the handling of eggs.

In one case, a young restaurant manager raised hens and used the eggs obtained from them in the restaurant business. The manager, according to Cahill, never washed the eggs.

Another story involved a Boston-area homemaker who made custards and allowed them to sit out all night to serve the next day.

A great deal of time, according to Cahill, is used to speak against the mismanagement of eggs.

The conference also featured Dr. Hugh Johnson, director of the poultry department of the American Farm Bureau Federation. According to Johnson, the animal rights movement is gaining strength rapidly (with an operating budget of about $100 million). Farmers must act now to counteract the increasing pressure placed against farmers by such groups.



PRICING HIGH-MOISTURE CORN GRAIN

Roland P. Freund
Regional Farm Management Agent

High-moisture corn has become a very popular feed for dairy cattle, beef, and even hogs in our part of the world.

Because of the labor convenience, the savings in drying costs, simplification of grinding, and apparent improvement in palatability, many farmers have chosen to invest in high-moisture grain structures.

Even "cattlemen" (here used to refer also to dairy farmers) who normally grow little of their own grain have chosen to buy and store their grain as high moisture.

This situation has created a considerable trade in high-moisture corn. The problem for high-moisture corn traders is that there is no market quotation or other easy reference on which to base prices. There is normally enough confusion in the grain business because we are probably the last country in the world to still price grain on a volumetric measure (bushel) but trade it by weight over the scales.

Then there is the problem of the high moisture level of this grain, which is well above the levels at which farmers normally harvest grain for delivery to mills for dry storage.

Two steps can be used to simplify the process of pricing grain. First, calculate how many dry-shelled bushels to which the high-moisture grain in question would be equivalent, and then negotiate a fair price for those bushels.

1. Calculate dry shelled bushel equivalents. There are many complex shrink and other tables used in the grain industry into which grain merchants have built cost of drying and other charges to determine how much they will pay farmers for a given weight of grain. These tables should not be used when trading grain for high-moisture storage.

There are two very simple formulas which can be used to calculate what a weight of grain at any given level of DRY MATTER would equal in dry bushel equivalents. As long as you can remember two factors, this can be calculated quickly with a pocket calculator or a pencil and paper.

For high-moisture ear corn:
Pounds of wet ear corn
X dry matter (expressed as a decimal)
divide by 59.8
= Bushels of dry shelled

Example: 9,000 pounds of ear corn
X .65 dry matter (35% moisture)
divide by 59.8
= 97 bushels dry shelled equivalent

For high-moisture SHELLED corn:
Pounds of wet shelled corn
X dry matter (expressed as a decimal)
divide by 47.8
= Bushels of dry shelled

Example:
35,000 pounds of wet shelled corn
X .7 dry matter (30% moisture)
divide by 47.8
= 513 bushels dry shelled equivalent

Now we have the quantity of grain expressed in the industry standard dry bushels.

2. Establish PRICE for high-moisture corn. In this process, three factors need to be considered. These are harvest season price drop, the normal drying costs for the grower, and, in the case of ear corn, the additional feed value of the cob to the cattle.

It is assumed that the grower will be paying the harvest cost, and the buyer will haul the grain from the grower's field.

The corn price normally drops about 35 cents a bushel from first harvest, bottoming out late in the harvest period when local storages are full. Very early in the season, the price may be even higher. Pricing high-moisture corn at the mill price when high moisture corn is harvested can give the grower a big price advantage.

Normal drying costs can reduce the return by 15 to 30 cents per bushel. At current commercial drying charges, growers could lose $1 a bushel to dry 30 percent kernel moisture grain.

Under these conditions, if price were to remain constant during the harvest season, growers would be better off to let corn grain dry in the field and take higher field losses. So taking these two factors together, growers have to compromise between getting an early higher price but having higher drying costs, and saving with lower drying costs but getting a lower price later in the season.

It would be very reasonable therefore to expect that early season high-moisture shelled corn sales should be priced at least 15 to 20 cents below the pre-harvest market price for dry shelled bushel equivalents. With EAR CORN, there is about 10 percent more nutrient per dry shelled bushel equivalent. Cattlemen should therefore be willing to pay the full market price for the dry shelled bushel equivalents when buying ear corn.

Buyer Beware!

Many buyers have paid for some very expensive water when buying high-moisture corn. If the above suggestions are followed, careful calculations should ensure that a price is struck which is advantageous to both parties.

An alternative to these computations is to use the Penn State Extension computer template. It takes a slightly different approach to arrive at a range of prices for the wet product that can be used as the basis for haggling.

Do not hesitate to contact your Penn State county extension office and request that your figures be run through the "High Moisture Corn Pricing" program.

NEW AT BINKLEY & HURST BROS. FROM SUNFLOWER:

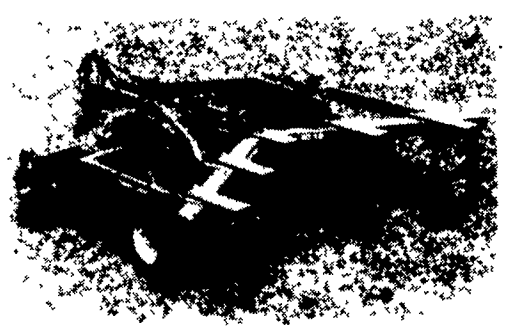
COULTER RIPPER



Sunflower's Coulter Ripper is for today's conservation minded farmer demanding deep tillage with minimal residue disturbance. These durable machines feature adjustable front mounted coulters on 7½" centers. The coulter blades have an added advantage of slicing hard ground to keep clod size to a minimum. The V-bar ripper design gives added trash clearance and pulls smoother than straight-bar rippers. These coulter rippers are built Sunflower tough and no ballast is added to the frame increasing the structural strength. Check out Sunflower's latest edition to its growing family of quality tillage equipment at a farm show or dealer near you.

Conservation Tillage Equipment Built SUNFLOWER Tough!

Adjustable Coulter Gangs: The 4010/4110 both feature adjustable coulter gangs that can be raised completely in clean ground. Ratchet Jack Adjustment is standard equipment. Optional Hydraulic Gang Adjustment makes on the go changes or raising the coulters completely out of the way an easy task from the tractor seat.

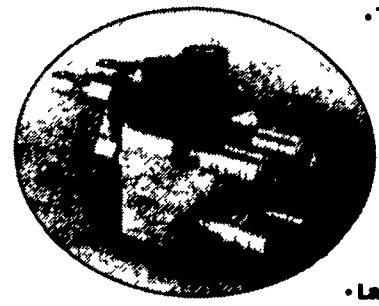
REMOTE MASTER DOES IT ALL!



- Tired of climbing down from your tractor just to switch hoses?
- Save time, money and steps!
- Now you control two circuits with the flip of a switch!
- Stay safe - Keep high-pressure hydraulics out of your cab.
- Universal - Fits all tractors
- Large Capacity - 15 gpm

The REMOTE MASTER lets you use one outlet to control two sets of hoses by moving a three-position toggle switch from circuit A to circuit B, then operating your existing tractor lever for directional control.

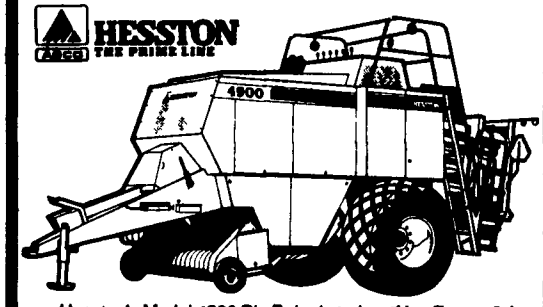
Big Baler... big performance

HESSTON THE PRIME LINE



Hesston's Model 4900 Big Baler is truly a "Hay Factory". It utilizes a concept similar to other Hesston center-line balers, but on a larger scale—45.6'x50'x8' to be exact.

The 4900 lets you put the equivalent of 20 to 30 conventional bales into a single Big Bale! But, it requires 30 to 40 percent less storage space than conventional 2-twine bales. And the Big Baler uses 30 percent less twine to do it!

Hesston's exclusive flake-forming concept assures uniform, high-density bales while standard hydraulic density control maintains consistent bale density and weight.

See your Hesston dealer now for a Big Baler with big performance!

BIG SHOT PRODUCER

HESSTON THE PRIME LINE

Don't let the size of our 4750 high-capacity baler fool you. With the dimensions of a mid-size, it makes high density bales up to 31.5" wide by 34.4" high and as long as 98".

All you need is a minimum 90 PTO hp tractor to handle it. A plunger speed of only 41 spm means high quality hay, with less damage to tender leaves. In an efficient charge chamber, nutritious leaves are distributed throughout each flake - with minimum loss.

With the 4750's self-contained hydraulic control mechanism, bale density is simple to set and control. And the electronic monitor checks 10 different baler functions.

Stop by your AGCO/Hesston dealer listed here and ask about our flexible financing plans on the 4750. Or on our wide selection of other equipment, all backed by the AGCO Warranty Program. You'll see why Hesston is quickly becoming a star in the field.

WHO'S THE LEADER

MAXXUM IS THE STANDARD THAT OTHERS COPY!

The case ih MAXXUM was introduced in 1989...

The OTHERS are trying to CATCH UP!!!

■ PFC HYDRAULICS (Since 1979)

1. Pressure/Flow Compensating Means VARIABLE PRESSURE And FLOW To Fit Your Requirements

■ 16 SPEED POWERSHIFT SYNCHRONIZED TRANSMISSIONS (Since 1987)

1. Choice of (16) Forward.(12) Reverse Fully Synchronized Transmission Or (4) Power-Shifts Within (4) Synchronized Ranges
2. "No Clutch" Full Power Forward/Reverse Shuttle On The Steering Column
3. Creeper Option
4. Wet Master Clutch - Runs In Oil...
5. Designed For FARM TRACTORS Not For RV's And Trucks

■ EASY SERVICABILITY (Since 1989)

1. Tilt Cab And Removable Side Panels For Easy Engine Access...
2. Ground Level Access To All Service Points
3. Batteries Easily Reached On Right Side Of Tractor

■ LARGE COMFORT CABS (Since 1989)

1. Easy Entry, Roomy Operator Environment
2. Excellent Visability All Around - Tapered Hood
3. All Controls On Right Side In Easy Reach

■ ENGINE DESIGNED FOR ECONOMY (Since 1983)

1. Controlled AIR Flow-Intake & Exhaust On Opposite Sides Of Engine
2. Totally New Technology In 1983 - Not A REWORK of 30 Year Old Design
3. Hi-Torque For Heavy Duty Use
4. Catilever Mounted To Reduce Stress Load From Engine

■ ELECTRONIC HITCH (Since 1989)

1. Lower Link Sensing For Better Draft Control
2. High Capacity With Lots Of "BEEF" Built In
3. Fingertip Controls Give The Operator Complete Control Of The Implement From The Seat.

SAVE $ ON #1 QUALITY!

ABC GROFF Since 1890 The name you can trust

Built Ford tough!

- Six new models
- 2WD and 4WD
- Efficient, new Genesis™ engines
- Versatile, hard-working hydraulics
- Roomy new deck designs
- Comfortable cabs

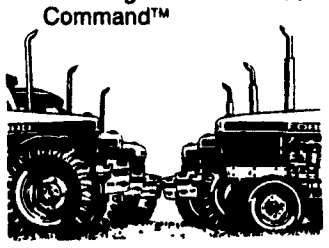
6640 & 7740 IN STOCK!

Come on in and we'll show you the model ready to work for you!

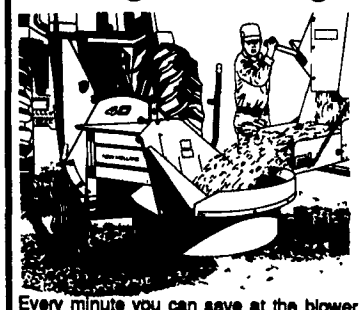
Power up with Ford PowerStar™ tractors

The new standard in 66 to 106 hp!

- New transmission choices, including the 16x16 Pulse Command™



Seeing is believing



Every minute you can save at the blower means more loads per day and more overall productivity. Les us demonstrate the New Holland Model 40 forage blower and we believe you'll agree you can increase your silage productivity.
The Model 40, with 20 percent greater tip speed than previous models, center fills silos over 80 feet high. The Whirl-A-Feed® table spins the crop into the blower housing at high speed, making more efficient use of your tractor's horsepower.
See us soon for a demonstration of the Model 40.

You get total performance when you harvest your crops with a Model 900 forage harvester. Total performance begins at the cutterhead. The 12 knives of the 21-inch cutterhead give you uniformly cut, high-quality forage. Other features on the "900" include:

- Optional Metalert® II electronic metal detector—protects cutterhead and your valuable animals.
- Electromagnetic clutches—give instant response in controlling feedroll and attachment drives.
- Easy-adjust shearbar—makes adjustment fast and precise.

Stop in soon and see the Model 900.

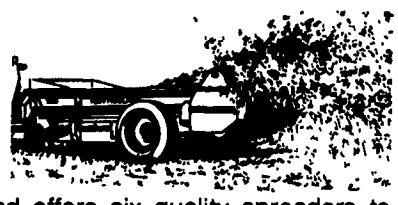
First in durability

Surveys show owners rate New Holland grinder-mixers as the most durable. That's because Ford New Holland builds them right and backs them with quality parts and service. The Model 358 has a 125-bushel tank that's specially designed to eliminate bridging. An optional electronic scale assures accurate control of rations. Stop in and see the durable Model 358 grinder-mixer

Load...unload faster and easier

When you're working the big loads you need the Super Boom advantage — extra reach. With more forward dump reach you can center load your largest spreader from one side so you get an even load. The result: faster loading, fuller loads and easier unloading.
With level bucket lift you load more and lift higher... with less spillback. And, with a longer wheelbase there's more stability and safety. So, why get stuck with anything else?
Find out just how good a skid-steer loader can be.

We have a spreader for any farm



Ford New Holland offers six quality spreaders to match any farming operation. All New Holland spreaders clean out fast to make quick work of dirty jobs.

Model	Capacity (bu.)
125	108
135	138
145	177
155	217
185	287

- Bonded Protection, the exclusive lifetime guarantee, covers the polyethylene floor and steel sides. Ask us for details.
- Corrosion-resistant steels are used throughout for tough, long-lasting construction.
- Plus adding optional slurry sides on the Models 145, 155 and 185 increases capacity up to 25% at a fraction of the cost.

SPECIFY KUHN
Quality at Fair Prices

Kuhn's FC series of Mower Conditioners — faster cutting, faster drying, better hay.

Kuhn applied over 160 years of research to build a mower/conditioner that cuts quicker (7-9 m.p.h. — 6-7½ acres/hour) and requires less dry down than many other systems on the market. And Kuhn's FC series is easy on your crop. With a choice of finger comb or roller conditioning, you can match your crop type for even and gentle conditioning with less nutrient loss.

- FC 250 RG Mower Conditioner, 8'2" Cut, Swivel Hitch Roll Conditioner EXCEPTIONAL VALUE-$11,900
- FC 300 RG Mower Conditioner, 9'10" Cut, Swivel Hitch Roll Conditioner EXCEPTIONAL VALUE-$12,500

Farmers everywhere in the world compare all other disc mowers to Kuhn. The GMD series of Multidisc Mowers features oval shaped discs to get through crops without plugging. The cutterbar drive-line is designed for perfect dynamic balance with minimum vibration. And the gearbox gears are hellical cut for optimum lubrication no matter what angle the mower is cutting.

- GMD 55 Disk Mower, 6'7" Cut EXCEPTIONAL VALUE - $3,990
- GMD 66 Disk Mower - 7'10" Cut EXCEPTIONAL VALUE - $4,690
- GMD 77 HD Disk Mower, 9'2" Cut, Heavy Duty - EXCEPTIONAL VALUE-$5,190

Kuhn GA Series rakes let you rake or turn windrows for better quality hay in less time. The new GA 7301 Gyrorake covers up to 17 acres per hour!

- GENTLE-High speed rotary raking action
- VERSATILE-Side delivery for double raking
- FLEXIBLE-Rotor speeds match crop conditions

- GA 7301 Hydraulic Folding Rake, Working Width 22' To 24', Swath Width From 4'7" To 6'. EXCEPTIONAL VALUE-$11,900

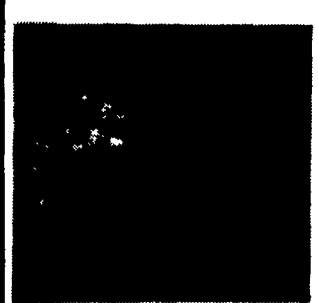
KUHN

KUHN has invented a revolutionary raking concept: the KUHNFLEX®

Traditional raking tines are replaced by drums equipped with supple rubber skirts.



These skirts eliminte the risk of broken metal parts being left in the crop. Of highest technical design, the KUHNFLEX is the first in a new generation of swathing rakes.

- KF4 Kuhnflex Rake, Working Width Up To 13' EXCEPTIONAL VALUE-$2,900

GYROSTAR GRS25N COMBINATION RAKE/TEDDER

The efficiency and effectiveness of both rake and tedder, two unique machines combined in one frame.

- GRS25N Rake Tedder EXCEPTIONAL VALUE - $4,290

With this concentrate feeding system LESS MEANS MORE

Dairymen report a 7-8% increase in milk yield with 5% less concentrate input with the new VA 500.

Each cow's ration is fed automatically according to her individual lactation curve. Feeding for production means high producing cows get more. Every cow pays her way. The whole herd can be housed together and you don't need complicated computer support systems for operation.

Make your concentrate work harder.

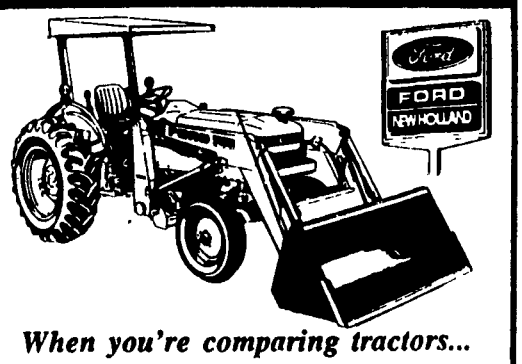
LANDSCAPING



When you're comparing tractors...

FORD OFFERS THE LANDSCAPER MORE

Top link sensing on Ford 32- to 55-PTO-hp tractors offers the ultimate in 3-point control for implement or blade work. Two-lever control allows precise adjustment for proper depth and pull requirements.

Check out these other performance features:

- Deluxe closed-center hydraulics let you adjust the flow rate for each remote
- Hydraulic and draft/position controls are within easy, natural reach to the right
- Optional 8x8 synchronized transmission allows easy shifting on-the-go
- Standard telescoping stabilizer and flexible link ends allow fast, easy hook up.

When it comes to landscaping, no other utility tractor compares to Ford. Let us demonstrate.

If Your Silo Needs New Life...

Try Our Poly Silo Liners

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-

- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

BARN CLEANERS

JAMESWAY

All-forged Hook-Link® chain... available on Super 300 and Super 500 barn cleaners

Extra thick steel at all wear points

IMPORTANT: Look for the "parting line" on any barn cleaner chain you buy. It shows where excess metal has been trimmed off. It is your assurance that the link was totally forged, not just punched out of a flat steel bar with grain flow in one direction only.
You want a totally-forged link because forging changes the grain on the steel, causing it to curve in unbroken flow lines around the contours of the link, giving the link greater strength to serve you longer.

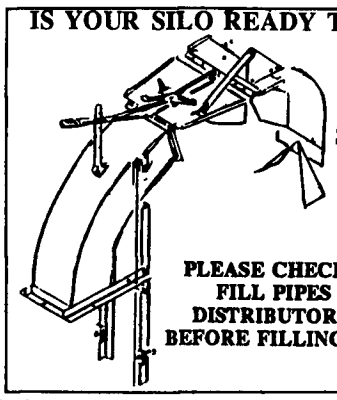
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete

STRONGER AND WILL OUT LAST PLASTER

IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH CORN SILAGE?



PLEASE CHECK YOUR FILL PIPES AND DISTRIBUTORS NOW BEFORE FILLING SEASON

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

'TIS THE SEASON!

Yes - The Harvest Season Is Here!
Store your good corn crop in a POURED CONCRETE SOLLENBERGER SILO.

Units available for "High-Moisture" shelled corn or "Ground Ear" corn. Bottom-Unloading or Top-Unloading. Consider the Many Advantages of Concrete! 6" thick concrete walls to keep feed cooler because concrete reflects the sun's rays, and has 25 times more insulating power than steel. The concrete silo has a much lower maintenance requirement because there are not thousands of bolts to rust and work loose and no seams to reseal. The poured concrete silo is heavily reinforced to give you a very strong structure.

Unload from the bottom with a simple auger for high-moisture shelled corn, (least expensive); Laidig 43 for shelled corn or cob corn, or Flying Dutchman for grains or Forages.

Dairy Tips By Dr. Randy Lyle, Ph.D.

Purina Mills Dairy Consultant

What Is "Roughage" And Why Do Cows Need It?

A true roughage for dairy cows could be defined as forage particles greater than one or two inches in length. In order for a forage to be a true roughage, length of the material must be great enough to stimulate chewing activity and subsequent saliva secretion. In addition, length is needed to stimulate rumen contractons, and formation of a "roughage mat" in the rumen. Cows need roughage to maintain normal milk composition, to maintain a healthy rumen, and to avoid metabolic problems.

Haylage and silage that is finely chopped does not provide adequate roughate value for the cow. Overly wet silages further aggrevate the problem. These types of forages will not promote adequate chewing time. Rumen acidosis can occur, followed by laminitis, reduced dry matter intakes, and reduced milk production. If you have finely chopped haylages and silages, try to feed at least four to six pounds of hay, per cow per day to avoid a roughage deficiency. Your cows will appreciate the extra effort!

If you aren't sure whether your forages provide true roughage value, ask your Purina representative for an evaluation.
